One Spirit–One Source of All

Someone once said that the law of gravity and the law of love ultimately have the same source and are both driven by the same spirit, the Holy Spirit. (Teilhard de Chardin)

Would that we realized the truth of that! If we recognized how the Holy Spirit is present in everything—physical creation, love, human creativity, and morality—perhaps we could hold more things together in a fruitful tension rather than so often opposing them and having the different gifts of the Holy Spirit fight each other within our lives.

What does this mean?

We have too many unhealthy dichotomies in our lives.

Too often we find ourselves choosing between things that should not be in opposition to one another and we are in the unhappy position of having to pick between two things which are both, in themselves, good. Thus, we live in a world within which, generally speaking, the spiritual is set against the physical, certain moral precepts are set against creativity, wisdom is set against education, commitment against sex, conscience against pleasure, and personal fidelity against creative and professional success.

But obviously there is something wrong here. If one force, the person of the Holy Spirit, is the single source that animates all of these things, then clearly we should not be in the position where we have to choose between them. Ideally we should be choosing both because the one, same Spirit undergirds both.

Is this true?

Is the Holy Spirit both the force of gravity and the source of love? Yes. At least if the Scriptures are to be believed. They tell us that the Holy Spirit is both a physical and a spiritual force, the source of all creativity and all morality all at the same time.

We first meet the person of the Holy Spirit in the opening line of the bible: “in the beginning there was a formlesss void and the Spirit of God hovered over the waters. ... ” In the early chapters of the scripture, the Holy Spirit is presented as a physical force, a wind that comes from the very mouth of God and not only shapes and orders physical creation but is in fact the energy the lies at the base of everything, animate and inanimate alike: "take away our breath, and everything returns to dust."

The ancients believed that there was a soul in everything and that such a soul, which was God’s breath, held everything together and gave it meaning. They did not understand, as we do today, the workings of the infra-atomic world, how the tiniest particles and energy waves themselves possess erotic, electrical charges, how hydrogen seeks out oxygen, and how at its most elemental level physical reality is bursting with energies that attract and repulse each other just as people do. They could not explain these things scientifically the way we can, but they recognized, just as we do, that there is already some form of love inside all things, however inanimate. They attributed all of this to God’s breath, the wind that comes from God's mouth and ultimately animates rocks, water, animals, and human beings.

But they also understood that this same breath that animates and orders physical creation is also the source of all wisdom, harmony, peace, creativity, morality, and fidelity. God's breath, was understood to be as moral as it is physical, as harmonious as it is creative, and as wise as it is fertile. For them, the breath of God was one force and it did not contradict itself. The physical and the spiritual world were not set against each other. One spirit was understood to be the source of both. We need to understand things in that same way. We need to let the Holy Spirit, in all his and her fullness, animate our lives.

What this means concretely is that we must not let ourselves be energized and driven too much by one part of the Spirit to the detriment of other parts of that same Spirit.

Thus, there should not be in our lives creativity in the absence of morality, education in the absence of wisdom, sex in the absence of commitment, pleasure in the absence of conscience, and artistic or professional achievement in the absence of personal fidelity. Especially there should not be a good life for us in the absence of justice for everyone.

Conversely though we should be suspicious of ourselves when we find morality without creativity, when our wisdom spurns education, when our commitments are sterile, when our conscience has a problem with pleasure, and when our personal fidelity is defensive in the face of art and achievement. One Spirit is the author of all of these. Hence there must be equal attention paid to each of them.

Someone once said that a heresy is something that is nine-tenths true. That is also our problem with the Holy Spirit. We tend to be heretics, living out some truths to the detriment of others.

Fr. Ron Rolheiser, OMI

Un Espíritu—Una Fuente para Todo

Alguien dijo una vez que la ley de la gravedad y la ley del amor en al final tienen la misma fuente y ambas son impulsadas por el mismo espíritu, el Espíritu Santo. (Teilhard de Chardin)

¡Ojalá nos diéramos cuenta de la verdad de eso! Si reconociéramos cómo el Espíritu Santo está presente en todo: la creación física, el amor, la creatividad humana y la moralidad, tal vez podríamos unir más cosas en una tensión fructífera en lugar de oponernos tan a menudo y hacer que los diferentes dones del Espíritu Santo luchen. unos a otros dentro de nuestras vidas.

¿Qué significa esto?

Tenemos demasiadas divisiones poco saludables en nuestras vidas.

Con mucha frecuencia nos encontramos eligiendo entre cosas que no deberían oponerse entre sí y nos encontramos en la infeliz posición de tener que elegir entre dos cosas que son, en sí mismas, buenas. Así, vivimos en un mundo en el que, en general, se opone lo espiritual a lo físico, ciertos preceptos morales a la creatividad, la sabiduría a la educación, el compromiso al sexo, la conciencia al placer, la fidelidad personal a la creatividad y el éxito profesional.

Pero obviamente hay algo mal aquí. Si una fuerza, la persona del Espíritu Santo, es la única fuente que anima todas estas cosas, entonces claramente no deberíamos estar en la posición en la que tenemos que elegir entre ellas. Idealmente, deberíamos elegir ambos porque el mismo Espíritu sustenta a ambos.

¿Es esto cierto?

¿Es el Espíritu Santo tanto la fuerza de la gravedad como la fuente del amor? Sí. Al menos si se debe creer en las Escrituras. Nos dicen que el Espíritu Santo es tanto una fuerza física como espiritual, la fuente de toda creatividad y toda moralidad al mismo tiempo.

Primero nos encontramos con la persona del Espíritu Santo en la primera línea de la Biblia: “Al principio había un vacío sin forma y el Espíritu de Dios se movía sobre las aguas. ... ” En los primeros capítulos de las Escrituras, el Espíritu Santo se presenta como una fuerza física, un viento que sale de la misma boca de Dios y no solo da forma y ordena la creación física, sino que es de hecho la energía que se encuentra en el base de todo, animado e inanimado por igual: "quita nuestro aliento, y todo vuelve al polvo".

Los antiguos creían que había un alma en todo y que tal alma, era el aliento de Dios, que mantenía todo unido y le daba sentido. No entendieron, como lo hacemos hoy, el funcionamiento del mundo infraatómico, cómo las partículas más diminutas y las ondas de energía en sí mismas poseen cargas eléctricas eróticas, cómo el hidrógeno busca oxígeno y cómo en su nivel más elemental la realidad física estalla. con energías que se atraen y repelen entre sí tal como lo hacen las personas. No pudieron explicar estas cosas científicamente de la manera que nosotros podemos hacerlo, pero reconocieron, al igual que nosotros, que ya existe alguna forma de amor dentro de todas las cosas, por inanimadas que sean. Atribuyeron todo esto al aliento de Dios, el viento que sale de la boca de Dios y finalmente anima las rocas, el agua, los animales y los seres humanos.

Pero también entendieron que ese mismo soplo que anima y ordena la creación física es también la fuente de toda sabiduría, armonía, paz, creatividad, moralidad y fidelidad. El soplo de Dios, se entendía tan moral como físico, tan armonioso como creativo, y tan sabio como fértil. Para ellos, el soplo de Dios era una fuerza y no se contradecía. El mundo físico y el espiritual no estaban enfrentados. Se entendía que un espíritu era la fuente de ambos. Tenemos que entender las cosas de la misma manera. Necesitamos dejar que el Espíritu Santo, en toda su plenitud, anime nuestras vidas.

Lo que esto significa concretamente es que no debemos dejarnos energizar e impulsar demasiado por una parte del Espíritu ignorando otras partes de ese mismo Espíritu.

Así, no debe haber en nuestras vidas creatividad sin moral, educación sin sabiduría, sexo sin compromiso, placer sin conciencia, realización artística o profesional sin fidelidad personal. Especialmente no debería haber una buena vida para nosotros en ausencia de justicia para todos.

Por el contrario, deberíamos desconfiar de nosotros mismos cuando encontramos moralidad sin creatividad, cuando nuestra sabiduría desdeña la educación, cuando nuestros compromisos son estériles, cuando nuestra conciencia tiene un problema con el placer y cuando nuestra fidelidad personal está a la defensiva frente al arte y el logro. . Un Espíritu es el autor de todos estos. Por lo tanto, debe prestarse la misma atención a cada uno de ellos.

Alguien dijo una vez que una herejía es algo que es cierto en nueve décimas partes. Ese es también nuestro problema con el Espíritu Santo. Tendemos a ser herejes, viviendo algunas verdades e ignorando a otras. Fr. Ron Rolheiser, OMI

Anthony Preaching

THE SHRINE OF
ST. ANTHONY
12290 Folly Quarter Rd.
Ellicott City, MD 21042

Things rarely work out the way we have planned them, for God's ways are not our ways.

In only a short time, Anthony had travelled from Coimbra in Portugal to the shores of Morocco, then to Sicily, then to Assisi, and finally to a small hermitage in Montepaolo. There, at last, Anthony found the peace which he had sought for so long. He immersed himself in his priestly service to the community as well as in the household tasks of cooking and cleaning.

But the Lord had other plans for him.

One day he was asked to attend the celebration of an ordination to the priesthood in the city of Forb. The preacher failed to arrive, and Graziano, Anthony's provincial, ordered him to preach whatever might come to mind. All were astounded when Anthony preached with both great learning and fervor. His peaceful period of retreat in the hermitage had come to an end, for henceforth he would be called upon to preach near and far.

Anthony travelled throughout Northern Italy and Southern France, preaching especially in the areas that had been plagued by heresy. He combated abuses in the Church which had caused many to lose their faith.

He also combated heretical positions (e.g. rejection of creation as evil, rejection of Church authority and the sacraments) which confused the faithful. His most powerful weapon against these enemies was his Gospel life style, for by living what he preached he was able to confound heretics and edify Catholics.

Antonio Predicando

Las cosas rara vez salen como las planeamos, porque los caminos de Dios no son nuestros caminos.

En solo un poco tiempo, Antonio había viajado de Coimbra en Portugal a las costas de Marruecos, luego a Sicilia, luego a Asís y finalmente a una pequeña ermita en Montepaolo. Allí, por fin, Antonio encontró la paz que había buscado durante tanto tiempo. Se sumergió en su servicio sacerdotal a la comunidad así como en las tareas domésticas de cocinar y limpiar.

Pero el Señor tenía otros planes para él.

Un día le pidieron que asistiera a la celebración de una ordenación sacerdotal en la ciudad de Forb. El predicador no llegó y Graziano, el provincial de Antonio, le ordenó predicar lo que se le ocurriera. Todos quedaron asombrados cuando Antonio predicó con gran conocimiento y fervor. Su período pacífico de retiro en la ermita había llegado a su fin, ya que en adelante sería llamado a predicar cerca y lejos.

Antonio viajó por el norte de Italia y el sur de Francia, predicando especialmente en las áreas que habían estado plagadas de herejías. Luchó contra los abusos en la Iglesia que habían hecho que muchos perdieran la fe.

También combatió las posiciones heréticas (por ejemplo, el rechazo de la creación como un mal, el rechazo de la autoridad de la Iglesia y los sacramentos) que confundían a los fieles. Su arma más poderosa contra estos enemigos fue su estilo de vida evangélico, porque al vivir lo que predicaba pudo confundir a los herejes y edificar a los católicos.

St. Anthony Devotions will return starting Tuesday, June 14, following the 8:30 AM Mass.

La Devoción a San Antonio regresará a partir del Martes, 14 de junio, enseguida de la Misa de las 8:30 AM.
