Sunday Reflection:

"The story of the persistent Canaanite woman has intrigued and puzzled Christians for two thousand years. Why would Jesus treat this pious woman with what seems like indifference, even hostility? Why does he refuse (it seems) to answer our own prayers? The solution can be found in the very Biblical category of testing. ... The idea of testing faith is a common one in the Bible. Abraham's faith was tried on Mt. Moriah, as was Jacob's and Joseph's. The Gospel story of this woman is a New Testament instance of this dynamic... He wants, not to frustrate her, but to bring out her faith in all of its breadth and depth." - Bishop Robert Barron
