FROM THE DESK OF FATHER MARCO

At an international seminar held in Australia, Aboriginal speaker Eddie Kneebone explained the sense of importance his people were able to impart to their children when they still lived "in the old way on their land". A feeling of insignificance or despair leading to suicide – all too common today among young adults – was unlikely then because of a unique custom:
At a certain predetermined time, a young person would be solemnly entrusted with a secret piece of knowledge-information that could prove vital to the tribe's survival. It might be the location of a hidden waterhole in one area of their territory. It might be the medicinal powers of a certain plant. No one else in the tribe would be given that piece of important knowledge and when the time came, this young person would be expected to contribute it for the welfare of all.
"Imagine," concluded Eddie, "what a sense of importance and belonging this custom gave our young people. Each of them had a unique place, each had an undeniably important role to play. Self-esteem and a sense of personal worth were the great benefits of this Aboriginal custom-long before any psychologist told us about these elements of healthy growth!"
God has made each one of us and our value and worth comes from him. He has made us in his image and likeness and given us unique gifts and talents. To build his kingdom it is important to identify and use these gifts and talents that will also remind us how we belong to Him who loved us first into being.

En un seminario internacional celebrado en Australia, un orador aborigen de nombre Eddie Kneebone explicó el sentido de la importancia que su pueblo pudo transmitir a sus hijos cuando todavía vivían "a la antigua usanza en su tierra". El sentimiento de insignificancia o desesperación que lleva al suicidio -todavía demasiado común entre los adultos Jóvenes- era poco probable debido a una costumbre única:
En cierto momento predeterminado, a un joven se le confiaría solemnemente un secreto, información que podría ser vital para la supervivencia de la tribu. Podría ser la ubicación de un pozo de agua oculto en una zona de su territorio. Podrían ser los poderes medicinales de una determinada planta. A nadie más en la tribu se le daría esa informacion muy importante y cuando llegara el momento, se esperaría que este joven lo compartiera para el bienestar de todos.
"Imagínese", concluyó Eddie, "qué sentido de pertenencia y pertenencia a esta costumbre le dio a nuestros Jóvenes. Cada uno de ellos tenia un lugar único, cada uno tenía un papel innegablemente importante para jugar. La autoestima y el sentido del valor personal fueron los grandes beneficios de esta costumbre aborigen, ¡mucho antes de que un psicólogo nos dijera sobre estos elementos de crecimiento saludable!
Dios nos ha hecho a cada uno de nosotros y nuestro valor proviene de El ya que nos ha hecho a su imagen y semejanza y nos ha dado dones y talentos únicos. Para construir su reino, es importante identificar y usar estos dones y talentos que también nos recordarán cómo pertenecemos a Aquel que nos amó desde un principio.

EL VALOR DEL SERVICIO

Brindar ayuda de manera espontánea en los detalles más pequeños, habla de nuestro alto sentido de colaboración para hacer la vida más ligera a los demás. Servir es ayudar a alguien de manera espontánea, como una actitud permanente de colaboración hacia los demás. La persona servicial lo es en su trabajo, con su familia, colaborar con la comunidad parroquial en la que el Señor te ha puesto pero también en la calle ayudando a otras personas en cosas aparentemente insignificantes, pero que van haciendo la vida más ligera. Todos recordamos la experiencia de algún desconocido que apareció de la nada justo cuando necesitábamos ayuda que sorpresivamente tras ayudarnos se pierde entre la multitud. Las personas serviciales viven continuamente estuvieran atentas, observando y buscando el momento oportuno para ayudar a alguien, aparecen de repente con una sonrisa y las manos por delante dispuestos a hacernos la tarea más sencilla, en cualquier caso, recibir un favor hace nacer en nuestro interior un profundo agradecimiento.

TWENTY- NINTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO KNOW... TE GUSTARIA SABER...

Q.– what is a prayer of blessing?

R.– A prayer of blessing is a prayer that calls down God's blessing upon us. From God alone all Blessings flow, His goodness, his cleseness, his mercy—that is blessing. "May the Lor Bless you" is the shortest prayer of blessing. Every Christian should call down God's blessing upon himself and upon other people. Parents can trace the sign of the Cross on their child's forehead.

P. Que es una bendición?

R.– Una bendición es una oración que pide la Bendición de Dios sobre nosotros. Toda bendición procede únicamente de Dios. Su bondad, su cercanía, su misericordia son bendición. La formula mas breve de la bendición es "El Señor te Bendiga. Los padres pueden trazar sobre la frente de sus hijos la señal de la cruz. Las personas que se aman pueden bendecirse. En el nombre de Jesús
