Dear Friends,

The Industrial Revolution of the nineteenth century was a time of extraordinary change. Workers moved from rural agricultural work to the intensive working conditions of the new mills and factories in the towns. Slavery had been abolished in the fairly recent past, but people continued to live and work in an environment with very few rights and little hope of improvement. However, there were a number of industrialists, inspired by their Christian faith, who realized that better living and working conditions would benefit both owners and the workers.

Pope Leo XIII, in his 1891 encyclical Rerum Novarum, was the first of a succession of popes to teach about labor relations and the just reward of workers. Catholic social teaching continues to have an influence on the way society should treat its workforce in the changing conditions of today's world.

In his parables, Jesus uses the life experience of the people to teach them about the kingdom of God and about the relationships that we need to develop if our lives are to reach their ultimate fulfillment in the kingdom of heaven. The stories relate to what the people know about life at home – farming, fishing and building – and how to make these things work for the common good. Today the context is a vineyard, with tenants employed to manage it.

What has this story to do with us today? First of all, we are responsible citizens. Each and every one of us has to care for everyone else and for what Pope Francis calls "our common home." We are all workers in the vineyard of the Lord. This is not something that relates only to religious things and church leaders but to everything and everybody who shares this planet with us. It's about making the world the place as God wants it to be.

Over the centuries there have been movements of conquest and colonization, which have led to the enslavement and oppression of millions of people. There have been wars of liberation and there have been transformations of culture as human beings have learned the ways of international cooperation and peace. However, there are continuing examples of war and violence all around the world. With this as the constant backdrop, the word of God provides us with a vision of a world at peace where kingdoms and peoples gather in unity to worship the one God and Lord of all. The role of God's people is to give witness to the possibility of such a reality, to produce the good fruits of God's vineyard. Jesus came to reinforce this message of peace and reconciliation and sent out his disciples to demonstrate a new way of living together – the way of forgiveness and service.

There is no place in God's world to violent oppression and exploitation of others. The death and resurrection of Jesus is God's answer to human selfishness and greed. Today, the disciples of Jesus, his Church, you and I, are the tenants responsible for producing the fruits of the harvest of God's vineyard.

Your friend in Jesus,
Msgr. Zach

Queridos Amigos,

La Revolución Industrial del siglo XIX fue una época de cambios extraordinarios. Los trabajadores pasaron del trabajo agrícola rural a las condiciones de trabajo intensivas de los nuevos molinos y fábricas de las ciudades. La esclavitud se había abolido en un pasado relativamente reciente, pero la gente seguía viviendo y trabajando en un entorno con muy pocos derechos y pocas esperanzas de mejora. Sin embargo, hubo varios industriales, inspirados por su fe cristiana, que se dieron cuenta de que mejores condiciones de vida y de trabajo beneficiarían tanto a los propietarios como a los trabajadores.

El Papa León XIII, en su encíclica Rerum Novarum de 1891, fue el primero de una sucesión de papas en enseñar sobre las relaciones laborales y la justa recompensa de los trabajadores. La enseñanza social católica sigue influyendo en la forma en que la sociedad debe tratar a su fuerza laboral en las condiciones cambiantes del mundo actual.

En sus parábolas, Jesús usa la experiencia de vida de las personas para enseñarles sobre el reino de Dios y sobre las relaciones que debemos desarrollar si queremos que nuestras vidas alcancen su máxima plenitud en el reino de los cielos. Las historias se relacionan con lo que la gente sabe sobre la vida en el hogar (agricultura, pesca y construcción) y cómo hacer que estas cosas funcionen para el bien común. Hoy el contexto es un viñedo, con inquilinos contratados para gestionarlo.

¿Qué tiene que ver esta historia con nosotros hoy? En primer lugar, somos ciudadanos responsables. Todos y cada uno de nosotros tenemos que cuidar de todos los demás y de lo que el Papa Francisco llama "nuestra casa común". Todos somos trabajadores de la viña del Señor. Esto no es algo que se relacione solo con las cosas religiosas y los líderes de la iglesia, sino con todo y todos los que comparten este planeta con nosotros. Se trata de hacer del mundo el lugar que Dios quiere que sea.

A lo largo de los siglos se han producido movimientos de conquista y colonización, que han llevado a la esclavitud y opresión de millones de personas. Ha habido guerras de liberación y ha habido transformaciones de la cultura a medida que los seres humanos han aprendido los caminos de la cooperación internacional y la paz. Sin embargo, hay continuos ejemplos de guerra y violencia en todo el mundo. Con esto como telón de fondo constante, la palabra de Dios nos proporciona una visión de un mundo en paz donde reinos y pueblos se reúnen en unidad para adorar al único Dios y Señor de todos. El papel del pueblo de Dios es dar testimonio de la posibilidad de tal realidad, producir los buenos frutos de la viña de Dios. Jesús vino a reforzar este mensaje de paz y reconciliación y envió a sus discípulos a demostrar una nueva forma de vivir juntos: el camino del perdón y el servicio.

No hay lugar en el mundo de Dios para la opresión violenta y la explotación de otros. La muerte y resurrección de Jesús es la respuesta de Dios al egoísmo y la codicia humanos. Hoy, los discípulos de Jesús, su Iglesia, tú y yo, somos los labradores responsables de producir los frutos de la cosecha de la viña de Dios.

Tu amigo en Jesús,
Mons. Zach

The mission of the campaign is to bring together the body of Christ in a spirit of unity during a focused 40 day campaign of prayer, fasting, and peaceful activism, with the purpose of repentance, to seek God's favor to turn hearts and minds from a culture of death to a culture of life, thus bringing an end to abortion.

One of the strengths of 40 Days for Life is its simplicity. The campaign is made up of three key components:

- Prayer and fasting: inviting people of faith throughout our city and across the country to join together for 40 days of fervent prayer and fasting for an end to abortion
- Peaceful Vigil: standing for life through a 40-day peaceful public witness outside the local (insert information about abortion facility or Planned Parenthood)
- Community Outreach: taking a positive, upbeat pro-life message to every corner of our city through media efforts, church and school outreach, petition drives, and public visibility
