GOSPEL MEDITATION BY FR. JOHN MUIR

At the end of her short life, my hero, St. Thérèse of Lisieux, found herself in a curious position. Audaciously, she was convinced that she would become a great saint and would be loved by many after her death. At the same time, she insisted that she was weak, impatient, and ordinary. She became arguably the greatest saint in modern times. How is it possible that an ordinary and imperfect person can also be a great saint?

On this All Saints' Day, Jesus overturns our assumptions about holiness. He says, "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven" (Matthew 5:3). The blessed are not the impressive or the self-sufficient, but the poor in spirit, the meek, the merciful, and the persecuted. These are not heroic traits by normal standards. They are signs of a heart that has learned to rely on God rather than itself. That's what St. Thérèse, and all the saints, are all about.

All Saints' Day is not a celebration of spiritual elites. Rather, it announces what grace can do in our ordinary lives. The saints are not those who avoid weakness or suffering, but those who allow these things to deepen their trust. What good news for us! The smaller and weaker we are, the more qualified we are to be great saints ©LPi

(PRACTICING) CATHOLIC
Recognize God in Your Ordinary Moments

The Survivors

"I'm no saint."

We hear people say this all the time, and what they usually mean is this: "I've made mistakes." Well, congratulations! You have taken that first crucial step to sainthood. You're well on your way!

A saint is not a person with fewer-than-average mistakes. A saint is a person with greater-than-average hope.

What is hope? Hope is certainty in the promises of God over the merits of man. Hope is what makes a Christian rejoice when he hears the litany of earthly trials described in the Beatitudes, because hope makes him see not the trials but the grace promised through them.

Hope remembers, always, that God is in the business of bringing life from death.

"These are the ones who have survived the time of great distress." (Rev. 7:14) This is how we hear the saints described in the Book of Revelation. We do not hear: "These are the ones who were perfect. These are the ones who had no faults. These are the ones who made good choices."

No — these are the ones who survived.

We are all buried in the rubble heap of sin and death. Many of us despair and cry, "We cannot climb out!" The saint is the one who has the hope to answer, "But Someone is coming. Just wait." The saint is the one who looks for the sliver of light, who reaches for it even when everyone else dismisses it as illusion.

Follow the saints. They know how to survive.

ON THE DEATH OF A LOVED-ONE

Families experiencing the loss of a loved one may call 424-458-7861 at any time to begin funeral arrangements at St. Lawrence Martyr. This dedicated line is checked three times a day, and a minister will return your call within 24 hours.

LIVE THE LITURGY

Got a broken heart? Rejoice! An empty bank account? Rejoice! Are you undervalued, overlooked? Rejoice! In the Beatitudes, Jesus offers more than just sweet sayings. He offers a challenge, one we can only meet if he is at our side: rejoice! ©LPi

QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK
REFLECT AND RESPOND TO SCRIPTURE

All Saints Day invites us to consider what will remain when our earthly lives are complete. Saint John sees a multitude united before God's throne. The psalm reminds us that everything we possess belongs to the Lord. The Apostle assures us that our true identity is found in being God's children. And Jesus reveals the values of His eternal Kingdom. Together, these readings ask us to consider what we are doing with the life entrusted to us. Our stewardship is ultimately about more than managing gifts responsibly. It is about allowing those gifts to shape us for communion with God forever.

- If my life were measured not by what I accumulated but by how faithfully I loved, what would its greatest treasures be
- How might remembering my eternal destination change the way I respond to the people and responsibilities God has entrusted to me?

QUESTIONS FOR THE FAMILY

Think about something you really treasure. Maybe it's a favorite toy, a special photograph, or a gift from someone you love. Treasures are things we care about. But did you know that God treasures you? Saint John tells us that we are God's children! He loves us more than we can imagine and wants us to live with Him forever. Jesus teaches us how to care for the people He loves. When we forgive, share, make peace, or help someone who is sad, we are choosing treasures that last. Love is something we can always give away.

- Why do you think God considers every person precious, even when we make mistakes?
- What is one loving choice our family can make today that will matter more than buying or receiving something new?

VOTIVE CANDLES

Candles are available at the Pastoral Center or in the Gift Shop. Candles are $5.00 ea. and stay lit for five days.

THE SHEPHERD'S TABLE

Dear “Saints in Training,”

Yes, this Sunday’s feast day reminds us that we are all saints in training because of our Baptism.

As a young boy, I loved to hear and read about the heroes and heroines of our faith. Some of the stories were probably a little inflated! But nevertheless, as I grew older, I came to appreciate these holy people as saints because they celebrated their Baptism by imitating Christ as well as they were able, even to the point of suffering brutal and cruel deaths for the faith they professed.

We have been discussing and preaching about stewardship for the past several weeks. If we are looking for the key to sainthood, we only have to look at the gifts that the Lord gives us to help us imitate His Son, Jesus.

These gifts are different for each of us, and sometimes they are difficult to recognize or understand. That was true even for the saints themselves and for those who lived and worked alongside them.

And I think that is exactly what happens in our own lives. Don’t we all find it challenging from time to time to know how best to serve the Lord?

That is when we recall these holy people of all ages, people much like you and me, who found inspiration in the various, often challenging and difficult ways in which they were called to follow the Lord. They did not waste the gifts that the Lord had entrusted to them. They put those gifts to good use, even when the path was not always clear.

And that takes prayer and practice, bound together by our faith.

Scripture tells us to “serve the Lord with gladness” (Psalm 100:2). Acknowledging that we have a Father who loves us and shares His life and work with us should bring gladness to the hearts of all who are saints in training.

And that, my friends, means you and me!

SAFEGUARD THE CHILDREN: MANDATED AND ETHICAL REPORTING

Mandated reporters are persons who are legally required to report suspected cases of abuse, or instances where a child has disclosed abuse. These reports must be made to child protective services or law enforcement officials. Most professions that make a person a mandated reporter involve close interactions with children, like a teacher, school administrator or nurse. But regardless of the law, we all have an ethical obligation to report suspected or known child abuse, in order to keep children safe. For more information, read the VIRTUS® article "The Facts about Mandated and Ethical Reporting" at lacatholics.org/did-you-know.
