MESSAGE FROM DEACON JOE

Dear Friends:
The central theme of today's readings is that we must have the courage of our Christian convictions. We must demonstrate our faith by practicing it in our communities even when we face hatred and rejection because of it.
The First Reading tells us how God called Jeremiah as his prophet and equipped him to face opposition and rejection. In living out his prophetic vocation while encountering rejection and persecution, Jeremiah prefigured Jesus, the greatest of all prophets.
The Responsorial Psalm (Psalm #71) offers us a prayer in time of persecution and a declaration of our trust in God with its foundation in him.
In the Second Reading, we hear Paul speaking with the courage of his Christian convictions. He does so by correcting the Corinthian Christian community where God's gifts were misused causing competition, jealousy, and divisiveness. He courageously presents to them a "way," which surpasses all others. Namely Paul instructs the Corinthians in the way of love. He does so by instructing them to exercise their many gifts with love.
Today's Gospel is a continuation of last Sunday's Gospel. It presents the story of the negative reaction to Jesus' "Inaugural Address" at the synagogue of Nazareth. It's there when Jesus applied to himself the words of Isaiah, announcing a new time of jubilee, liberation, and healing in God's name. The passage shows us how Jesus faced skepticism and criticism with prophetic courage.
Jeremiah, Paul, and Jesus all proclaimed a challenging prophetic message. No matter how strong the opposition, these three had the conviction that God was with them.
We need to face rejection with prophetic courage and optimism. Perhaps we have experienced the pain of rejection, betrayal, abandonment, violated trust, neglect, or abuse, even from friends and family members, when we reached out to them as God's agents of healing and saving grace. Perhaps we ourselves are guilty of offering such rejection. Perhaps we, too, have been guilty of ignoring or humiliating people with our arrogance and prejudice. Let us learn to correct our mistakes and face rejection from others with courage.
God bless you,
Deacon Joe Sifferman

Salesian Women's Silent Lenten Retreat
March 25 4:00 pm - March 27 1:00 pm

Are you stressed? Do you find yourself now more than ever dealing with anxiety and depression on a daily basis? If so, then this retreat may be for you. St. Francis de Sales (1567-1622) was no stranger to anxiety, stress, or depression and he lived during the second wave of the Bubonic Plague in Europe which also claimed the life of his own brother, Bernard. On this retreat weekend we will pray together and learn how St. Francis de Sales suggests we approach issues of anxiety, stress, busyness, workaholism, and sadness through his classic teachings found in his spiritual classic Introduction to the Devout Life.
