Radical? Secular? Holy?
A Challenge to Modern Christianity.

The readings for this weekend could challenge the very lifestyle we tend to defend, calling ourselves the twenty-first century Christians. In our First Reading we are taught that holiness means separateness, distinctiveness, from the world. It was first of all the quality of God. Then, by making Israel his people, God made them holy, too. This is not expressed here but is presupposed by the context of the Old Testament Law, given as it is after the exodus; it is however made clear, as far as the Christian Church is concerned, in the Second Reading: "God's temple is holy, and you are that temple". But the concept of holiness as a call to walk the higher path is falling on deaf ears these days.

The demons of the world and of our hearts seduce us into thinking that the ways of God cannot be followed in this time-bound journey of our life. Even the commands that the Lord gave to Moses seemed so impractical. "Speak to the whole Israelite community and tell them: be holy, for I, the Lord your God, am holy." The biblical scholar John L. McKenzie says, "You cannot be a Christian in private and a secularist every place where your life impinges upon the public." Such a character maneuvering courts tragedy, as our life vision spells out a value system as if Incarnation has not happened and Jesus has not died for our salvation. There is a temptation lurking around the corner to throw the concept of sin out of our conscience.

The Gospel Reading continues the Sermon on the Mount from last week. This part is popularly known as the "antitheses": "You have heard that it was said ... but I say to you." Here two antitheses are drawn out. The first is taken from the Torah: "eye for eye and tooth for tooth" (Lev 24:19). The second is a maxim that combines the commandment to love the neighbor from our first reading with an injunction not found anywhere in the Old Testament but representing much of what is taught or assumed there, namely, that one should hate the enemies of God and of Israel. Jesus is not contradicting the Old Testament but is radicalizing it, going much further though in the same direction. For the "eye for eye" injunction was not meant to sanction revenge but to restrict it. This is a norm in vogue in most tribal legal systems around the globe even now. Now Jesus rules it out altogether.

So in the Gospel Reading Christ is not commanding you to be an enabler of people doing bad things. He is exhorting you to love even your enemy as yourself. If you love your enemy in this way, you will want to help your enemy be what you yourself want to be: someone trying to love and obey Christ. Think this way of Christ's command to turn the other cheek, then.

Ordinarily, a person given to evil will become worse and worse if he thinks he can hurt others with impunity. That is why to threaten him with reprisal is to tug him back from his own moral destruction. But sometimes a person is so sunk in evil that no threat of punishment would deter him. And then your best bet is to let him hit you again. If he does, he may finally understand the evil in himself and hate it. In the mid-twentieth century, Gandhi, and Martin Luther King Jr., applied Jesus' teaching of nonviolence with great historical impact to situations that curbed the spiraling violence to lasting peace settlements.

LENTEN IDEAS, REFLEXION AND INSPIRATION: PRAYER, FASTING, AND CHARITABLE GIVING

The Holy Father connects Paul's words to the Galatians to the traditional Lenten practices of prayer, fasting, and almsgiving. "Let us not grow tired of praying," he says, realizing that we need God and others. "Let us not grow tired of uprooting evil from our lives," embracing fasting in order "to fortify our spirit for the battle against sin," especially through the sacrament of Confession and by fighting against concupiscence. "Let us not grow tired of doing good in active charity towards our neighbour," giving joyfully and generously to others, especially those in most need.

Pope Francis says that each year during Lent "we are reminded that 'goodness, together with love, justice, and solidarity, are not achieved once and for all; they have to be realized each day.'"

FRUITFUL LENTEN SEASON

MEDITACIÓN EVANGÉLICO - ALENTAR ENTENDIMIENTO MÁS PROFUNDO DE LA ESCRITURA

"Confió, Señor, en tu misericordia; alegra mi corazón con tu auxilio. Cantaré al Señor por el bien que me ha hecho" (Salmo 12,6). Estamos llamados a ir más allá de nosotros mismos en todas las cosas que realizamos en la vida cotidiana. En otras palabras, el amor no puede tener condiciones, se ama al máximo o no se ama. Los ejemplos que tenemos de amor en las telenovelas, o los reality shows, son de fantasía y de acomodo al egoísmo. Lo que Jesús propone es darlo todo hasta el tope, hasta el fondo del corazón. Como los abuelitos que cuidan de sus nietos con toda el alma; o como los cuidadores de enfermos que lo dan todo para el alivio y descanso en la enfermedad; o como los padres de familia que trabajan sin descanso para llevar el pan a la mesa.

Jesús nos llama en el Evangelio a la coherencia cristiana, a comenzar un camino espiritual que nos renueve desde el fondo del corazón. No más ojo por ojo ni diente por diente. Eso de amar a los enemigos es diferente: "Si alguien te hace un pleito por la camisa, entrégale también el manto. Si alguien te obliga a llevarle la carga, llévasela el doble más lejos. Da al que te pida, y al que espera de ti algo prestado, no le vuelvas la espalda. (Mateo 5,40-42). Pero, ¿cómo Señor? eso es muy difícil de llevar. Cuando presto, cobro a toda hora. Si me piden ayudar con alguna responsabilidad en la familia, mejor me retiro dando miles de excusas, que estoy cansado u ocupado. Puede ser, pero desde el mensaje del Evangelio, el amor lo puede todo. ©LPi

WHY DO WE DO THAT? - CATHOLIC LIFE EXPLAINED: IS GOSSIP A SIN?

Question:

Is gossip a mortal sin?

Answer:

To really ask this question, we must consider the Eighth Commandment: "You shall not bear false witness."

In its reflections on this commandment, The Catechism of the Catholic Church invites us to not only think about what bearing "false witness" means, but to also consider how we understand the truth and how we communicate more broadly. This is why so much of this section of the Catechism has to do with the gift of language. With this in mind, we will notice that the word "gossip" isn't used by the Catechism. Instead, we find the words "detraction" and "calumny," which are actually two forms that gossip can take, and both can be quite serious.

First, detraction is the of revealing "another's faults and failings to persons who did not know them," without morally valid reasons. Calumny, by extension, is saying something about another person that is untrue, and it is sinful because it "harms the reputation of others and gives occasion for false judgements" (see no. 2477).

In all of our communication, we have to always recognize that we have a moral obligation to the truth and to always work to protect the reputation and honor of our neighbors (see no. 2479).

Gossip can, in fact, prove to be a very serious sin. After all, the Catechism reminds us: "No one is bound to reveal the truth to someone who does not have the right to know it" (no. 2489). When we have gossiped, especially if we are aware we have damaged another person's good name or reputation, we want to make every effort to undo the damage we have done, including seeking the grace and forgiveness offered in the Sacrament of Reconciliation. ©LPi
