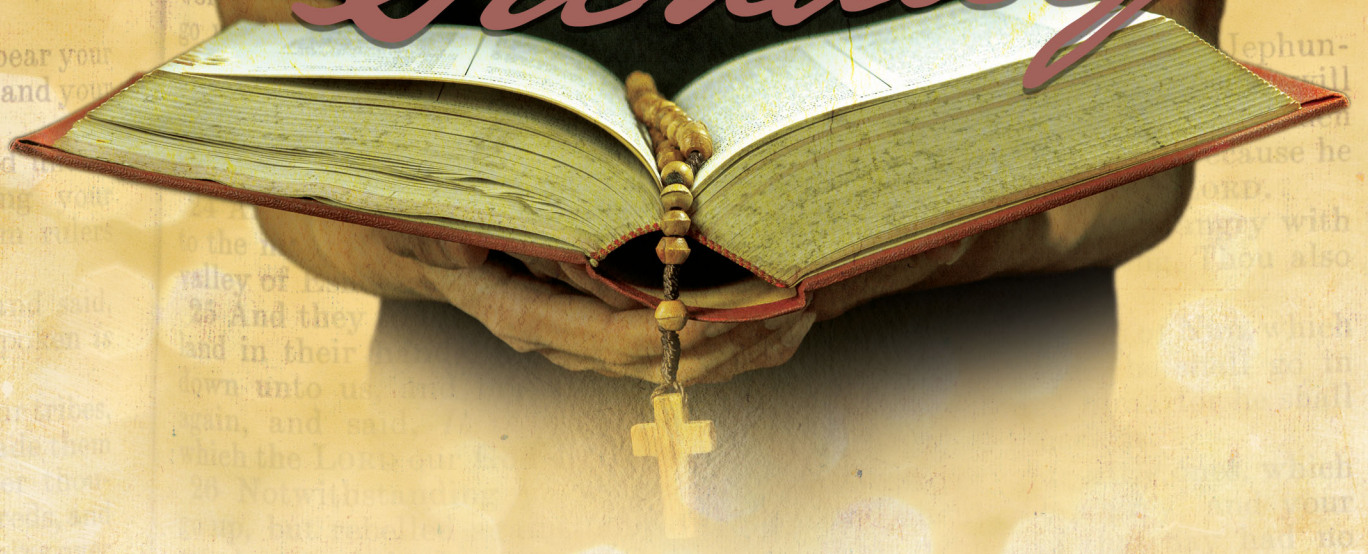
PRIESTHOOD Sunday



Prayer for Priests

Lord God, most holy,
we approach you in gratitude for your holy ordained priesthood.
You have called these men to be set apart and to shepherd your people, as you shepherd your entire church.
We pray for them in their daily work.
Grant to them an increase in spiritual gifts and grace,
so they may be prepared for the tasks at hand.
Lead them not into temptation and protect them from the grasp of the evil one.
It is through the sacraments they confer that we encounter the divine in a real and profound way.
May your church never lose sight of these, your special sons, and may we, the body of Christ, never fail to cherish the gift of their lives, which they have freely given to you and your holy church.
We ask this in the name of Jesus, your Son.
Amen.

You Wouldn't Even Ask

If a candidate who supported terrorism asked for your vote, would you say, "I disagree with you on terrorism, but where do you stand on other issues?"

I doubt it.

In fact, if a terrorism sympathizer presented him/herself for your vote, you would immediately know that such a position disqualifies the candidate for public office -- no matter how good he or she may be on other issues. The horror of terrorism dwarfs whatever good might be found in the candidate's plan for housing, education, or health care. Regarding those plans, you wouldn't even ask.

So why do so many people say, "This candidate favors legal abortion. I disagree. But I'm voting for this person because she has good ideas about health care (or some other issue)."

Such a position makes no sense whatsoever, unless one is completely blind to the violence of abortion. That, of course, is the problem. But we need only see what abortion looks like, or read descriptions from the abortionists themselves, and the evidence is clear. (USA Today refused to sell me space for an ad that quoted abortionists describing their work because the readers would be traumatized just by the words!)

Abortion is no less violent than terrorism. Any candidate who says abortion should be kept legal disqualifies him/herself from public service. We need look no further, we need pay no attention to what that candidate says on other issues. Support for abortion is enough for us to decide not to vote for such a person.

Pope John Paul II put it this way: "Above all, the common outcry, which is justly made on behalf of human rights -- for example, the right to health, to home, to work, to family, to culture -- is false and illusory if the right to life, the most basic and fundamental right and the condition for all other personal rights, is not defended with maximum determination" (Christifideles Laici, 1988).

False and illusory. Those are strong and clear words that call for our further reflection.

"I stand for adequate and comprehensive health care." So far, so good. But as soon as you say that a procedure that tears the arms off of little babies is part of "health care," then your understanding of the term "health care" is obviously quite different from the actual meaning of the words. In short, you lose credibility. Your claim to health care is "illusory." It sounds good, but is in fact destructive, because it masks an act of violence.

"My plan for adequate housing will succeed." Fine. But what are houses for, if not for people to live in them? If you allow the killing of the children who would otherwise live in those houses, how am I supposed to get excited by your housing project?

It's easy to get confused by all the arguments in an election year. But if you start by asking where candidates stand on abortion, you can eliminate a lot of other questions you needn't even ask.

St. Nicholas News & Events

The St. Nicholas Christian Mothers and Ladies Guild (CMLG) has existed in our parish for over 75 years and has been a key group to serving those in our local parish community. Throughout this time, the CMLG has existed under the larger Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women (ACCW). The ACCW is dedicated to support, empower, and educate all Catholic women in spirituality, leadership, and service. Through various commissions established under the ACCW, women have an opportunity to explore or participate in specific areas where God is calling them to service.

Changing our name from Christian Mothers and Ladies Guild (CMLG) to Council of Catholic Women (CCW) will eliminate confusion and better reflect how our ministries here at St. Nicholas align with the larger Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women (ACCW).

Please join us for Turkey Bingo!
This is a wonderful, fun-filled, annual tradition! Please join us for a great evening and possibly win your holiday turkey! If your last name begins with the letter N through Z, you are asked to bring 1 ½ dozen sandwiches or cupcakes. Any questions, please call the parish office at 952-461-2403.

Lord, Let it be You who lives in me today.

10:00 a.m.—Ushers must be 18 years and older.

10:30 a.m.—Lectors must be high school age or older.

11:00 a.m.—Extra Ordinary Ministers of Holy Communion must be confirmed.

Text Reflection

Children have such great expectations. They often show an eagerness that marvels adults. They can't wait to get at the Christmas gifts. They race off to explore new vistas. They dive into new things with an energy that seems beyond imagining. This exuberant curiosity that characterizes childhood gets channeled over time into an exploration of one's place in the world as teenagers or young adults discover their own selves and decide what they want to do with their lives. Sometimes, the intense eagerness of childhood is restrained by the reality of the adult world in which real limitations are made manifest. Not everything is a game to explore anymore.

In this weekend's Gospel, we have a story of a man who had to face his own limitations. Zacchaeus was a short guy. He couldn't see above the crowd. But he used his own ingenuity in his attempt to see Jesus. He climbed up a sycamore tree and sat in its branches because he wanted to catch a glimpse of this prophet who had come to Jericho. Jesus in turn stops at the sycamore and invites Zacchaeus to come down. Whatever limitations Zacchaeus had because of his height, it didn't seem to affect his business acumen, for the Gospel tells us that he was a wealthy man. The people of Jericho seem to think that not all of his wealth was acquired legitimately. But Zacchaeus stands his ground, promising to over-compensate anyone whom he may have harmed.

As we move on in life, we may find ourselves at the point of having lost some of the enthusiasm for what got us to where we are. Our day-to-day experiences can sometimes feel like a rut that consumes our energy. The story of Zacchaeus reminds us that there can be a renewal of grace that enlivens us once again. We might consider where Jesus is walking by in our life, and if we have the eagerness to see him.

Q & A Whenever we interact with our priests, do we see them as human and frail like the rest of humanity? Or on the other hand, do we see them as supermen, able to withstand all the stresses and strains of being human?

I hope you see your priest as very human. Quite possibly, even more human than most of us. Why? Because they not only have their own struggles being human, but they accompany us in our humanness too.

Therefore, this Priesthood Sunday, turn the tables. Attempt to be the listener to the human side of your priest. Do not automatically tell him your troubles; begin by asking him what is going on in his life. Thank him warmly for giving up so much to spend his life in service to others. Try it. You might be surprised to find out your priest is just like you!

Liturgical Publications, Inc.

With the latest set of reports from local 40 Days for Life campaigns, we are now aware of 410 babies whose mothers turned away from abortion.

And that means since the first coordinated 40 Days for Life campaign began nine years ago, our leaders have told us 12,206 lives have been spared in all!

Praise God!

Praying outside an abortion center may sound like an unusual way to pass the time. But the Lord hears those prayers – and responds!

Our Parish School News

WHAT IS SCRIP?

Holy Cross School purchases gift certificates/cards from popular retailers (Cub Foods, Kohls, Kwik Trip, etc.) at a discount. Parents and school supporters then buy the gift certificates from the school at face value. The difference in price is kept by the school (1/2 will go to the general fund and the other 1/2 goes to either tuition or the Angel Fund). Parents then spend the scrip at the retailer, where it's worth the full face value.

As the consumer, you are not paying anything extra out-of-pocket, and the retailer is giving Holy Cross School a percentage of your purchase (anywhere from 2% on up!).
