TWENTY THIRD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Cardinal Francis George of Chicago : May, 2010

"Speaking a few years ago to a group of priests, entirely outside of the current political debate, I was trying to express in overly dramatic fashion what the complete secularization of our society could bring," writes the Cardinal. "I was responding to a question and I never wrote down what I said, but the words were captured on somebody's smart phone and have now gone viral on Wikipedia and elsewhere in the electronic communication world. I am (correctly) quoted as saying that I expected to die in bed, my successor will die in prison and his successor will die a martyr in the public square. What is omitted from the reports is a final phrase I added about the bishop who follows a possibly martyred bishop: 'His successor will pick up the shards of a ruined society and slowly help rebuild civilization, as the church has done so often in human history.' What I said is not 'prophetic' but a way to force people to think outside of the usual categories that limit and sometimes poison both private and public discourse."

"Analogies can easily be multiplied, if one wants to push a thesis; but the point is that the greatest threat to world peace and international justice is the nation state gone bad, claiming an absolute power, deciding questions and making "laws" beyond its competence. Few there are, however, who would venture to ask if there might be a better way for humanity to organize itself for the sake of the common good. Few, that is, beyond a prophetic voice like that of Dorothy Day, speaking acerbically about "Holy Mother the State," or the ecclesiastical voice that calls the world, from generation to generation, to live at peace in the kingdom of God.

God sustains the world, in good times and in bad. Catholics, along with many others, believe that only one person has overcome and rescued history: Jesus Christ, Son of God and Son of the Virgin Mary, savior of the world and head of his body, the church. Those who gather at his cross and by his empty tomb, no matter their nationality, are on the right side of history. Those who lie about him and persecute or harass his followers in any age might imagine they are bringing something new to history, but they inevitably end up ringing the changes on the old human story of sin and oppression. There is nothing "progressive" about sin, even when it is promoted as "enlightened."

The world divorced from God who created and redeemed it inevitably comes to a bad end. It's on the wrong side of the only history that finally matters. This Synod on the New Evangelization is taking place in Rome this month because entire societies, especially in the West, have placed themselves on the wrong side of history."

When I shared these thoughts from Cardinal George to a diocesan official, he retorted: "Cardinal George's words seem more and more prescient (having or showing knowledge of events before they take place). It's tough times, but we have to keep doing the Lord's work." Born on January 16, 1937, this good man died of cancer on April 17, 2015. A few years after my ordination to the priesthood in 1993, I received an autographed letter from him. A Chicago native, George had polio as a teenager, leading to his initial rejection by a high school seminary program run by the Diocese. Instead, he was accepted by the formation seminary of the order "Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate". His later theology studies would take him through Washington, DC, Louisiana, Nebraska, Canada and Minnesota. He served as a bishop in Oregon, Washington State, and then Chicago. He fought against the taping of sacramental confessions in jail (now a hot issue in California with laws designed to have a priest break the "Seal" with certain crimes), racism, same-sex marriage, and the horrors of abortion. Cardinal Timothy Dolan served with him on the "United States Conference of Catholic Bishops." George, a true hero of the faith, is buried at "All Saints Cemetery" in Des Plaines, Illinois. Father Bill

TODAY

TWENTY-THIRD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

First Reading: Wisdom 9:13-18b

This reading acknowledges that people have had a difficult time attempting to know God's wishes. At times we have difficulty understanding the things that happen on earth. Therefore, learning of things in heaven would have been impossible, except that God sent us wisdom and the Holy Spirit to help us understand him.

Second Reading: Philemon 9-10, 12-17

Paul writes to Philemon regarding Onesimus, a slave who ran away and encountered Paul. Although Paul wished Onesimus could remain with him, he did not want to violate Philemon's wishes. Paul asks that Philemon receives his friend Onesimus as a beloved brother, not as a slave. He closes by saying, "Welcome him as you would me."

Gospel: Luke 14:25-33

Jesus warns people who wish to follow him that they must abandon everyone else first. A person calculates the amount of money needed to complete a project before they begin it. In the same way, Jesus warns these people to consider exactly what is involved before they make a commitment to follow him.
