MEDITATION OF THE DAY FROM MAGNIFICAT - "How to Unify the Activities of Our Life"

Lord, you have given me a model for prayer: the Our Father. It is brief, concise, and packed with meaning. Your life, Lord, is a sincere and simple prayer addressed to your Father. Your prayer was sometimes long, like your ardent and spontaneous prayer after the Last Supper.

But often your words, those of your Mother and apostles, were brief, linking together the actions of daily life. I, who often feel weak and indifferent, love to recall those brief prayers before the Eucharist, at my desk, in the street, alone. The more I repeat them, the more they penetrate me. I am close to you, Lord.

Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.

Father, that they may be one.

I am the handmaid of the Lord.

They have no wine.

Behold your son, behold your Mother!

Remember me, when you come into your kingdom.

Lord, what do you want me to do?

Lord, you know all things, you know that I love you.

Lord, have mercy on me, a poor sinner.

All of these brief prayers, linked one to another, form a life of prayer. Like a chain of discreet gestures, glances, and intimate words, they form a life of love. They keep us in an atmosphere of prayer not distracting us from our present tasks, but helping us to live our day more conscious of God.

ISSUES OF JUSTICE & PEACE

We might miss a secondary theme in both today’s first reading and in the Gospel.

It is the theme of prioritizing. Abraham goes above and beyond in fulfilling the ethic of welcoming strangers who approach him, and Jesus tells Martha that her sister “has chosen the better part (prioritized her actions). Likewise, Pope Francis, quoting to other popes, reminds us about a priority for all of us in this world. “I would like to echo a statement of Saint John Paul II whose forcefulness has perhaps been insufficiently recognized: ‘God gave the earth to the whole human race for the sustenance of all its members, without excluding or favoring anyone.’ For my part, I would observe that ‘the Christian tradition has never recognized the right to private property as absolute or inviolable, and has stressed the social purpose of all forms of private property.’ The principle of the common use of created goods is the ‘first principle of the whole ethical and social order;’ it is a natural and inherent right that takes priority over others. All other rights having to do with the goods necessary for the integral fulfillment of persons, including that of private property or any other type of property, should – in the words of Saint Paul VI – ‘in no way hinder [this right], but should actively facilitate its implementation.’ The right to private property can only be considered a secondary natural right, derived from the principle of the universal destination of created goods. This has concrete consequences that ought to be reflected in the workings of society. Yet it often happens that secondary rights displace primary and overriding rights, in practice making them irrelevant” (Fratelli Tutti, On the Fraternity and Social Friendship, #120)
