Transfiguration

BEFORE HIS death, Jesus invited Peter, James, and John up a mountain. They witnessed his Transfiguration. As Moses and Elijah appeared to them, Jesus's face and clothing took on the bright illumination of glory.

The Gospel account is proclaimed at Mass twice each year. It is always the Gospel for the Second Sunday of Lent. There it offers a glimpse of glory to those approaching the enlightenment of Baptism, and those seeking cleansing from their sin. Coincidentally, the moon is full on a day near that Sunday each year.

On August 6, the Church hears the Gospel a second time. No one knows the date of Jesus' Transfiguration, but a chapel on the traditional site, Mount Tabor, may have been dedicated on this date in the fourth century. Many churches East and West observed that feast. In 1456, Christians won a victory over the Turks at Belgrade. News reached Rome on August 6, so Pope Callistus III extended the celebration of the Transfiguration of the Lord to the universal church.

The Preface at this Mass was composed after the Second Vatican Council. It focuses not just on what happened to Jesus, but what it means for the Church. The Body of Christ will one day share the glory of its Head. The same theme appears in the Preface for the Ascension. The one for August 6 says that the three apostles saw the Transfiguration so that "the scandal of the Cross might be removed" from their hearts. It reassured those tempted to doubt.

This day ranks as a Feast of the Lord. The lectionary contains three Scripture readings, which a bishops' conference may reduce to two on weekdays. When August 6 falls on a Sunday, all three readings and prayers replace those normally assigned this day in Ordinary Time.

READINGS FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST 9 - Nineteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

First Reading

1 Kings 19:9a, 11-13a

Elijah recognized God in the tiny whispering sound.

Psalm

Psalm 85

"Lord, let us see your kindness, and grant us your salvation."

Second Reading

Romans 9:1-5

Paul speaks the truth in Christ.

Gospel

Matthew 14:22-33

Jesus walks on the sea.

The divine presence may be heralded by loud and violent natural phenomena, but God is often found in quiet and gentle gestures. Amid fire and earthquakes, Elijah finds the LORD in a tiny whisper. During a raging storm, Peter hears Jesus tenderly inviting him to come to him. May today's readings remind us that we may have to strain to hear God's voice and we may even doubt the words we hear, but we should remain aware that at any time the Lord may be calling us.
