Religion that is pure and undefiled before God the Father is this:
to care for orphans and widows in their affliction
and to keep oneself unstained by the world.

- James 1:27

Jesus knows how to keep such a challenging tenet of faith according to St. James. This twofold call to “pure” religion involves both love of neighbor –“orphans and widows”- as well as love for God, keeping “oneself unstained by the world.” Wouldn’t it be easier to do one or the other? We, in our imperfection, tend to be stronger in one or the other. In fact, this could be said to depict the polarization that we’ve seen in our church over the past 50 years.

Some can emphasize charity towards one’s neighbor, but somehow at the cost of doctrine or liturgy. Others can emphasize doctrine and liturgical practice, but might neglect “orphans and widows” in the process. How can we possibly integrate both? St. John Paul II said clearly in his exhortation:

It is useless to play off orthopraxis against orthodoxy: Christianity is inseparably both. Firm and well-thought out convictions lead to courageous and upright action; the endeavor to educate the faithful to live as disciples of Christ today calls for and facilitates a discovery in depth of the mystery of Christ in the history of salvation. (Catechesi Tradendae, Apostolic Exhortation)

St. Edith Stein (Sr. Teresa Benedicta) said that truth without love, or love without truth, becomes a destructive lie. We need both truth and love as pillars for the house of our soul.

Integration takes our concerted effort to grow in faith, hope, and love. If we are honest, all three of these virtues grow together. One cannot grow in one without the others following suit. Faith challenges us to love. Love grows with truth, which comes from faith. Any increase of either of these two virtues necessarily increases our hope. We have more hope as we experience the hand of God.

Consider if there are any orphans or widows in your life. Orphans can be any child suffering the loss of a parent through death or divorce or addiction. With widows I would add widowers. When James wrote this letter he was concerned about the most vulnerable financially in their society. Today, loneliness can be the ultimate killer of the most vulnerable. Taking time with those who suffer the poverty of loneliness is a great gift.

Taking time with the Scriptures and Church teaching help keep one’s soul “unstained.” Our secular world is strong in presenting its perspective as the only credible way, yet it can often be filled with subtle, or not so subtle, errors and invitations to sin. To remain unstained in this world is a bit like walking on water. Let’s ask St. Peter to help us make that step of faith.

Fr. Ed

New Masks Guidelines for Mass

The Delta variant, which is highly transmissible, is now widespread across the United States and has quadrupled the case count this month alone. Reports acknowledge that even people who have been vaccinated may still transmit the virus and be infected by this Delta variant. Because of this, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has updated its masking guidance, recommending that everyone wear masks in indoor public spaces – even if they've been vaccinated.

Due to the risks of the Delta variant and our desire to protect our children and the vulnerable in our communities, the Archdiocese recommends mask wearing during indoor Mass celebrations. Given the rise in cases, it is also a good time to recall the safety basics:

- Do not come to Mass if you are feeling ill.
- Do not come if you have a temperature.
- Wash your hands frequently.
- Avoid "close contact" with people outside your family, (15 min. of face-to-face contact within 6 feet of an infected person).
- Wear a mask.

Prayer for Rain

As the West continues to experience severe drought in many parts of the region, which is leading to depleted water supplies, water restrictions, forest fires and more hardships, the Metropolitan Archbishops from Los Angeles to Anchorage are asking everyone to prayerfully implore the Lord to send us rain.

O God, in whom we live and move and have our being, grant us sufficient rain, so that, being supplied with what sustains us in this present life, we may seek more confidently what sustains us for eternity. Heavenly Father, we beg your protection, save us from the perils of drought and fire, so that we may continue to serve you in good health, safety, and peace. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your son, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, God, forever and ever. Amen.
