You also must be prepared,
for at an hour you do not expect,
the Son of Man will come.

"Be prepared" was the Boy Scout motto. It's wise, beginning with the most important issues in life, but manifesting in the little things as well. I'm always impressed by those people who have a solution for practically everything. They always have the right materials, tools and methods to solve practical problems.

Our preacher on Sunday for the Steubenville Conference this past weekend* went straight to the most practical problem we can possibly face in life, namely, as mortals, we die. That's a problem! We want to live. Something innate in our souls wants to live. We exist and want to keep existing.

The priest recalled a non-believer denying the afterlife by stating that no one had come back from the dead to tell us what's next. The priest said to him, "I know a guy." We have a guy, a man, yet God, who did come back from the dead. Jesus' resurrection testifies to the truth that there is an afterlife and if we trust His word, there's two possible outcomes to that, one great and one terrible.

In Jesus' parable of the Master returning from a wedding, servants were called to be prepared for his coming. Those who weren't were punished severely, even assigned "...a place with the unfaithful." We must be ready. Today is the day. The more we develop a habit of readiness, in case today is the day, the more ready we will be at that moment. Let us pray for the grace to be ready at all times, to remain in His love, to stay in a state of grace. He is for us, who can be against us.

Fr. Ed

From Loyola Press

Jesus' instructions on how to be ready for the coming judgment continue in the stories and sayings found in today's Gospel. We are not to be like the greedy rich man in last Sunday's Gospel who planned to store his great harvest in barns rather than share it. We are, rather, to share our wealth with those in need. The antidote for the anxiety brought on by the coming judgment is to relinquish our possessions and provide for the needs of others. Our treasure will be in heaven where it will not wear out or be destroyed.

The other major way to be ready for the coming judgment is to be watchful. In Luke's Gospel, Jesus tells a parable about watchfulness to begin making this point. We must be like servants waiting for the master's return from a wedding banquet, which, even now, can last for a few days in the Middle East. We must be watchful so that even if the master comes after midnight, we will be ready for him. This is what the coming of the Son of Man will be like.

Peter asks if this parable is meant for the apostles or for the large crowd that has gathered to listen to Jesus. Without answering Peter's question, Jesus responds with another parable about servants awaiting the return of their master. It begins with a question: "Who, then, is the faithful and prudent steward whom the master will put in charge of his servants to distribute the food allowance at the proper time?" This parable adds to the theme of watchfulness; it explains how to wait and reminds us of the reward for the faithful follower at the heavenly banquet after the judgment. If it is addressed to the apostles, then it could also be addressed to leadership in the early Church. Either way, the parables reminds us that we should be found doing our jobs when the master arrives. If we are doing our jobs, our reward will be great. But if we relax, neglect our duties, and begin to act like the greedy rich man—eating, drinking, and making merry—we will not have a place in the kingdom. Watchfulness means living in such a consistently moral and obedient way that we are always ready to give an account to God of how we have lived.
