Dear St. Anthony and St. Stephen the Martyr parishioners,

This past week we observed the great celebration of All Saints (Thursday evening vigil and Friday) as a Holy Day of Obligation. This great solemnity helps remind us of the witness of those mature disciples who approached their lives in faith, hope and love and conformed their lives more closely to the Risen Christ. We also ask for their intercession to help us continue in our faithful discipleship each day.

The following day as you know was All Souls and throughout the month of November, we pray in a special way for all our loved ones who have died. Although difficult at times, this is a beautiful part of our Catholic faith, believing that through the Risen Christ and in the Holy Spirit we are still connected with those who have gone before us that we can pray for them, so that by God's grace they are able to be at peace and pray for us. In the Eucharist we are always united both living and deceased as we recount in our eucharistic prayers at every mass.

In the upcoming weeks I invited Catholic Cemeteries to be around after the masses for any questions or if you want to explore some options for you and your family. This is all part of our faith, and I encourage you to see this as a sign of hope in the assurances of our faith in the Risen Christ. Please continue to pray for all those who grieve and support each other as we lift up our loved ones to the Lord in November. I do feel as the years pass, even closer to my family, friends, colleagues, and parishioners who have died, I appreciate them even more and know that we are one in the Risen Christ. May the Lord bless you and your family both living and deceased.

Your Servant in the Risen Christ,

Fr. Bryan Dolejsi

The feast of All Saints is a holy day on which the church glorifies God for all his saints, known and unknown. It is celebrated on November first in the West, since Pope Gregory IV ordered its church-wide observance in the year 837. All Saints' Day has been observed by the Church as an occasion to celebrate in a special way all its saints, past and present, whatever their country of origin, their race, or their denomination, and whether they are known to us personally or not. On this day we remember the saints, who may have been forgotten, or never been specifically honored. This is the belief that all of God's people, on heaven, earth, and in the state of purification, are connected in a communion. We celebrate the lives of ordinary men and women of every time and place who lived in an extraordinary way in faithfulness to the message of the gospel. These men and women have been teachers and preachers; they are founders of religious orders and scholars. They are married persons, missionaries, and martyrs. They come from all walks of life and from various parts of the globe. They are ours and they belong to us.

The origin of this feast lies in the common commemorations of martyrs who died in groups or whose names were unknown, which were held on various days in different parts of the Church. However, over time these celebrations came to include not only the martyrs but all saints. The purpose of the feast is said to be twofold. As the prayer of the Mass states, "the merits of all the saints are venerated in common by this one celebration," because a very large number of martyrs and other saints could not be accorded the honor of a special festival since the days of the year would not suffice for all these individual celebrations. The second purpose was given by Pope Urban IV: Any negligence, omission, and irreverence committed in the celebration of the saints' feasts throughout the year is to be atoned for by the faithful, and thus due honor may still be offered to these saints. This celebration of the feast of all saints reminds us of the fact that they are present, interceding for us.

This feast originated as a feast of All Martyrs, sometime in the 4th century. At first it was celebrated on the first Sunday after Pentecost. It came to be observed on May 13 when Pope St. Boniface IV in the 7th century restored and rebuilt for use as a Christian church an ancient Roman temple to "all gods", the Pantheon. The pope re-buried the bones of many martyrs there, and dedicated this Church to the Mother of God and all the Holy Martyrs on May 13, 610. About a hundred years later, Pope Gregory III consecrated a new chapel in the Basilica of St. Peter to all saints not just to the martyrs on November the first. A century later Pope Gregory IV extended the celebration of All Saints to November first for the entire Church as a holy day of obligation. The feast of All Saints achieved great prominence in the ninth century, in the reign of the Byzantine Emperor, Leo VI, the Wise, as he was called who built a church and dedicated it to All Saints.
