Please pray for those who have died, and have gone to their eternal rest with the Lord, especially for Ivan Renteria & Frank Treviño. Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon them. May they rest in peace.

From Your Librarian

Books to borrow from the Notre Dame Parish Library located in the Pastoral Center is open Wednesday from 10:00 AM - 12:00 Noon. If you are unable to come during these times, please call Deborah Harris at 214-538-9105 and I will help you get the book you need.

Upon this Rock: A Tale of Peter by John Cosgrove is the story of the founding of our Christian Church. The story starts right after the agony in the garden where Peter draws his sword and Jesus tells him, "Put away your sword, do you not know that if I asked my Father, he would send me twelve legions of angels?" Peter did not approach the mound where Jesus was crucified because shame had shackled his feet. He had come to the end of three glorious years with his master who now was dead. Peter thought back to a time of humiliation and rebuke when Jesus told him, "Get you behind me Satan! You are a scandal to me!" Yet the master had honored him by permitting him to witness the Transfiguration and the highest of honors by saying "Upon you I will build my Church."

After the Resurrection the apostles were waiting for Jesus to return, He finally appeared and said to Peter, "Simon son of Jonah, do you love me more than these do?" Peter replied, "Lord you know I love you." Jesus says, "feed my sheep." We know that Jesus would twice repeat the same question. Three times Peter denied Jesus and yet He gives Peter three opportunities to declare his love for Him. On the feast of Pentecost, after all the apostles received the gift of tongues, they went into the streets preaching and baptizing 5,000 of them. There are many other encounters that Peter had with the Lord before he His crucifixion on Vatican Hill, such as; his vision of food (cattle, sheep, goats, and fowls) on a large sheet like vessel suspended from the four corners in the heavens which was later replaced with swine, creeping things, unknown beasts and birds. God's voice said to Peter, "What God has cleansed, do not you call common." Three times the voice said this.

There are many more dramatic stories of the lives of the disciples and early heroes and martyrs (like Stephen) who were to first follow the Messiah. You will learn about all Peter's journeys, Seleucia, the eastern coast of the Aegean Sea, Rome, Gaul, Hispania and the islands. I will leave you with this quote from Peter, "Knowledge we acquire, faith is a gift from God. He offers it in abundance. Blessed is he who becomes saturated with faith – in his blood, bones & in his spirit."

St. Paul by Pope Benedict XVI is about Saul of Tarsus who vigorously persecuted the Christians and even saw to the death of St. Stephen, the first Christian martyr. This book was written during the Pauline year dedicated to Saint Peter and Paul starting on their feast day of June 30, 2008, and ending on the same feast day in 2009. Pope St. Benedict XVI gives a total twenty catechesis focusing on the Apostle Saint Paul. Here are just a few of his catechesis: looking at the environment in which Paul lived and worked, his life before Damascus, his relationship with the historical Jesus, importance of pre-existence, the Incarnation, theology of the Cross, Resurrection, the expectation of the Parousia (the return of Jesus) and finally his death.

Pope Benedict XVI, only one of the greatest spiritual teachers, explores the legacy of Paul as he follows his missionary journeys, his relationship with the other apostles of Jesus and his martyrdom in Rome. Benedict also examines such questions as: What are we to make of Paul's teaching about the end of the world?; What does Paul's teaching say about the difference between Catholic and Protestant Christians regarding salvation and the roles of faith and works in the Christian life?; and what does Paul have to say today about living a spiritual life? The Christian Paul, after the event that took place on the road to Damascus, owes its basic impact to faith in Jesus Christ and the figure of the Risen One. It changed his life, the church, and the world.

Paul never had the opportunity to meet Jesus during his public life. After being blinded, he consulted with Peter and stayed with him for fifteen days. For Paul, Jesus' words at the Last Supper are truly the center of the Church's life. The church is built on this center, becoming herself. In his letters to the Corinthians, Paul tells them, "For I delivered to you as of first importance what I also received, that Christ died for our sins, in accordance with the scriptures and that he appeared to Cephas and then to the Twelve." Paul also says the following in Corinthians, "For our sake He made Him to be sin, so that in Him we might become the righteous of God." "You know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for our sake he became poor, so that in his poverty you might become rich." Paul became the "Apostle to the Gentiles and the Teacher of Nations."

The feast of St. Peter and St. Paul is June 29
