Thinking Out Loud

Last week, from the pulpit, I mentioned that two of our schools celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their foundation. Sacred Heart School, in Rockaway, celebrated a Mass with our Bishop Serratelli at 10 am, and St. Gerard's, in nearby Paterson, celebrated Mass at 6 pm with the Bishop also presiding.

Both celebrations were beautiful, well attended, and joyful. God is present in both schools, in their faculty and students, and it is wonderful that children can acknowledge the reality of God and His presence in their lives in both institutions.

Both schools were built in 1965, and that seems to have been the heyday of expansion for our Catholic institutions, schools, colleges, hospitals, etc. Those were exciting days, and my memory tells me that there was a mindset that Catholics in this country had finally arrived. For so long, Catholics had been treated as second-class citizens, but with John Kennedy being elected, there was this sense that we were as good as anyone else.

We had record numbers of young men entering the seminary and young women, almost too many to count, entering the convent.

As things evolved, John Kennedy and the Kennedy family were far more human than most of us ever suspected, and the days of remarkable numbers of men and women serving the Church in religious life did not continue as we had hoped.

Today, it is more common for a Catholic school to be closing. In most cases, unfortunately, the only schools that are thriving are in upper class areas.

A few weeks ago, I celebrated Holy Mass for the Sisters who taught me in first grade. They were a community that had schools throughout Staten Island and even one in Manhattan. While their numbers once were one hundred or more, they are now down to eleven, and the average age has to be eighty or so.

St. Theresa once wrote, "God alone is changeless," and she knew what she was writing about. Everything changes, and we would do well to keep this Saint's wisdom and insight with us as we go through each day.

Bringing that thought close to home, we think and pray for Monsignor Patrick Brown who helps us here at St. James in so many ways. One day he is in St. Patrick's Cathedral, listening to our Holy Father speak during a vespers service; two weeks later, he is told he has cancer in both lungs. The following week, a tumor in the brain is discovered, and the latest concern is that he might have suffered a stroke(s). Talk about having your world turned up-side down in a very short time.

The doctors are the best, and they are optimistic. Monsignor has a great attitude, and he keeps moving forward as he has always done. Prayers, many prayers, are needed that Monsignor Brown be restored to good health. All of us need to remember that our health should never be taken for granted.

An unfortunate situation occurred resulting in some bad news for us to report about our neighboring parish, Our Lady of Holy Angels, Little Falls. Two Sundays ago, the church was broken into for the third time in seven years. What was stolen was of little monetary value, but that the sacred was violated is most serious.

My hunch is that the vandals were not from this area. Little Falls, like Totowa, is a very nice town. Those who cause havoc are usually not from the area into which they impose themselves.

Measures are now being taken to secure Our Lady of Holy Angels Church from such further incidents. It is unfortunate, however, that such precautions must be taken, as it is consoling to so many to make a visit to the Blessed Sacrament in the course of one's day.

Our Church is open from before the morning Mass until around 6 pm. We are going to have to look at our situation to see if we might need to tighten things up, in order to prevent an incident like the one that happened at Our Lady of Holy Angels from happening here. Any suggestions, please call me at the Parish House.

While I am concerned about the well-being of this Church and its property, I have greater concern about the safety of the many visitors who come to our Church in the course of a day to pray.

It almost feels as if nothing is sacred these days, and that is not a good feeling.

Please keep Monsignor Brown and all others who are in need of healing in your prayers.

Father Patrick

ACADEMY OF ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISI SCHOOL NEWS October 24 / 25, 2015

We welcome two new teachers to the Academy! Mrs. Barton will assume the 6th grade position beginning October 28. Mrs. Barton has recently moved here from Maryland, where she had been teaching in Catholic schools. She spent last week meeting the staff and students. Mrs. Barton has a master's degree in STEM education. I am sure that she will be bringing a great deal of exciting learning opportunities for our students.

Sister Bridget Harakal, a member of the Sisters of Christian Charity, has taken over the second grade as of Monday, October 19. Sister Bridget had been working with Mrs. Bauman in our first grade class since the beginning of the school year and is well versed in our school and curriculum. We are very blessed to have her instructing the second grade during their year of First Penance and First Holy Communion.

Welcome to the Academy, Mrs. Barton and Sr. Bridget!
