The Conservation Of Ashes

When, for legitimate motives, cremation of the body has been chosen, the ashes of the faithful must be laid to rest in a sacred place, that is, in a cemetery or, in certain cases, in a church or an area, which has been set aside for this purpose, and so dedicated by the competent ecclesial authority. From the earliest times, Christians have desired that the faithful departed become the objects of the Christian community's prayers and remembrance. Their tombs have become places of prayer, remembrance and reflection. The faithful departed remain part of the Church who believes "in the communion of all the faithful of Christ, those who are pilgrims on earth, the dead who are being purified, and the blessed in heaven, all together forming one Church".<sup>15</sup>

The reservation of the ashes of the departed in a sacred place ensures that they are not excluded from the prayers and remembrance of their family or the Christian community. It prevents the faithful departed from being forgotten, or their remains from being shown a lack of respect, which eventuality is possible, most especially once the immediately subsequent generation has too passed away. Also it prevents any unfitting or superstitious practices.

For the reasons given above, the conservation of the ashes of the departed in a domestic residence is not permitted. Only in grave and exceptional cases dependent on cultural conditions of a localized nature, may the Ordinary, in agreement with the Episcopal Conference or the Synod of Bishops of the Oriental Churches, concede permission for the conservation of the ashes of the departed in a domestic residence. Nonetheless, the ashes may not be divided among various family members and due respect must be maintained regarding the circumstances of such a conservation.

Join in Praying 54 Day Rosary Novena for Our Nation: August 15 – October 7

Fr. Richard Heilman

Today, we see so many souls who have not only dismissed God, but are even militating against Him. The most stark image of this are the pro-Marxist, anti-American and anti-God violent rioters in the streets. But, America has been drifting away from God for decades. We need to pray for the conversion of the United States of America. We need to pray for our loved ones, our neighbors, and even the rioters in the streets and the corrupt politicians and religious leaders.

According to St. Louis de Montfort, "When people say the Rosary together, it is far more formidable to the devil, than one said privately. Because in this public prayer, it is an army that is attacking him. He can often overcome the prayer of an individual, but if this prayer is joined to other Christians, the devil has much more trouble in getting the best of it."

We are calling all believing Catholics to join in this powerful campaign of spiritual warfare, entitled, 54 Day Rosary Novena for Our Nation (beginning August 15, the Solemnity of the Assumption of the BVM until October 7, the Feast of Our Lady of the Rosary). Raymond Cardinal Burke has joined in calling us all to get in the fight: "There is no question that we are living in the most troubled times. Fundamental truths about human life about marriage and the family and about the conscience are being called into question by threatening the lives of individuals and of our society. But we are full of courage because we know that our Lord is with us. He's called us to be His soldiers on the ground, working with Him for the salvation of the world."

Apple, Google, Amazon, Walmart back BLM cause with multi-million dollar donations

Corporate America has largely embraced the Black Lives Matter movement with public endorsements and massive donations

July 22, 2020 (LifeSiteNews) – The far-left Black Lives Matter (BLM) movement has risen to unprecedented levels of mainstream acceptance over the past few months, thanks in no small part to the overwhelming number of endorsements, at times accompanied by significant donations it has received from major brands and corporations.

Brands endorsing BLM include: Viacom, Warner Bros, Netflix, Hulu, HBO, NFL, NBA, Facebook, Google, Apple, Microsoft, Amazon, Kroger, Walmart, Target, Home Depot, Gap, Levi's, Warby Parker, Nike, Chick-fil-A, McDonald's, Wendy's, Taco Bell, Starbucks, Coca-Cola, UnitedHealth Group, Peloton

The above are just a few of the leading names in entertainment, sports, technology, retail, food, apparel, and more to either endorse BLM by name or issue statements endorsing the group's central narrative that "systemic racism" permeates American institutions.

Many of those companies have also pledged millions of dollars in donations to left-wing organizations such as the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, as well as to BLM itself, in the name of promoting racial equality and "reforming" law enforcement.

How many of these overtures to BLM reflect the aforementioned companies' true values remains an open question, however. While corporations often adopt viewpoints for public-relations purposes, and companies such as Apple and Google are run by liberal ideologues naturally aligned with BLM, this latest wave of support coincides with a nationwide wave of violence and intimidation from pro-BLM protesters.

While popularly framed in the media as simply a movement to promote racial equality and end police brutality, BLM declares among its official goals "disrupt(ng) the Western-prescribed nuclear family structure requirement by supporting each other as extended families and 'villages' that collectively care for one another"; and fostering "a queer-affirming network ... with the intention of freeing ourselves from the tight grip of heteronormative thinking."

It also officially reports "reproductive justice," a euphemism for abortion. An estimated 40 percent of all U.S. abortions are sought by black women, meaning that Black Lives Matter supports the annual elimination of more than 344,800 black lives every year.

As for the claims that ignited this latest wave of BLM fervor, the Minnesota killing of George Floyd was instantly and unanimously condemned, and the police officers involved have been charged with murder. As to BLM's broader claim of "systemic racism" in law enforcement, research actually shows that police are not disproportionately likely to use excessive lethal force against black suspects, but may in fact be less likely due to fear of racism claims.
