Solemnity of the Assumption of Our Lady, Body and Soul, into Heaven Friday, August 15, Holy Day of Obligation

Some Things to Know about the Assumption of Mary into Heaven

- What is the Assumption of Mary? The Assumption of Mary is the teaching that: “The Immaculate Mother of God, the ever Virgin Mary, having completed the course of her earthly life, was assumed body and soul into heavenly glory.” [Pius XII, Bull Munificentissimus Deus 44].

- What level of authority does this teaching have? This teaching was infallibly defined by Pope Pius XII on Nov. 1, 1950 in the bull Munificentissimus Deus (Latin, “Most Bountiful God”). As Pius XII explained, this is “a divinely revealed dogma” which means it is a dogma in the proper sense. Thus it is a matter of faith that has been divinely revealed by God and that has been infallibly taught by the Magisterium of the Church as such.

- Does the dogma require us to believe that Mary died? Although the weight of Tradition (Popes, Saints) holds that Mary did in fact die, and although her death is referred to in some sources Pius XII cited in his Bull Munificentissimus Deus, he deliberately refrained from defining this as a truth of the faith. The Bull merely says, “at the end of her earthly life” Mary’s body was taken into heavenly glory, declaring it a “divinely revealed dogma.”

- Why should Mary die if she was free from Original Sin and its stain? Being free of Original Sin and its stain is not the same thing as being in a glorified, deathless condition. Jesus was also free of Original Sin and its stain, but he could—and did—die. With Mary, because of her freedom from Original Sin and from personal sin, her death was not a consequence of punishment of sin. However, it seems fitting that Mary’s body, which was by nature mortal, should be, in conformity with that of her Divine Son, subject to the general law of death.

- What are the earliest surviving references to Mary’s Assumption? Apocryphal (i.e., non-biblical) accounts called Transitus Mariae [“The Crossing Over of Mary”], whose origin dates to the second and third centuries.

- What Scriptural basis is there for the teaching? John Paul II noted: “Although the New Testament does not explicitly affirm Mary’s Assumption, it offers a basis for it because it strongly emphasized the Blessed Virgin’s perfect union with Jesus’ destiny. This union, which is manifested, from the time of the Savior’s miraculous conception, in the Mother’s participation in her Son’s mission and especially in her association with His redemptive Sacrifice, cannot fail to require a continuation after death. Perfectly united with the life and saving work of Jesus, Mary shares His heavenly destiny in body and soul.”

- What are some specific Old Testament passages? In his Bull Pope Pius XII points to several passages: “Arise, O Lord, into your resting place: you and the ark, which you have sanctified” (Ps. 131:8); saints have looked upon the Ark of the Covenant, built of incorruptible wood and placed in the Lord’s temple, as a type or foreshadowing of the most pure body of the Virgin Mary, preserved and exempt from all the corruption of the tomb and raised up to such glory in heaven. They also describe her as the “Queen entering triumphantly into the royal halls of heaven and sitting at the right hand of the divine Redeemer” (Ps. 44:10-14ff).

- What are some specific New Testament passages? Pius XII continues: “Moreover, the scholastic Doctors have recognized the Assumption of the Virgin Mother of God as something signified, not only in various figures of the Old Testament, but also in that woman clothed with the sun whom John the Apostle contemplated on the Island of Patmos (Rev. 12:1ff). Similarly they have given special attention to these words of the New Testament: “Hail, full of grace, the Lord is with you, blessed are you among women” (Luke 1:28), since “they saw, in the mystery of the Assumption, the fulfillment of that most perfect grace granted to the Blessed Virgin and the special blessing that countered the curse of Eve” [Munificentissimus Deus 27].

- How can we apply this teaching to our everyday lives? According to Pope Benedict XVI: “By contemplating Mary in heavenly glory, we understand that the earth is not the definitive homeland for us either, and that if we live with our gaze fixed on eternal goods we will one day share in this same glory. Consequently, we must not lose our serenity and peace even amid the thousands of daily difficulties. The luminous sign of Our Lady taken up into Heaven shines out even more brightly when sad shadows of suffering and violence seem to loom on the horizon.” (General Audience, Aug. 6, 2006)
