TWENTY-SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
“MY SOUL IS THIRSTING FOR YOU, O LORD MY GOD”

We celebrate the Twenty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time. The Lord teaches his disciples the most important truths about his ministry. The purpose of the Incarnation of the Son of God, his taking on our human flesh and blood is salvific. The Lord Jesus Christ will vanquish sin and death by fashioning healing through mortality itself. Having conquered death it is no power to keep humanity from eternal life. Embraced by the healing love of the Good Shepherd, we must live the life that he does in order to receive that gift ourselves. The disciples must grapple this truth as we do. The redemption that the Son of God brings to us requires his free embrace of suffering and death itself. Those who seek to divide Jesus from the heavy burden of his ministry are doing the work of division that belongs to the devil. Of course, the disciples of Jesus will follow in the same path that he does.

Our reading from the Old Testament provides an example of just how ancient is the struggle of humanity to accept and carry out God's will. Even as God is ever faithful, Jeremiah the Prophet will waver. Jeremiah's words in the opening line of our first reading are jarring, "You duped me, O LORD, and I let myself be duped" (Jeremiah 20:7). The prophet's words almost leap off the page in expressing unhappiness. Jeremiah has been having a very difficult time of it and he places the blame for the calamities that have befallen him directly on God. Jeremiah has had very difficult news to the powers in Israel that this chosen vessel of God, his chosen people, will fall to foreign powers. Jeremiah is reviled by several groups who band together to do away with him. No matter how powerful the forces of the day were, they will not prevail over Jeremiah.

The price of Jeremiah's faithfulness to the Lord has been physical violence and degradation by others. Despite the difficulties that vex him, Jeremiah cannot give up his mission. Jeremiah knows the longing for peace of heart that can only be experienced in carrying out the plans that God has for him. It takes confidence in the power of God's grace to remain courageous in the face of the obstacles that come our way.

Therefore, Jeremiah proclaims the truth that his heart knows, "I say to myself, I will not mention him, I will speak in his name no more. But then it becomes like fire burning in my heart, imprisoned in my bones; I grow weary holding it in, I cannot endure it" (20:8). Even in his weariness, Jeremiah finds power in the consoling word of God. Our response to the psalm this Sunday sums up Jeremiah's feelings at this juncture in his ministry, "My soul is thirsting for you, O Lord my God." Jeremiah seeks the reassurance that only God can give.

In our second reading, Saint Paul too takes up the theme of remaining confidently in power of God's grace even when we feel uncertain about what the future holds. Saint Paul encourages us to remain faithful in making our lives a gift to God even when God's purposes seem opaque or not in keeping with what we want for ourselves. According to Paul, "I urge you, brothers and sisters, by the mercies of God, to offer your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and pleasing to God, your spiritual worship" (Romans 12:1). The offering of our energy and time for God's purposes requires the disposition of hearts being informed and led by the power of the Holy Spirit.

The Apostle continues to strengthen us for mission by the strength of his personal resolve and the power of his words "Do not conform yourselves to this age but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and pleasing and perfect" (12:2). This exhortation is a caution not to accept every passing notion as being motivated by God's purposes. A period of discontent is not unusual in our life experience. The scriptures often encourage us to remember that God's ways are not our ways and that his plans have a much longer view than our own. Almighty God does not keep a human scorecard. Rather God looks to the heart and fills our hearts with the power of his grace so that we are able to respond to life's challenges with faith.

In last week's gospel, Peter's singular insight regarding Jesus, "You are the Christ, the Son of the Living God" (Matthew 16:16), leads to Jesus declaring him the rock upon which he would build his Church. Now just a few verses later in Matthew's gospel, Peter has lost the thread of the meaning of his role. The mission that Peter received at Caesarea Philippi requires the firmness of rock. But Peter is about to forget that the Lord who gave him the mission will also direct Peter to follow – not his own inclinations – but those of the Lord Jesus.

As Jesus opens the disciples to the truth of his coming passion and death, Peter recoils from such an idea, "God forbid, Lord! No such thing shall ever happen to you" (Matthew 16:22). Because Peter wants to preserve Jesus from pain and suffering, he unwittingly becomes an obstacle to God's purposes. Because Peter is standing in the way of Jesus' mission, he receives a very sharp rebuke from Jesus, "Get behind me, Satan! You are an obstacle to me. You are thinking not as God does, but as human beings do" (16:23). In looking past the divine plan for redemption that Jesus has just revealed, Peter ends up being out of line with God's purposes, in fact, with the entire salvific mission of Jesus.

Despite Peter's misstep, which was apparently unwitting, Jesus does not give up on Peter and the other disciples. Rather, Jesus provides them with a rule of life for their own actions. Jesus challenges the disciples to see life as he does. Thus Jesus tells his disciples, "Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me. For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will find it. What profit would there be for one to gain the whole world and forfeit his life?" (16:24-26). Jesus points to the self-giving and vision that is at the heart of his ministry.

The Lord Jesus challenges us not to accept a surface read of the most important realities. Our faith provides us to make God's will our priority and purpose. At the conclusion of this week's gospel, Jesus reminds the disciples of this, "Or what can one give in exchange for his life? For the Son of Man will come with his angels in his Father's glory, and then he will repay all according to his conduct" (16:28). God gives us life in this world as pure gift. When we do our best to clarify our vision and keep our hearts open to the love of Christ, we are more likely to know the fullness of joy from our relationship with him in this world and eternal life with him in the next.

SECOND COLLECTION THIS WEEK MISSIONARY COOPERATIVE COLLECTION

Thank you for your generosity in the Second Collection last week taken for the Diocesan Missionary Cooperative that is sponsored by the Diocese of Paterson. All of the parishes of the Diocese of Paterson participate in the Missionary Cooperative so that we participate in supporting the work of preaching the gospel throughout the world. Thank you for your generosity in supporting missionaries, heralds of the gospel, and all of the good work that they do for so many.
