Fourteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time July 3, 2016

Last Wednesday, June 29th, we celebrated the feast day of Saints Peter and Paul which is a major holy day in the City of Rome. It is really a holiday and the entire city closes down to celebrate these two men who are father figures to this ancient and venerable city.

There is a legend that the City of Rome was founded by the brothers Romulus and Remus who legend says, were raised by wolves. Peter and Paul came to be called the new founders of Rome. On this great day every year Rome celebrates its own wondrous city and all its treasures. We too who are Roman Catholic celebrate this great day and these two Apostles who were faithful champions of Holy Mother Church. I was ordained a deacon in 1991 at St. Philip's Church in Clifton on this great feast day and so this day is a special one for me too.

In celebrating the lives of these two strong characters, it's important to remember that Jesus Christ changed their lives and despite their own unworthiness, challenged them to take on great positions of authority in the early Christian community.

Jesus Himself gave Peter his name which means "rock." Christ told Peter that the new Church would be built on his foundation. Peter loved and followed Jesus with every fiber of his body and yet during the time when Jesus was arrested and crucified Peter denied his relationship with Jesus three times. We all know that Peter was a fisherman and probably owned a fleet of fishing boats. He was married and believe he had a family but upon the behest of Jesus, Peter left all and followed Christ. In the years between Jesus' baptism and crucifixion, Peter learned from Jesus how to use his gifts and be the leader God called him to be. It's good for us to remember however that Peter did make some mistakes. We know the time he jumped into the lake when Jesus was walking across the water. Peter began to drown and he began to doubt. When we're afraid, when we doubt, when we're unsure, let us remember that the same Christ who understood Peter's vulnerability understands our vulnerability too. The Apostles recognized Peter as their leader. On Pentecost morning he preached a bold sermon and performed the first miracle of healing in the name of Jesus. He came to understand that the Gospel message was not just for Jews like himself but for all people of every ethnic and religious background. Finally he made his way to Rome, the center of the empire. He was martyred in the name of Emperor Nero in the year 64. According to legend he asked to be crucified upside down as he did not feel worthy to be crucified the same way Jesus was.

Paul began his life as Saul. He persecuted Christians with determination and was greatly feared by the early Christian community. Jesus appeared to him in a vision with a question "Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?" Paul converted, became Christian and spent the rest of his life preaching the Good News. He had a bright mind with a good education and was well equipped for leadership because he had studied to be a rabbi. Paul made four missionary journeys crisscrossing the Mediterranean Sea. Wherever Paul went he left behind small functioning Christian communities. He too was martyred under the authority of Nero in the year 67.

As we celebrate July 4th we call to mind the need to emulate St. Peter and St. Paul. It's much more difficult now to be a practicing Catholic then it was in the past. Sports can take over our lives and how many people are apprehensive to speak about God or talk about our Catholic faith in public? Let's call on the intercession of these two saints to give us the courage and strength to be the strong disciple God calls us to be.

Fr. Matthew and I wish you a wonderful and safe Independence Day!

Father Owen

NEWS FROM ROME

I really should change the name of my column to News from Greece now that I have safely arrived in Mytilene on the island of Lesbos. First I want to describe the amazing experience that is the country of Montenegro. This country although small, is filled with natural wonder from gorgeous mountain tops to valleys with rapids flowing through them. You finally think that you understand the country, but then you find a vast plains before finally arriving at the coast with gorgeous beaches and warm water. What was truly lovely was the Bay of Benedictine Abbey that dates back to the 9th century and a newer Catholic Church built on a man made island. Both of these are only accessible by little boats, although you could try to swim there.

I finally went to Dubrovnik, which for anyone who watches Game of Thrones, is the location of the real King's Landing. They were also filming a History Channel show and just finished filming some scenes for the new Star Wars. It was also the site of an attempt by Croations, with the help of the Americans, to fight off and survive being trapped within the city for over a year. My guide told me stories about how the Serbian forces cut off running water to the city making it necessary to walk to the sea to get water for cooking which caused resentment by the Croations towards the Serbians, but it seems like there is now a desire to move forward. I hope to write more about my time in Greece next week, as I have just arrived; please keep me in your prayers, but also the over 60,000 refugees who are stuck in Greece waiting to find a place they can call home. God Bless, Alex

The sacristy on the Isle of Lesbos, Greece where Alex will live for the next 4 weeks.

On Saturday June 18th, Fr Owen celebrated the sacrament of marriage for Jaclyn Cuppari, daughter of parishioners Dr. and Mrs. Anthony and Edie Cuppari, to bridegroom Michael Riccardi. God bless the happy Newlyweds
