Eighth Day

REMEMBER, O Saint Anne, † thou whose name signifieth grace and mercy † that never was it known † that anyone who fled to thy protection, † implored thy help † and sought thy intercession, † was left unaided. † Inspired with this confidence, † I fly unto thee, good and kind mother; † I take refuge at thy feet † and sinful as I am, † I venture to appear before thee, † groaning under the weight of my sins. † O holy Mother of the Immaculate Virgin Mary, † despise not my petitions † but hear me and grant my prayer. Amen.

Practice: Holiness is the highest gift to which a creature can aspire. With the aid of divine grace you can obtain it. God even commands you to strive for it with all your might: for that reason are you a Christian. Make the resolution to do everything in your power to win that treasure. There have been Saints in all conditions of life; why cannot you, with the help of God, do what they have done?
