5th Sunday of Lent

At 11:30 Mass this weekend we will be celebrating the third scrutiny for the twenty Elect who will enter the church at Easter Vigil. They will hear the Cycle A reading for this Fifth Sunday of Lent. Of all the miracles Jesus did, the raising of Lazarus ranks as the most astonishing to the people of his time. Traditional Jewish belief had it that the soul of a dead person somehow remains with the body for three days. After three days the soul departs finally from the body never to return, and that is when corruption sets in. When Martha objects to the opening of the tomb and says, "Lord, already there is a stench because he has been dead four days" (John 11:39), she is expressing the common view that this is now a hopeless situation. Is that why Jesus delayed coming to the funeral, to let the situation become "impossible" before acting on it? G.K. Chesterton once said, "Hope means hoping when things are hopeless, or it is no virtue at all." In traditional Jewish mentality bringing back to life a person who is already four days dead and decaying is as unthinkable as the prophet Ezekiel's vision in which the grey, dry bones of the dead are miraculously restored to life.

For the early Christians the story of the raising of Lazarus was more than a pointer to the resurrection of Jesus. Jesus rose on the third day; his body never saw corruption. For them this miracle is a challenge to never give up hope even in the hopeless situations in which they found themselves as individuals, as a church or as a nation. It is never too late for God to revive and revitalize a person, a church or a nation. But first we must learn to cooperate with God.

How can we cooperate with God so as to experience God's resurrection power in our lives and in our world? Well, everyone knows the answer already: faith. But that is not the point that John makes in this story. In fact there is no one in the story, not even Mary or Martha, who believed that Jesus could bring Lazarus back to life after four days dead. No one expected him to do it, so expectant faith is not the emphasis here. Rather the emphasis in the story is placed on practical obedience and doing God's will.

To effect the miracle, Jesus issues three commands and all of them are obeyed to the letter. That is how the miracle happens. First, "Jesus said, 'Roll away the stone.' ... So they rolled away the stone" (verses 39-41). Did the people understand why they should roll away the tombstone to expose a stinking corpse? You bet they didn't. But it was their faith in Jesus expressing itself not through intellectual agreement with Jesus but through practical agreement with him, through obedience. All we know is that divine power seems always to be activated by human cooperation and stifled by non-cooperation. As C.S. Lewis said, "God seems to do nothing of Himself which He can possibly delegate to His creatures." God will not do by a miracle what we can do by obedience.

The second command Jesus gives is directed to the dead man: "Lazarus, come out!' and the dead man came out" (verses 43-44). We do not know the details of what transpired in the tomb. All we know is that Jesus' word of command is followed by immediate obedience. Lazarus gropes his way out of the dark tomb even with his hands and feet tied up in bandages, and his face all wrapped up. Even a man rotting away in the tomb can still do something to help himself.

The third command is addressed to the people, "Unbind him, and let him go" (verse 44). Even though Lazarus could stumble himself out of the tomb, there was no way he could unbind himself. He needs the community to do that for him. By unbinding Lazarus and setting him free from the death bands the community is accepting Lazarus back as one of them.

Jesus is always ready for the miracle. He said, "I came that they may have life, and have it abundantly" (John 10:10). Are we ready to cooperate with him for the miracle? Are we ready to roll away the stone that stands between us and the light of Christ's face? Are we ready to take the first step to come out of the place of death? Are we ready to unbind (i.e. forgive) one another and go free? These are the various ways we cooperate with God in the miracle of bringing us back to life and reviving us as individuals, as a church and a nation.

I am so grateful for your prayers, messages and warm wishes for my birthday. I am also so grateful to God for giving me wonderful friends like you.

May God bless you all and thank you!

HOUSTON CHAMBER CHOIR

Mozart's rarely heard 'Messiah' adaptation going to Prince of Peace

Friday, March 27, 7:30 p.m., Prince of Peace Main Church

Mozart greatly admired Handel's Messiah and when asked in 1788 to perform it he happily agreed - that is, of course, after he'd given it a thorough updating. The Houston Chamber Choir performance is a rare chance to hear this masterpiece as re-orchestrated by Mozart, complete with all the instruments then considered standard for a classical symphony: trombones. Mozart's horns. and favorite instrument, the clarinet. What a team Handel and Mozart make! Handel's original intention remains unchanged. It will be performed in its entirety as an Easter reflection on the biblical depiction of the life, birth, death, resurrection, and ascension of Jesus Christ.

Admission is free. Call (713) 224-5566 or go to www.HoustonChamberChoir.org for more information or contact Matthew Caporale, POP, mcaporale@pophouston.org.
