The 33rd Sunday in Ordinary Time, Year C El 33º Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario, año c Gospel of St. Luke / El Evangelio de San Lucas November/Noviembre 13, 2022

From Deacon John...

Our Lord brings home the urgency of right priorities, reminding that, "All that you see here, the days will come when there will not be left a stone upon another stone that will not be thrown down." Our Lord reminds us too, that all in this world is passing. Yet before heaven, we should expect to be tried and tested. "Before all this happens, however, they will seize and persecute you." Sounds scary. But if you are living a stewardship way of life, there is nothing to fear. You have a plan in place. All you need to do is stick with it. Put our Lord first in your time, with your talents, and through your use of treasure.

Nuestro Señor trae a casa la urgencia de las prioridades correctas, recordando que, "Todo lo que ves aquí, vendrán días en que no quedará piedra sobre piedra que no sea derribada". Nuestro Señor nos recuerda también que todo en este mundo es pasajero. Sin embargo, ante el cielo, debemos esperar ser probados y examinados. "Sin embargo, antes de que todo esto suceda, os agarrarán y os perseguirán". Suena aterrador. Pero si está viviendo un estilo de vida de mayordomía, no hay nada que temer. Tienes un plan en marcha. Todo lo que necesitas hacer es apegarte a él. Pon a nuestro Señor primero en tu tiempo, con tus talentos y mediante el uso de tu tesoro.

Background on the Gospel

In the context of Luke, today's Gospel appears near the end of Jesus' teaching in Jerusalem, just prior to the events that will lead to his crucifixion. His warnings and predictions are ominous but can be read in many ways.

To those who first heard Luke's Gospel, those may have been words of encouragement. The destruction of the Temple in Jerusalem by the Romans was history (70 A.D.); Luke's Gospel, Catholic scholars propose, was written between 80 and 90 A.D.

His audience was probably Gentile Christians. Luke here tries to interpret the fall of Jerusalem for them and to locate it in God's plans for humankind (salvation history). At the same time, Luke is suggesting to his audience that there will be a considerable elapse of time before Jesus' final coming. Luke's listeners have likely seen much upheaval and are anxious to know if these are the signs of Jesus' coming.

Luke is urging greater patience. In the second part of today's Gospel, Jesus warns that his followers will face persecution for their beliefs. Luke presents persecution as an opportunity for the followers of Jesus for "It will lead to your giving testimony" (Luke 21:13). In persecution God's wisdom and power will be shown in the example of followers of Jesus. Perseverance in the face of persecution will lead to their salvation.

Here Jesus is assuring his followers that God is present to all believers, even in times of trouble. Ultimately, Jesus will witness to this with his own death. As disciples of Jesus, we try to follow his example, trusting in God's mercy and protection, even when we are facing difficulties.

Pope Francis' reflection on today's Gospel.

Jesus knows that there are always those who speculate about the human need for safety. For this reason, he says: "Take heed that you are not led astray", and guard against the many false Messiahs who will appear. Even today there are these! And, he adds, do not be frightened and bewildered by wars, revolutions, and disasters, since even these are part of the world's reality. The history of the Church is rich with examples of people who withstood tribulations and terrible suffering with serenity, because they were aware that they were firmly in God's hands. He is a faithful Father, an attentive Father, who does not abandon his children. We must have this certainty in our heart.

Remaining firm in the Lord, in this certainty that he does not abandon us, walking in hope, working to build a better world, despite the difficulties and sad circumstances which mark our personal and collective existence, is what really counts; it is how the Christian community is called to encounter the "day of the Lord".
