After a long time the master of those servants came back and settled accounts with them. The one who had received five talents came forward bringing the additional five. He said, "Master, you gave me five talents. See, I have made five more." His master said to him, "Well done, my good and faithful servant. Since you were faithful in small matters, I will give you great responsibilities. Come, share your master's joy."

From Deacon John...

We will each be called to account for the gifts God gives us, our physical, intellectual and material gifts and the gift of time itself. The master in today's parable gives each servant talents commensurate with their ability. The first two put the talents entrusted to them to use. The third reacted to this responsibility with fear, choosing the easy way out. He failed to see what a privilege he had been given. The master wanted to give his servants the joy and satisfaction of helping him grow his kingdom. This is what our Father wants for us, the incredible privilege of helping to advance the Kingdom of God. May we then hear "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Cada uno de nosotros seremos llamados a rendir cuentas de los dones que Dios nos da, nuestros dones físicos, intelectuales y materiales y el don del tiempo mismo. El amo de la parábola de hoy da a cada siervo talentos acordes a su capacidad. Los dos primeros pusieron en práctica los talentos que se les habían confiado. El tercero reaccionó ante esta responsabilidad con miedo, eligiendo la salida más fácil. No se dio cuenta del privilegio que se le había concedido. El amo quería darles a sus sirvientes la alegría y la satisfacción de ayudarlo a hacer crecer su reino. Esto es lo que nuestro Padre Celestial quiere para nosotros, el increíble privilegio de ayudar a hacer avanzar el Reino de Dios. Ojalá entonces escuchemos: "Bien hecho, buen siervo y fiel".

Background on Today's Gospel

This week's Gospel speaks of how Jesus' disciples are to conduct themselves as they await the Kingdom of Heaven. In the preceding passages and in last week's Gospel, Jesus taught that there is no way to predict the coming of the Kingdom of Heaven. His disciples must, therefore, remain vigilant and ready to receive the Son of Man at any time.

Jesus' parable talks about Christian discipleship using economic metaphors. Before he leaves on a journey, the master entrusts to his servants a different number of talents, giving to each according to their abilities. A talent is a coin of great value. Upon the master's return, he finds that the first and second servants have doubled their money, and both are rewarded. The third servant, however, has only preserved what was given to him because he was afraid to lose the money. He has risked nothing; he did not even deposit the money in a bank to earn interest. This servant is punished by the master, and his talent is given to

Bishop McKnight's November prayer intention for our Local Church

For our family, friends and benefactors of our community who have passed from this world to the next; may they attain a share in eternal happiness through our Lord Jesus Christ risen from the dead.

Intención del mes de noviembre del Obispo McKnight por nuestra Iglesia Local Por nuestros familiares, amigos y bienhechores de nuestra comunidad que han pasado de este mundo al otro, para que puedan alcanzar una participación en la felicidad eterna por medio de nuestro Señor Jesucristo resucitado de entre los muertos.

the one who brought the greatest return. Read in light of last week's parable of the wise and foolish bridesmaids, this parable teaches that God's judgment will be based on the service we render to God and to one another in accordance with the gifts that God has given to us. Our gifts, or talents, are given to us for the service of others. If we fail to use these gifts, God's judgment on us will be severe. On the other hand, if we make use of these gifts in service to the Kingdom of Heaven, we will be rewarded and entrusted with even more responsibilities.

This Gospel reminds us that Christian spirituality is not passive or inactive. Our life of prayer helps us to discern the gifts that have been given to us by God. This prayer and discernment ought to lead us to use our gifts in the service of God and our neighbor. God's grace allows us to share in the work of serving the Kingdom of Heaven.

Remember your personal commitment to return to God, the Father, of a minimum of one hour of worship, prayer, service and wage each week.
