PASTOR'S LETTER

The Two Ways

In the bible, every now and then (like on this Sunday), we'll hear images about two kinds of trees or bushes. One is healthy and full of life, having everything it needs to grow and prosper. The other isn't so healthy. Its roots have dried. Its branches are brittle and break. It has withered.

It's a metaphor for the spiritual life. A life with God—based in prayer, centered on God's word, incorporated within to live it fully—helps us to grow. Even in the midst of very difficult life situations, we have the source of life that pulls us through. Our decisions are anchored in the truth about human life that comes from God. The root of our faith keeps us standing.

When we remove God from our everyday world, what we say and do will reflect it. The thinking goes, "I can take care of things on my own." But when we allow the root of faith to wither, we can be at a loss when things in our life begin to fall apart. God simply wants to be our companion in life, someone we can turn to. If we don't turn to him, when things are going great or we are going through a rough time, then we've lost the source of nourishment that helps sustain us. The Eucharist is like air or water that gives us life.

What it boils down to is a choice of ways—one with God, the other without. Created in his likeness, God gave us the gift of free will. God lets us choose.

We'll hear this message in a strong way today. We'll sing about it in the psalm. We'll hear the prophet Jeremiah talk about it as well as Paul and Jesus. Of course, they're all biased. They're going to strongly urge us to see the incredible gift faith in God brings us, because they've experienced it fully and want us to experience it, too.

Having God in life—in the ups and downs—is a blessing that allows us to keep growing. The closer we are to God, the stronger we become. The tree prospers.

We Did It Together!

Bishop Rojas was here last weekend to affirm and thank altar servers from 12 area parishes, including St. Hubert. I'm very grateful to everyone who pitched in to make this moment a meaningful one: Pat Aschom, Carol Blotteux, Deacon Steve Baldasti, Seminarian Ryan Brady, Ed Magistrado and the children's choir, Tom Binder, all our funeral luncheon ministers and Teaching Parish Committee members who helped make the Pizza Party reception very special, and to everyone in the community who brought in cookies and treats to help our guests enjoy a nice finish to the meal.

What continues to amaze me is the generous ways our community pulls together to make a faith-centered event a meaningful one. St. Hubert is known as a place to gather and a center of generosity, hospitality, and warmth. Everyone who was there that day felt it very much. Let's continue to pray for one another.

—Fr. Mike

Nearly 100 altar servers from 12 parishes were thanked by Bishop Rojas last Sunday, some are pictured here. A special guest was Fr. Matt Alexander, a St. Hubert School graduate and now an Assistant Vocation Director for the Archdiocese of Chicago.

convened by the delay, or demanding too much from others, or demanding so much of ourselves that we have no energy or time for the Lord and for the people around us.

Whenever we contribute to the miseries of others, we work against Christ.

What happens to those who continually and unrepentantly set themselves against the Lord? Oh woe! Blessed are those whose hope is in the Lord (as the Jesus makes it clear that he sides with the downtrodden in this Sunday's Gospel reading: the poor (this could be spiritually or materially), the hungry (again, spiritually or physically; the Lord cares about all who feel empty), the weeping, the hated, the excluded, the insulted, and those who are denounced on account of their faith in him.

Whenever we contribute to someone's miseries, we are setting ourselves up against God. Bad-mouthing people, even when the complaint is justified, is working against Jesus instead of with him.

So is telling demeaning jokes, filing lawsuits that exceed fair justice, or failing to help anyone who comes to our attention and is in need of what we could share.

So is deliberately intimidating an employee or spouse, or being consistently late and causing others to be inconvenienced by the delay, first reading and Psalm remind us), but woe inevitably comes upon those whose only hope is human frailty.

The wealthy cannot take their possessions to heaven nor can they buy their way into heaven. Meanwhile, the Lord sides with those who suffer because this wealth had not been shared with them.

Similarly, those who laugh at the ones who cry will not laugh long, for joy at the expense of another is only temporary and never truly satisfying.

The favored and famous who currently receive accolades will be criticized the moment their backs are turned.

The downtrodden are uplifted by Jesus, but those who lift themselves up don't have enough strength to carry their burdens very well -- they are miserable even while they smile.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. In what ways do you feel downtrodden?
2. What is Jesus saying to you about this? How is he holding you? In prayer, imagine his awesome concern for you. It is real!
3. When you've felt downtrodden, how did you discover that Jesus truly cares about you?
4. What blessings come from knowing that Jesus is on your side?

In his autobiography, Morris West suggests that at a certain age our lives simplify and we need have only three phrases left in our spiritual vocabulary: Thank you! Thank you! Thank you! He is right, if we understand fully what is implied in living out gratitude. Gratitude is the ultimate virtue, undergirding everything else, even love. It is synonymous with holiness.

Gratitude not only defines sanctity, it also defines maturity. We are mature to the degree that we are grateful. But what brings us there? What makes for a deeper human maturity? I would like to suggest ten major demands that reside inside both human and Christian maturity:

1. Be willing to carry more and more of life's complexities with empathy: Few things in life, including our own hearts and motives, are black or white, either-or, simply good or simply bad. Maturity invites us to see, understand, and accept this complexity with empathy so that, like Jesus, we cry tears of understanding over our own troubled cities and our own complex hearts.
2. Transform jealousy, anger, bitterness, and hatred rather than give them back in kind: Any pain or tension that we do not transform we will retransmit. In the face of jealousy, anger, bitterness, and hatred we must be like water purifiers, holding the poisons and toxins inside of us and giving back just the pure water, rather than being like electrical cords that simply pass on the energy that flows through them.
3. Let suffering soften rather than harden our souls: Suffering and humiliation find us all, in full measure, but how we respond to them, with forgiveness or bitterness, will determine the level of our maturity and the color of our person. This is perhaps our ultimate moral test: Will my humiliations soften or harden my soul?
4. Forgive: In the end there is only one condition for entering heaven (and living inside human community), namely, forgiveness. Perhaps the greatest struggle we have in the second-half of our lives is to forgive: forgive those who have hurt us, forgive ourselves for our own shortcomings, and forgive God for seemingly hanging us out unfairly to dry in this world. The greatest moral imperative of all is not to die with a bitter, unforgiving heart.
5. Live in gratitude: To be a saint is to be fueled by gratitude, nothing more and nothing less. Let no one deceive you with the notion that a passion for truth, for church, or even for God can trump or bracket the non-negotiable imperative to be gracious always. Holiness is gratitude. Outside of gratitude we find ourselves doing many of the right things for the wrong reasons.

6. Bless more and curse less: We are mature when we define ourselves by what we are for rather than by what we are against and especially when, like Jesus, we are looking out at others and seeing them as blessed ("Blessed are you!") rather than as cursed ("Who do you think you are!"). The capacity to praise more than to criticize defines maturity.

7. Live in an ever-greater transparency and honesty: We are as sick as our sickest secret, but we are also as healthy as we are honest. We need, as Martin Luther once put it, "to sin bravely and honestly". Maturity does not mean that we are perfect or faultless, but that we are honest.

8. Pray both affectively and liturgically: The fuel we need to resource ourselves for gratitude and forgiveness does not lie in the strength of our own willpower, but in grace and community. We access that through prayer. We are mature to the degree that we open our own helplessness and invite in God's strength and to the degree that we pray with others that the whole world will do the same thing.

9. Become ever-wider in your embrace: We grow in maturity to the degree that we define family (Who is my brother or sister?) in way that is ever-more ecumenical, interfaith, post-ideological, and non-discriminatory. We are mature only when we are compassionate as God is compassionate, namely, when our sun too shines those we like and those we do not. There comes a time when it is time to turn in our cherished moral placards for a basin and a towel.

10. Stand where you stand and let God protect you: In the end, we are all vulnerable, contingent, and helpless both to protect our loved ones and ourselves. We cannot guarantee life, safety, salvation, or forgiveness for ourselves or for those we love. Maturity depends upon accepting this with trust rather than anxiety. We can only do our best, whatever our place in life, wherever we stand, whatever our limits, whatever our shortcoming, and trust that this is enough, that if we die at our post, honest, doing our duty, God will do the rest.

God is a prodigiously-loving, fully-understanding, completely-empathic parent. We are mature and free of false anxiety to the degree that we grasp that and trust that truth.

THOUGHTS FOR TEENS REGARDING HEALTHY FRIENDSHIPS/DATING

Domestic Violence. Dating Violence. The pattern is the same. Victims are both female and male.

Teenagers and their parents need to be aware of what dating violence can entail so they can make better decisions regarding their friendships and those they choose to date. Teens not knowing the dynamics of domestic violence can endanger their family members as well as themselves.

- A healthy relationship will never require you to sacrifice your friends, your dreams, or your dignity."
- "If you walked away from a toxic, negative, abusive, one-sided relationship or friendship-you won."
- Never forget that walking away from something unhealthy is brave."

Some Stats:

- ⇒ 1 in 3 teens experience some kind of abuse in their romantic relationships, including verbal and emotional abuse.
- ⇒ 40% of teenage girls, ages 14 to 17, know someone their age who has been hit or beaten by their partner.
- ⇒ Nearly 80% of girls who have been physically abused in their intimate relationships continue to date their abuser
- ⇒ 1 in 4 teenage girls who have been in relationships reveal they have been pressured to engage in intercourse or do other sexual things.

St. Hubert Catholic School

*A 2014 Blue Ribbon

As we recently celebrated Catholic Schools Week, we find we have many traditions that allow us to reflect on why Catholic Education is important to us. These words are spoken best by our very own students of Catholic Education. The following essay was written by an 8TH grade student of St. Hubert in reflection on what his education has meant to him.

Learn, Serve, Lead, Succeed by Evan G. 8th Grade

Going to Saint Hubert school has taught me how to learn because all my wonderful Faith teachers have taught me important lessons about Jesus. Learning about my Faith has helped me understand the meaning of faith and why we practice it. Learning at a Catholic school will help me in the future because it has inspired me to learn more about my faith and understand the Bible. I have truly learned how to be a true Catholic and a follower of Jesus Christ.

Saint Hubert has taught me how to serve Jesus our savior in the most important ways. I've begun to tell more people about the Catholic faith and I've become more open about my Faith around others. I have also begun to serve the Lord with all my heart. I learned that how to serve the Lord will give you God's grace to serve others in our world. Serving God in the future will help me because I will grow closer to God by good works through God. I've served the Lord by helping elderly people by holding the door open and other simple or kind acts. I have embraced an amazing trait, service, from attending Saint Hubert.

Saint Hubert has taught me how to lead in many ways. First, Christ has taught me how to lead by showing others how to live like Him. Knowing how to lead will help me in the future because I can lead others to God. I had led my preschool buddy closer to God by showing him God's love and grace through prayer. Leading is a very important trait that I'm thankful for Saint Hubert teaching me.

Finally, Saint Hubert has taught me how to succeed. I have succeeded because all my teachers work hard so I can gain important knowledge. With my knowledge I can use it to help others succeed by helping them when they are confused. Succeeding will help me in the future because I will grow my Faith which will help me succeed in my future endeavors. Succeeding is very important and Saint Hubert has really help me succeed.
