SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Jesus said in reply, "Ten were cleansed, were they not? Where are the other nine? Has none but this foreigner returned to give thanks to God?"
- Lk 17:17-18

Excerpts from the Lectionary for Mass ©2001, 1998, 1970 CCD. ©LPI

Simple Thanks

In a world of words, non-stop communication, breaking news and social media, we all know how important words have become. We're bombarded with them. And unfortunately, many times the words we're exposed to don't always build up the human spirit. It seems as a society we're becoming more and more skilled at finding clever ways to silence one another instead of sharing thoughts and ideas that keep a conversation going.

But Jesus helps us deal with this head on. When we practice our Catholic faith, we're practicing what it means to seek the good, to find hope, to see real beauty, to know truth, and to see that humanity draws its strength when we value and respect one another's life, instead of trying to demean it. Like St. Paul says, when we do all the things we do through Christ, he strengthens us (Phil 4:13). Christ helps us truly see the way things should be—especially in how we see one another.

I mention all this, because the gospel today is about gratitude. In our Catholic tradition, gratitude is a virtue. It's a quality that we have within, that when practiced, leads us to see our life has meaning because we've been affected by someone else's goodness. When we receive something that's meaningful, or when we experience something of meaning that touches us, we find a way to express gratitude. And that builds relationships.

In today's gospel, Jesus heals ten lepers, but only one recognizes the source of the healing. The one with gratitude returns to Jesus to say those two magic words that every parent tries to instill within their children as they grow up: "Thank you."

A sincere thanks, one from the heart, acknowledges the goodness of another—whether it comes from God or from one another. So, as we grow in the spiritual life, acknowledging the goodness we see every day is a gift. And even the psychologists who study human behavior see the benefits. There are studies and experiments that show that those who practice gratitude can be healthier and often find ways to cope better in life.

So, just by practicing our faith, it moves us to look for the good, to acknowledge kindness, generosity, and the simple miracles with which God gifts us—like a beautiful sunset, the birth of a child, the warm smile of a stranger at a time we need it, a home cooked meal, or bread and wine that become the real presence of Christ. When we see these things, whether simple or complex acts of goodness, we just have to say two words that in the end become a prayer: Thank you. We go right to the source.

Speaking of Thanks...

Thank you to our Stewards, and to everyone who cooked, baked, sang, read, carried in a flag, and served all of us as we gathered for Mass and A Taste of St. Hubert last Saturday night. It was a special night, and a lot of fun. We truly have a blessed community that not only prays so well together, but loves to have fun, too.

And for all those who are involved in any kind of ministry here at St. Hubert church and school, save the date for our Thank You Dinner on Friday, November 15. See page 6 for more information.

With gratitude for you, and the good things happening at St. Hubert!
--Fr. Mike

 Saturday, October 19 at 11:00 AM

More on the Mass for Hope and Healing

The Mass for Hope and Healing started in 2011 in close collaboration with victim-survivors, clergy and staff to offer support to victim-survivors, their families, and any Catholic who was seeking assistance and healing from clergy sexual abuse.

The Mass is an outgrowth of the creation of the archdiocesan Healing Garden, which is a place created to support the healing of victim-survivors of clergy sexual abuse, their families and all Catholics. The Healing Garden is located on the west side of Holy Family Church.

Michael Hoffman and Jim Richter, clergy sexual-abuse survivors, believe that “prayer, reflection, action and shared experiences can make the difference in promoting healing and engendering hope. We welcome all of our brothers and sisters to celebrate this sacrament of unity with us; priests, parishioners, Virtus trainers, survivors, families, friends and all who minister to children and youth.” Let us join together in prayer, all of us precious children of God.

In the Gospel reading, why do nine out of ten healed lepers not return to Jesus to thank him?

Maybe they had run off to tell their families and friends about the miracle. Perhaps they were busy trying to convince their families and friends that they really had been healed and were now safe to be around. Or maybe they were preoccupied with getting jobs to support themselves, now that they could no longer live in the charity-funded leper colony.

All good and valid reasons!

What was different about the Samaritan leper, the one who did return? The difference was in his spirit. His faith in Jesus saved not only his body but also his spirit. He appreciated the healer, not just the healing. He didn't seek help from the Lord only for his own sake; he went to him for God's sake. He had something he could give to Jesus – his appreciation, his praise, his worship – and he wanted to give it.

Are we like that?

When we go to Mass, do we go only for our own sake? Or do we also go for God's sake? The best experiences in church happen with it's both. Do you give Jesus your appreciation when he comes to you in the Eucharist? Do you delight him with the way you worship? Does it look like you're glad to be there?

When we pray for our needs, do we make our requests only for our own sake? Or do we want our prayers answered for God's sake, too? Think about what you're seeking from him: How helpful could that be to God's kingdom?

When we accomplish a goal, does God benefit from it? When he helps us through a trial, what is his reward?

We all have something that God cannot give to himself: our praise and our worship. Please don't ever underestimate the value of these important gifts!

Reflect & Discuss:

1. What was the most recent prayer that God answered for you? Have you been too busy to kneel at the feet of Jesus and thank him?
2. When was the last time you praised him while still waiting for his help?
3. Describe your favorite method of thanking Jesus. What are other ways that people show their gratitude for the Lord's help? What's the evidence that God truly appreciates this type of worship?

We all have our own images of greatness as these pertain to virtue and saintliness. We picture, for instance, St. Francis of Assisi, kissing a leper; or Mother Teresa, publicly hugging a dying beggar; or John Paul II, standing before a crowd of millions and telling them how much he loves them; or Therese of Lisieux, telling a fellow community member who has been deliberately cruel to her how much she loves her; or even of the iconic, Veronica, in the crucifixion scene, who amidst all the fear and brutality of the crucifixion rushes forward and wipes the face of Jesus.

There are a number of common features within these pictures that speak of exceptional character; but there's another common denominator here that speaks of exceptionality in a different way, that is, each of these people had an exceptionally strong self-image and an exceptionally strong self-confidence.

It takes more than just a big heart to reach across what separates you from a leper; it also takes a strong self-confidence. It takes more than an empathic heart to publicly hug a dying beggar; it also takes a very robust self-image. It takes more than mere compassion to stand before millions of people and announce that you love them and that it's important for them to hear this from you; it also takes the rare inner-confidence. It takes more than a saintly soul to meet deliberate cruelty with warm affection; it also requires that first you yourself have experienced deep love in your life. And it takes more than simple courage to ignore the threat and hysteria of a lynch mob so as to rush into an intoxicated crowd and lovingly dry the face of the one they hate; it takes someone who has herself first experienced a strong love from someone else. We must first be loved in order to love. We can't give what we haven't got.

Great men and women like St. Francis, Mother Teresa, John Paul II, and Therese of Lisieux are also people with a stunning self-confidence. They have no doubt that God has specially gifted them and they have the confidence to publicly display those gifts. The sad fact is that many of us, perhaps most of us, simply lack sufficient self-image and self-confidence to do what they did. Perhaps our hearts are just as loving as theirs and our empathy just as deep, but, for all kinds of reasons, not least because of how we have been wounded and the shame and reticence that are born from that, it is existentially impossible for us to, like these spiritual giants, stand up in front of the world and say: "I love you – and it's important that you hear this from me!" Our tongues would surely break off as an inner voice would be saying: "Who do you think you are? Who are you to think the world needs to hear of your special love?"

Truth be told, too often it isn't virtue that's our problem; it's self-confidence. Mostly we aren't bad, we're just wounded. William Wordsworth once said something to the effect that we often judge a person to be cold when he or she is only wounded. How true.

Thankfully God doesn't judge by appearances. God reads the heart and discerns between malice and wound, between coldness and lack of self-confidence. God knows that no one can love unless he or she has first been loved, and that very few, perhaps no one, can publicly display the heart of a giant, the courage of a hero, and the love of saint when that big heart, courage, and love haven't, first, been felt in an affective and effective way inside of that person's own life.

So what's helpful in knowing this? A deeper self-understanding is always helpful and there can be a consolation, though hopefully not a rationalization, in knowing that our hesitancy to step out publicly and do things like Mother Teresa is perhaps more rooted in our lack of a healthy ego than in some kind of selfishness and egoism. But of course, after that consolation comes the challenge to throw away the crutches we have been using to cope with our wounds and our crippled self-image so as to begin to let our heart, courage, and love manifest themselves more publicly. Our tongues won't break off if we speak out loud about our love and concern, but we will only know that once we actually do it. But, to do that, we will have to first step through a paralyzing shame to a self-abandon that up to now we haven't mastered.

And there's a lesson in this too for our understanding of ego within spirituality. We've invariably seen ego as bad and identified it with egotism; but that's over-simplistic because spiritual giants generally have strong egos, though without being egotists. Ironically too many of us are crippled by too-little ego and that's why we never do great things like spiritual giants do. Egoism is bad, but a healthy, robust ego is not.

TASTE OF ST. HUBERT A HIT!

The Stewards for St. Hubert would like to thank everyone that helped make this a very successful event. Dozens of volunteers played a role: set up, decorating, cooks, bakers, servers, ticket sellers (food and raffle), support staff, entertainment and tear down. As always, the food was excellent. The only complaint was, "So many amazing and affordable choices. How do I decide?" We were thrilled to add the St. Hubert School Band to our entertainment venue this year. The students were a hit. A big thanks to the school and parish for the support.

Thanks for going owl out!

Sacramental Preparation

Each of us knows someone who has fallen away from practicing his or her Catholic Faith. Many of us have people right in our own families—sons, daughters and grandchildren. Could they be at a point in their lives where they just need an invitation to return? Could they be looking for a “way in” without embarrassment of guilt? Perhaps, you know of someone who is not Catholic. They may have been baptized in another religion or never baptized at all. Do you think they may be interested in learning more about the Catholic Faith and, perhaps, becoming Catholic? Do they have children who might be ready to know Jesus better?

If you answered “yes” to any of these questions, then you should call St. Hubert to find out about Children’s Ministry of Initiation (CMI). We will be starting sessions in October.

This process allows families with children to join other families who are seeking to become closer to God. St. Hubert ministers to the whole family as their children journey toward Baptism, Confirmation, and Eucharist, or full reception into the Catholic Church.

We feel our program is exciting! We’ve had many wonderful families come before you and feel really good about taking that first step to just call and inquire.

Pass this article on to those family members and friends described above.

For more information, contact Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

Classes begin October 20, 2019.

HEALING GRACE
Grief Support Ministry
Begins: October 16

When a death occurs, life for those who live on, changes forever. We recognize this change and would like to offer hope and comfort to those who mourn. In trying to move on after the death of a loved one, some wonder when the pain will go away, or if it ever will. Some wonder where life is headed. Understanding the commonalities of the grief journey can help us to heal and move on.

Kit Kissane a previous participants writes: "The loss of a close loved one creates a profound change for the person grieving. I found that those who had the same experience understood my pain as no one else did. It was comforting to spend time with them. The program is structured, and the facilitators have traveled the same road, and give hope for healing."

Healing Grace is a six-session series facilitated by Linda Engle & Charlene Kryszak. The meetings will take place in the Office Building – Room 120, beginning promptly at 7:00 PM and ending at 8:30 PM, on the following dates:

October 16, 23, 30, November 6, 13 & 20.
Since each session builds on the previous one, group members are asked to attend all the sessions.

To register contact Sister Marianne at 847-882-7580 or e-mail: HealingGrace@churchoftheholyspirit.org

Proclaiming the Word: Lector Training Workshop Location: in Church

Lectors have a critical role in the celebration of the Mass. Since lectors proclaim not just any word, but the Word of God, it is essential that they develop the skills required to communicate God's message competently.

Through the use of voice, eye contact and personal presence, lectors help God's Word come alive for the assembly.

This training will provide the skills and self-confidence needed for those who wish to become lectors in their own parish or for any lector who would like a "refresher" course.

for further questions or to make arrangements.*

BAPTISMS

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
