Is Peace Possible?

In today's gospel, Jesus is preparing his apostles for a different way he will be with him. He gives them something to think about and something to find. He leaves them—and us—with his peace. He gives it to us.

Peace is very much on our minds these days. The war in Ukraine continues. Within our own borders, we confront the senseless mass shootings in Buffalo and other parts of our country that have ripped apart families and communities. There is rage in people's heart over the pro-life movement and other social issues. And within our own lives, we can face anxiety, hurt and brokenness.

Is peace really ever possible?

With Jesus Christ in our lives, it can be. He tells us it's not the kind of peace the world can give us, because, as we know, it really can't. We call an absence of war, "peace," but peace can be disrupted in other ways. The effects of war and brokenness linger well after the wars are over.

The kind of peace Jesus leaves us and gives us is himself. It's his presence. And it comes into our lives through The Advocate—Jesus' name for the Holy Spirit. We have peace in knowing that Jesus comes into our lives, especially in the Eucharist, where we take him into our hearts and into the world with us. There is peace in knowing we're never alone, which is why he tells us we don't have to be afraid. We're held no matter what we go through—even the Catholics in Ukraine who gather for Mass in the midst of war and the families in Buffalo in the midst of tragedy.

Parishioners tell me all the time that coming to Mass allows them to find the peace Christ has left us and gives us—even if it is for only a few minutes. Worship is meant to remove us from the normal routine to lift our hearts into the heart of God. It's a retreat, a way to sit inside the presence we long to feel.

If you have the time, every Tuesday from 5-7 PM we have Eucharistic Adoration in the church. It's a meaningful time for many parishioners who come simply to sit in the quiet presence of Christ in the Blessed Sacrament. We don't have to say a word. We don't have to think. We don't have to do anything other than be. And in being ourselves—as we are, whether hurting, troubled, anxious or the opposite—we find the peace Christ gives, because during that time we aren't alone. Christ is with us. And he sends us The Advocate to move into our hearts. And even if for a moment, we experience peace—His peace within us.

Welcoming Our Children Into the Church

Today at the 10 AM Mass, we will welcome and be introduced to nine children who are preparing to be fully initiated into our Church at the next Easter Vigil. One will be baptized, and along with the other eight, will receive Confirmation and Eucharist for the very first time. They have been learning about God, our faith, and a life in the Church for a year now. And now they're ready to continue the journey and discover even more. We're very blessed their families are with us as we practice the faith together.

As we head into a new week, we don't go alone. We're strengthened in being together and in Christ who walks into the week with us. Peace and good things

—Fr. Mike

*“The Advocate, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you everything and remind you of all that I told you.”
—John 14:26*

Excerpts from the Lectionary for Mass ©2001, 1998, 1970 CCD

Jesus tells his disciples, “Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give it to you.” The peace that Jesus gives is far different than the kind that comes from the absence of war, conflict, or affliction. The peace that God offers is found alongside suffering and hardship, not necessarily in their absence. St. Teresa of Avila offers us a bit of wisdom regarding peace: “May today there be peace within. May you trust God that you are exactly where you are meant to be. May you not forget the infinite possibilities that are born of faith. May you use those gifts that you have received and pass on the love that has been given to you. May you be content knowing you are a child of God. Let this presence settle into your bones and allow your soul the freedom to sing, dance, praise, and love. It is there for each and every one of us.”

In order for us to experience the divine peace that Jesus offers, we have to allow God’s presence to settle into our bones! It is only when this happens that we can be truly taught by the Holy Spirit to discern the true path to peace and find ourselves with untroubled hearts. The world and our lives are so unpredictable and changeable. If we look for a source of lasting and real peace only there, our search will never be satisfied. Something will always unsettle and disturb us. The Jewish disciples could really relate to what Jesus was saying about peace (shalom). They already knew that it was more a matter of achieving wholeness and wellbeing than anything else.

Wholeness and wellbeing are precisely what is uncovered when we begin to really see and know the height, depth, and breadth of God’s presence and promise. The elegance of God’s Divine life flows through our blood and the marrow in our bones. It is that close and deep. As we breathe in and exhale God’s life, peace becomes what we know within and what is exhaled out. This remains in the midst of intense conflict, persecution, suffering, rejection, and even death.

Leaving Peace Behind as Our Farewell Gift

By Ron Rolheiser, OMI

There is such a thing as a good death, a clean one, a death that, however sad, leaves behind a sense of peace. I have been witness to it many times. Sometimes this is recognized explicitly when someone dies, sometimes unconsciously. It is known by its fruit.

I remember sitting with a man dying of cancer in his mid-fifties, leaving behind a young family, who said to me: "I don't believe I have an enemy in the world, at least I don't know if I do. I've no unfinished business." I heard something similar from a young woman also dying of cancer and also leaving behind a young family. Her words: "I thought that I'd cried all the tears I had, but then yesterday when I saw my youngest daughter I found out that I had a lot more tears still to cry. But I'm at peace. It's hard, but I've nothing left that I haven't given." And I've been at deathbeds other times when none of this was articulated in words, but all of it was clearly spoken in that loving awkwardness and silence you often witness around deathbeds. There is a way of dying that leaves peace behind.

In the Gospel of John, Jesus gives a long farewell speech at the Last Supper on the night before he dies. His disciples, understandably, are shaken, afraid, and not prepared to accept the brute reality of his impending death. He tries to calm them, reassure them, give them things to cling to, and he ends with these words: I am going away, but I will leave you a final gift, the gift of my peace.

I suspect that almost everyone reading this will have had an experience of grieving the death of a loved one, a parent, spouse, child, or friend, and finding, at least after a time, beneath the grief a warm sense of peace whenever the memory of the loved one surfaces or is evoked. I lost both of my parents when I was in my early twenties and, sad as were their farewells, every memory of them now evokes a warmth. Their farewell gift was the gift of peace.

In trying to understand this, it is important to distinguish between being wanted and being needed. When I lost my parents at a young age, I still desperately wanted them (and believed that I still needed them), but I came to realize in the peace that eventually settled upon our family after their deaths that our pain was in still wanting them and not in any longer needing them. In their living and their dying they had already given us what we needed. There was nothing else we needed from them. Now we just missed them and, irrespective of the sadness of their departure, our relationship was complete. We were at peace.

The challenge for all of us now, of course, is on the other side of this equation, namely, the challenge to live in such a way that peace will be our final farewell gift to our families, our loved ones, our faith community, and our world. How do we do that? How do we leave the gift of peace to those we leave behind?

Peace, as we know, is a whole lot more than the simple absence of war and strife. Peace is constituted by two things: harmony and completeness. To be at peace something has to have an inner consistency so that all of its movements are in harmony with each other and it must also have a completeness so that it is not still aching for something it is missing. Peace is the opposite of internal discord or of longing for something we lack. When we are not at peace it is because we are experiencing chaos or sensing some unfinished business inside us.

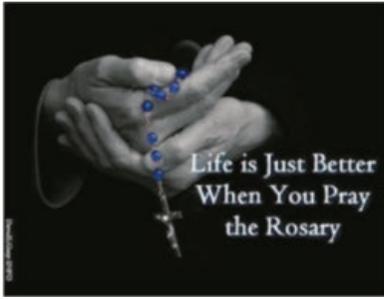

Positively then, what constitutes peace? When Jesus promises peace as his farewell gift, he identifies it with the Holy Spirit; and, as we know, that is the spirit of charity, joy, peace, patience, goodness, longsuffering, fidelity, mildness, and chastity.

How do we leave these behind when we leave? Well, death is no different than life. When some people leave anything, a job, a marriage, a family, or a community, they leave chaos behind, a legacy of disharmony, unfinished business, anger, bitterness, jealousy, and division. Their memory is felt always as a cold pain. They are not missed, even as their memory haunts. Some people on the other hand leave behind a legacy of harmony and completeness, a spirit of understanding, compassion, affirmation, and unity. These people are missed but the ache is a warm one, a nurturing one, one of happy memory.

Going away in death has exactly the same dynamic. By the way we live and die we will leave behind either a spirit that perennially haunts the peace of our loved ones, or we will leave behind a spirit that brings a warmth every time our memory is evoked.

JOIN US FOR THE ROSARY

For centuries, the Catholic Church has set aside the entire month of May to honor Mary, the Mother of God. Every Friday morning at 8:00 AM, we gather in Church to pray the rosary before the 8:30 AM Mass. It would be wonderful if you could join us in this beautiful prayer. No reservation is required.

If you are unable to join us, perhaps you could find time to pray the rosary at home. You can pray the rosary along with a video, featuring St. Hubert Parishioners, which can be found on the St. Hubert website under Devotional Prayers.

Angels are sent by God to guard us in all ways (Psalm 91:11) and to deliver messages (Luke 1:19). One way they might communicate with us is through Angel Numbers, or repeated number sequences.

The Angel Number 222 is very significant. 222 as an Angel Number has to do with creating blessings on a huge and global scale. This message from heaven is a sign of direction. It is telling you that your intuition is providing you with the answer or information you need at this time. This number is sending you an angel message to look within for the answers and to listen to your heart.

For the coming year, we are trying to increase our student population to 222 students. We have many families who would like to send their children to a Catholic School but are unable to afford it. There is a Tuition Assistance Fund that has been able to help many families, but we would like to do more.

Please listen to your heart and help us create blessings for those who desire a Catholic education. If you are able to help, there is a yellow envelope in your monthly envelope packet, envelopes in the back of Church, and you can also make an electronic donation on Give Central. May God, and the Angels, bless you for your kindness and generosity.

SCOUTS IN ACTION

The Scouts from St. Hubert Troops 399 and 399G spent Saturday working with the Hoffman Estates Post Office on their annual food drive. The scouts sorted and packed over 70 cases of food and personal items. (Just over 2,000 items) All of the food was delivered to the food pantry at the Church of the Holy Spirit on Monday. Thank you to everyone in the parish that contributed to the drive.

Creating Competitive Advantage

May 23 from 7:00–9:00 PM

Parish Ministry Center Club Room or on Zoom

This meeting will be a "hybrid."

We'd like to see you in person, where we have complimentary masks, socially-distanced seating, touchless registration (via QR code), and hand sanitizer, but you can also join our Zoom meeting.

How do you compete, to be the best candidate, in the eyes of prospective employers?

Our presenter, Bob Placko, who has 35 years of experience with the HR Department at Motorola and retired as Senior Vice President of Human Resources, will provide ideas and strategies to set yourself apart from the competition.

Dear St. Hubert Parishioners,

THANK YOU for your gift of underwear, Pull-Ups and diapers in a year that has been so difficult for so many. Since the COVID-19 pandemic began, calls to the Illinois Domestic Violence Hotline increased dramatically and continue to surge. The majority of these callers need shelter. The number of children WINGS serves continues to increase. Our ability to respond to and serve these families in crisis is made possible by donors like YOU!

We hope we can count on you to give in the future and share the great work WINGS does every day to help families continue to grow on their journey away from domestic violence toward freedom.

We wish you and your loved ones health and peace in these uncertain times.

Gratefully,
