SUNDAY OF ADVENT

"So too, you also must be prepared, for at an hour you do not expect, the Son of Man will come." - Mt 24:44

Attentive Listening

Every Advent marks a new beginning. It's an opportunity to enter into the mysteries of Jesus' coming into the world, which we'll explore once again over the course of the next 52 weeks. We remember his first coming and live in anticipation of his second. In the meantime, we live in the present. We live in hope and expectation. We live knowing that Jesus is eager to break into our world and our lives.

And that's reflected in this Sunday's scripture passages. Jesus' message today is to stay awake and be aware; it's to expect God to be active in our lives and world—ready to break in at a moment's notice.

But, to be prepared for this to happen requires a sense of attentiveness to seeing God at work, which happens even in little ways: through nature, kindness, the support of a friend, and maybe even someone who took the time to listen to us.

Listening seems to be becoming a lost art and skill, but it's essential in any kind of relationship—including our relationship with God. When someone really listens to us, they're telling us that what we're saying matters. That's why the spiritual masters often tell us how important silence is in our prayer life. In addition to filling our time with God with words, it's also good to stop and let God begin to speak to us in the silence of a moment. It was actually my mom who taught me that God speaks through insight—it's letting God plant thoughts, ideas, solutions into our heart that seem to come to us out of the blue. For that to happen, we have to let go, listen and give God the time to speak.

Perhaps a good way to enter into this season of expectation, can be to value times of silence in prayer—even if only for 5 minutes. This time of year can be very hectic and busy. We can fill every moment with something—including noise. But it can also be an opportunity to bring God into it; to stop, pause, listen in silence, and allow divine insight to come into our hearts. It's a way that God can break through to lead us to Christmas.

A Way to Invest in Kids

In today's bulletin you'll find a special insert about the Illinois Invest in Kids Tax Credit Scholarship Program. The reality is that most of us have to pay state income taxes. This program, though, is an opportunity to let the state use your tax dollars to fund Catholic education. What gives an additional opportunity is that a contribution made after December 1 will not only reduce your taxes, because of a matching gift program through the Archdiocese, your contribution can be doubled. It's a win-win.

For example, if you make a donation of $100 through this program, you would receive a tax credit of $75. (And if you do this before the end of the year, you receive the benefit for the 2022 tax year.) But because of the matching gift program, your $100 donation is doubled to $200 which you can ask to be given directly to Saint Hubert School for scholarships. So, in essence, your $100 gift, really only costs you $25, but gives the school $200 to help offer scholarships to families.

It can be a little confusing, so if you'd like to talk it through or learn more, we're here to help. Please contact Joyce Manfre in our Business Office and we can help explain it further. Joyce can be reached at jmanfre@sainthubert.org or at 847-885-7700 x 111. Thanks for considering this alternative way to support our school.

As we head into Advent, we enter it in hope. Christmas is coming!

—Fr. Mike

“Therefore, stay awake!

For you do not know on which day your Lord will come.”

—Matthew 24:42

We can embrace and relish each moment of our lives as a sacred sacrament or nonchalantly and robotically attend to what life presents. We have our feet in two worlds. One is holy and sacred, and the other is profane and secular. Which one has the greater claim on us? To what do we devote most of our energy? We can easily be consumed with the particular demands and essentials of daily life: family, work, obligations, and the like, that we don't really notice anything more than what is right before us. We become masters at “doing” and neglect our need to “savor.” Jesus reminds his friends that “as it was in the days of Noah, so it will be at the coming of the Son of Man. In those days before the flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, up to the day Noah entered the ark. They did not know until the flood came and carried them all away.”

While certain things require our daily attention, we cannot become so consumed with them that we fail to see the larger picture of what is coming.

For the Christian, Advent is the time to pause, reflect, and savor. It is a time to see life as a sacrament of the moment and not just an investment in secular interests, pleasures, and personal obligations. It is easy to get distracted, lazy, preoccupied, and tired. Apathy can quickly wreak havoc on the most dedicated of souls. Whatever we can do this Advent season to be more attentive, focused, alert, and watchful will serve us well. It will make us eager and well-prepared to meet our Lord when he comes. It is for certain that he will come.

Who made me? What is my purpose? What will happen to me when I die? These are pivotal questions that, in life's busyness, we hardly find time to ask and answer. They define who we are, and the answers we provide serve as guideposts and anchors in the seas of our lives. Advent is the perfect time to make friends with our souls. It is a time to perk ourselves up, open our eyes, ears, and hearts and seek God's presence in the simple moments of our lives. God is with us. Ask God to grant you a deeper appreciation for His presence and the gift of attentiveness.

Advent Longing

By Ron Rolheiser, OMI

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin once suggested that peace and justice will come to us when we reach a high enough psychic temperature so as to burn away the things that still hold us apart. In saying this, he was drawing upon a principle in chemistry: Sometimes two elements will simply lie side by side inside a test-tube and not unite until sufficient heat is applied so as to bring them to a high enough temperature where unity can take place.

That's wonderful metaphor for advent. What is advent?

Advent is about getting in touch with our longing. It's about letting our yearnings raise our psychic temperatures so that we are pushed to eventually let down our guard, hope in new ways, and risk intimacy.

John of the Cross has a similar image: Intimacy with God and with each other will only take place, he says, when we reach a certain kindling temperature. For too much of our lives, he suggests, we lie around as damp, green logs inside the fire of love, waiting to come to flame but never bursting into flame because of our dampness. Before we can burst into flame, we must first dry out and come to kindling temperature. We do that, as does a damp log inside a fire, by first sizzling for a long time in the flames so as to dry out.

How do we sizzle psychologically and spiritually? For John of the Cross, we do that through the pain of loneliness, restlessness, disquiet, anxiety, frustration, and unrequited desire. In the torment of incompleteness our psychic temperature rises so that eventually we come to kindling temperature and, there, we finally open ourselves to union in new ways. That too is an image for advent.

Advent is all about loneliness, but loneliness is a complex thing.

Nobel Prize winning author, Toni Morrison describes it this way: "There is a loneliness that can be rocked. Arms crossed, knees drawn up, holding, holding on, this motion, unlike a ship's, smooths and contains the rocker. It's an inside kind - wrapped tight like skin. Then there is a loneliness that roams. No rocking can hold it down. It is alive, on its own. A dry and spreading thing that makes the sound of one's own feet going seems to come from a far-off place."

All of us know exactly what she is describing, especially the latter type, the roaming kind of loneliness that haunts the soul and makes us, all too often, too restless to sleep at night and too uncomfortable to be inside our own skins during the day.

And what's the lesson in this? What we learn from loneliness is that we are more than any moment in our lives, more than any situation we are in, more than any humiliation we have experienced, more than any rejection we have endured, and more than all the limits within which we find ourselves. Loneliness and longing take us beyond ourselves. How?

Thomas Aquinas once taught that we can attain something in one of two ways: through possession or through desire. We like to possess what we love, but that isn't often possible and it has an underside.

Possession is limited, desire is infinite. Possession sets up fences, desire takes down fences. To quote Karl Rahner, only in the torment of the insufficiency of everything attainable do we know that we are more than the limits of our bodies, our present relationships, our jobs, our achievements, and the concrete situations within which we live, work, and die.

Loneliness and longing let us touch, through desire, God's ultimate design for us. In our longing, the mystics tell us, we intuit the kingdom of God. What that means is that in our desires we sense the deeper blueprint for things. And what is that?

Scripture tells us that the kingdom of God is not a matter of eating and drinking, of simple bodily pleasure, but a coming together in justice, peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit. Ultimately, that is what we ache for in our loneliness and longing: consummation, oneness, intimacy, completeness, harmony, peace, and justice. Sometimes, of course, in our fantasies and daydreams that isn't so evident. God's kingdom seems something much loftier and more holy than what we often long for - sex, revenge, fame, power, glory, pleasure. However even in these fantasies, be they ever so crass, there is present always a deeper desire, for justice, for peace, for joy, for oneness in Christ.

Our loneliness and longing are a hunger and an energy that drive us, always, beyond the present moment. In them we do intuit the kingdom of God.

Advent is about longing, about getting in touch with it, about heightening it, about letting it raise our psychic temperatures, about sizzling as damp, green logs inside the fires of intimacy, about intuiting the kingdom of God by seeing, through desire, what the world might look like if a Messiah were to come and, with us, establish justice, peace, and unity on this earth.

ORDER OF CHRISTIAN INITIATION OF ADULTS
a journey of faith

Adult Ministry of Initiation (AMI) & Children's Ministry of Initiation (CMI)

Sunday, December 4th we will celebrate Rite of Welcome and Acceptance at the 10:00 AM Mass.

A little history.... This is the first of the public rituals celebrated in the Order of Christian Initiation of Adults (OCIA) process. The Rite of Acceptance into the order of Catechumens (for unbaptized Catechumens) and the Rite of Welcome (for baptized adult candidates preparing to celebrate Confirmation and Eucharist in the Catholic Church). An important moment in the Rite is when each candidate is asked if they are ready to accept the Gospel Way of Life. Their affirmation is a public expression of their intention to follow the way of Jesus Christ. The candidates will be marked by the sign of the cross by Fr. Mike and their sponsors. With this ancient mark, they are claimed for Christ.

As the assembled Church, we celebrate this ritual by blessing our Inquirers, listening to them, praying for them, giving evidence of the spirit of our Christian community, inviting them into our hearts, and passing on to them our beliefs, traditions and all that we hold sacred and cherish. Please keep our Catechumens and Candidates in CMI and AMI your thoughts and prayers in the coming months. We will post photos and bios of our new candidates and catechumens in CMI and AMI on the kiosk of the Narthex soon.

LIVE THE LITURGY: INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK

Whether it is the surgeon performing an operation or the pilot directing a flight, one expects them to be alert. When we entrust our lives to someone, we presume that they will attend to them with the utmost care and vigilance. If we have this expectation of others, why would we not have it of ourselves? Our lives are precious vessels on an eternal journey. We can only stay afloat and on the course because of God's love and mercy. It is easy to get distracted, lazy, preoccupied, and tired. Apathy can wreak havoc on the most dedicated of souls. God's word transforms all that it touches, even a lukewarm heart. Let us seek God's grace this Advent season so that we can walk more fully in His light. Then, finding ourselves more attentive, focused, alert, and watchful, we will be eager and well prepared to meet our Lord when He comes. Why would we not want to be ready, awake, and watchful for the One we have waited for so long?

Widow & Widowers Group meets at Holy Family Church

The Holidays are a Prime Time for Elder Abuse

While it is important to be on the lookout for the variety of scams targeting older adults, it is also important to know that most elder abuse is committed by family members.

And, abuse by family members often goes beyond the financial to the emotional and even the physical.

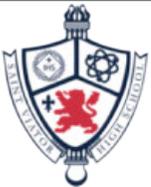

At the individual level, there are small steps we can all take to prevent and address elder abuse.

- Provide social support: It is important to ensure that older adults don't become isolated. Be sure to check in on them or ask others to do so if you are not close by.
- Give caregivers a break: Caregiver stress may contribute to forms of abuse.
- Pay attention to details: Notice the appearance of bruises on the body or the disappearance of money from bank accounts.
- Start conversations: Older parents should be clear with their children and caretakers about what they want as they age. Elder abuse should be openly discussed as the stigma around it only helps hide it.
- Know where to go: Call 911 in an emergency, or Adult Protective Services in your county. Also The National Center on Elder Abuse has resources available online.

Perhaps the most meaningful gift you can give an older adult, and your future self, is attention to their health and safety and wishes-- not just during the holidays but all the days of the year.
