Gospel Meditation

Encourage Deeper Understanding of Scripture

What are you supposed to do about the bad behavior of the people around you? You know who I'm talking about. That family member, friend, coworker, or acquaintance who is quite immoral. On this front there are two lively options in our culture: bash the person to others (probably online) or pretend everything's fine. The former damages the person. The latter ignores reality. What to do?

Jesus' strategy in the Gospel of Matthew is as wise as it is difficult: go directly to the person, and then gradually expand the circle of intervention. Simple, often effective, and hard. But what we often miss is the context of the Lord's strategy, "If your brother sins against you..." Notice the italicized words. Is the person in a Christian familial bond with you? And was the action in question against you? If so, proceed with the plan. Fine. But how often we fret over the sins of those who either aren't our spiritual siblings or have done nothing directly to us. This is not an invitation to ignore injustice in the world. Rather, we should build bonds of fraternal love, and carefully discern when and how others' sins are indeed our concern. Sometimes they are. Other times — frequently, perhaps — they simply are not.

— Father John Muir

5 Meditation: Ron Rolheiser, OMI

Doing Violence in God's Name

Blaise Pascal once wrote: "Men never do evil so completely and cheerfully as when they do it from a religious conviction." How true! This has been going on since the beginning of time and is showing few signs of disappearing any time soon. We still do violence and evil and justify them in God's name.

We see countless examples of this in history. From the time that we first gained self-consciousness, we've done violence in God's name. It began by sacrificing human persons to try to attain God's favor and it led to everything from actively persecuting others for religious reasons, to waging war in God's name, to burning people for heresy at the Inquisition, to practicing capital punishment for religious reasons, and, not least, at one point in history, to handing Jesus over to be crucified out of our misguided religious fervor.

These are some salient historical examples; sadly not much has changed. Today, in its most gross form, we see violence done in God's name by groups like Al-Qaida and Isis who, whatever else might be their motivation, believe that they are serving God and cleansing the world in God's name by brute terrorism and murder. The death of thousands of innocent people can be justified, they believe, by the fact that this is God's cause, so sacred and urgent that it allows for the bracketing of all basic standards of humanity, decency, and normal religion. When it's for God's cause, outright evil is rationalized.

Happily, it's impossible for most of us to justify this kind of violence and murder in our minds and hearts, but most of us still justify this kind of sacrilegious violence in more subtle modes. Many of us, for instance, still justify capital punishment in the name of divine justice, believing that God's purposes demand that we kill someone. Many too justify abortion by an appeal to our God-given freedoms. Not least, virtually all of us justify certain violence in our language and discourse because we feel that our cause is so special and sacred that it gives us the right to bracket some of the fundamentals of Christian charity in our dealings with those who disagree with us, namely, respect and graciousness.

Our language, in both the circles of right and the left, is rife with a violence we justify in God's name. On the right, issues like abortion and the defense of dogma are deemed so important as to give us permission to demonize others. On the left, issues of economic and ecological injustice, because they so directly affect the poor, similarly give us permission to bracket respect and graciousness. Both sides like to justify themselves with an appeal to God's righteous anger.

There's a story in John's Gospel, delicious in its irony, which helps expose how we are so often blind to the violence we do in God's name. It's the famous incident of the woman who is caught in adultery. They bring her to Jesus and tell him that they caught her in the very act of committing adultery and that Moses commanded, in God's name, that women like this be stoned to death. Jesus, for his part, says nothing. He bends down and writes with his finger, twice, on the ground and then tells them the one among them who's without sin might cast the first stone. They understand the gesture: why he is writing on the ground, why he is writing twice, and what that means. What does it mean?

Moses went up a mountain and God, with his finger, wrote the Ten Commandments into two tablets of stone. As Moses approached the Israelite camp on his return, carrying the two tablets of stone, he caught the people in the very act of committing idolatry. What did he do? In a fit of religious fervor, he broke the Commandments, literally, physically, over the golden calf and then picked up the fragments and threw those stones at the people.

So here's the irony from which to draw a lesson: Moses was the first person to break the Ten Commandments. He broke them in God's name and then took the fragments and stoned the people. He did this violence in all sincerity, caught up in religious fervor. Of course, afterwards, he had to go back up the mountain and have the Commandments written a second time. However before giving Moses the Commandments a second time, God also gave him a lecture: Don't stone people with the Commandments! Don't do violence in my name!

We've been very slow to grasp this mandate and take it seriously. We still find every sort of moral and religious justification for doing violence in God's name. We are still, like Moses, smashing the Commandments on what we consider idolatrous and then stoning others with the fragments. This is evident everywhere in our religious and moral discourse, particularly in how we, as Pascal might put it, in God's name, "completely and cheerfully" bracket charity as it pertains to graciousness and respect.

Interested in Learning about the Catholic Faith?

Adult Ministry of Initiation (AMI) Becoming a Catholic?

Are you:

- Interested in learning more about the Catholic Church?
- Unbaptized, seeking Baptism, Confirmation and Eucharist or searching for spirituality in your life?
- Baptized, but never received any formal religious education or completed your sacraments of initiation, Confirmation and Eucharist?
- Married to a Catholic, you attend Mass with them, and you want to share in their faith?
- Seeking something in your life, but are not sure what it is?

AMI is the place for you! Every year adults are welcomed into the Catholic Community through the OCIA process. It is a learning experience that will change your life and give your life new meaning and new direction.

Our sessions have begun, but it is not too late to join us this Tuesday (September 12th) at 7:00 PM. Call us today!

Sessions will be held at the St. Hubert Parish Ministry Center (PMC). Call Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or email her at mstaffa@sainthubert.org for more information.

Tootsie Roll Drive September 15 - 17, 2023

The Hoffman-Schaumburg Knights of Columbus are holding their annual drive to help people with Intellectual Disabilities in our local area. This year we have more store locations than ever. This is great news for those who can't work at the corners.

Go to www.TootsieRollDrive.com to make credit card donations safely online, get informational updates, or sign up to volunteer at one of our locations.

Please sign up now to ensure your spot. If you can't work, sign up your friends and/or relatives on your behalf. Consider working Friday, as that is our best day, but hardest to fill with volunteers.

Our Gift Program and our local charities still need your support so please make a donation today! Our Knights thank you for your support!

CHILDREN'S MINISTRY OF (INITIATION CMI)

Some of our children may be new to the parish and for a variety of reasons may need to receive sacraments other than at the designated grade levels.

Children's Ministry of Initiation (CMI) is a process for children 7 years of age or older. CMI is a vibrant part of the parish welcoming and evangelical efforts for families wishing to learn more about becoming a Catholic Christian or reconnecting to the church. CMI provides families with the opportunities for religious education, prayer, service, and reception of the sacraments (Baptism, Confirmation, Eucharist).

The children involved in this process of Religious Education receive their sacraments at the Easter Vigil in the second year of participation in CMI.

Immediate preparations are now underway for our CMI sessions to begin in October. Parents and grandparents, if you are interested in enrolling your child, teen or grandchild please contact Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or mstaffa@sainthubert.org. Sacramental Preparation Classes will be held on the St. Hubert Campus.

Prayer Shawl Ministry

St. Matthew and St. Hubert Prayer Shawl Ministry would like to welcome you to our upcoming meeting. There always seems to be someone in need of a shawl, who will be surrounded by prayer, which is a tangible reminder of God's love and care, encouragement, inspiration and to celebrate life milestones. The reasons to create a shawl are as numerous as the people who make them. The blessing ripples from one to another, with both the giver and receiver feeling an unconditional embrace and comforting God!

The shawl maker begins the shawl with prayers and blessings for the recipient. Upon completion, a final prayer is offered before the shawl is sent on the way. Some recipients have continued the kindness by either making a shawl or donating yarn to the ministry. Our knitters and crocheters skills range from beginners to advanced levels.

Please join us as we start back up this Sunday, September 10th, 2023, 1:00–2:30 PM at St. Hubert Parish Ministry Center in the Dorothy Day Room.

To learn more about the ministry or to request a Prayer Shawl please contact Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

WE PRAY

FOR THOSE PROTECTING OUR COUNTRY

Anthony Chrobak, Jared Koch, Jaden Lambrechts,
Michael Nizzi, Riley Santoyo, Bradley Vicchiolla

All Powerful God, Watch over all our dear ones who serve this day in the military.

Hold them safely in the palm of your hand.

Walk with them in your strength.

Bring them comfort and hope when they are weary.

Remind them of our love.

Merciful Lord, Bring a lasting peace into our midst.

Heal our hearts and help all nations find ways to live in harmony so that blood is shed no more.

We as this in the name of Christ Jesus,
Prince of Peace. Amen

THANK YOU for the School Supplies!!!

The Scouts of Troops 399B and 399G spent the evening sorting, counting and packaging all of the school supplies collected at SS Matthew and Hubert Churches. Thanks to your generosity we delivered 40 cartons of supplies to the Grant-A-Wish Children and Family Center. Hundreds of folders, a thousand crayons, gallons of glue!!!

The Troops are excited to be part of this first combined activity between St. Matthew and St. Hubert Churches.

St. Hubert School News

Aloha from our second graders, who made the most of the warm weather around the holiday weekend.

Our sixth graders created Reading Road Maps in Junior High Literature this week. They reflected on their life-long reading journey, the books that left a lasting impression, and then shared their roadmaps with the class.

SPONSORS NEEDED

This year's Track-a-Thon will be held on Saturday, September 16, with a rain date of September 23. Proceeds from the event will be used for school improvements—updating curriculum, ongoing technology improvements and upkeep, teacher professional development, and tuition assistance. Can we count on your support this year?

We will continue to accept donations until the event, at which time a banner will be purchased to display in the gym to honor our donors. Please include a business card or .jpg file with your company information and/or note of encouragement to: FSA@sthubertschool.org.

To make your donation electronically, go to <https://sthubertschool.org/track-a-thon>, or scan the QR code above. Checks can be made payable to St. Hubert School. If submitting a check, please print a Track-A-Thon Sponsorship Form, available at the link above, then return the completed form to the school office. Please contact FSA@sthubertschool.org with any questions you may have.

Thank you for your continued support and prayers. We are truly blessed to be part of such a wonderful community of people.

Sincerely,

Patty Manjarrez and Ewelina Kaga, Family and School Association Co-Presidents & Track-A-Thon Committee
