FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS:

Where does this funding money come from?

In November each year, Catholic parishes across the U.S. take up a second collection for the Catholic Campaign for Human Development (CCHD). Of the funds collected in the Diocese of Davenport, 25% becomes available for distribution to projects within the diocese. The other 75% Of the funds are forwarded to the national CCHD office for investment in larger projects around the country, including projects in our Diocese, which address the causes of poverty and injustice.

Who decides what gets funded?

A diocesan board appointed by the Bishop of Davenport to invest diocesan funds for CCHD makes the decisions. The diocesan board promotes the CCHD collection and CCHD special projects. This board is also responsible for work on Catholic Relief Services (CRS) Operation Rice Bowl and is composed of clergy, religious, and lay people from the diocese, and the diocesan Director for CCHD.

What is the decision-making process?

The diocesan CCHD Director distributes proposals to the CCHD Board who review the proposals and decide to approve the proposal, deny funding, or request more information.

How much total grant money is available for allocation?

Since the money available for funding is a percentage of the annual collection, the total grant money available depends on how much is collected by parishes in the Diocese each year.

Note:

Grant moneys may only be used for the approved project. Unused funds must be returned to the Diocesan Social Action Office.

Projects Not Meeting CCHD Criteria and ineligible for Funding:

- Projects providing direct social services.
- Debts already incurred by applicants.
