Lecturer Kevin Neely gave a presentation:

Worthy Grand Knight, distinguished quests and Brother Knights; Happy New Year!

Now you may have always associated that greeting with the January 1st Holiday, but as of yesterday, the Catholic Church began their new Liturgical Year. In the three-year cycle of Liturgy, we are now in the A year where the Gospels are primarily from Matthew. His Gospel is considered the most Jewish-centric. His audience was primarily Jewish. His Gospel contains many references from the Old Testament, because he wanted to show that Jesus was indeed the Jewish Messiah, long prophesied and waited for.

Usually, every year at New Years we spend some time thinking about what we will do, and how we will improve our lives in the upcoming months. We often make resolutions that we hope will advance our health, or our wealth, or our prosperity.

The first season in the Catholic new year is Advent. It began yesterday and we lit the first of four candles in the sanctuary before Mass. Those candles symbolize hope, peace, joy and love. They represent Jesus coming as a light in the darkness. We make time during Advent to prepare and celebrate the birth of Jesus, the light of the world.

Recently, our parish distributed a book to help us journey through Advent. It's called Waiting WELL by Fr. Mike Schmitz. Its purpose is to help us refocus our attention toward Jesus in this brief season. Fr. Mike recommends that we create a plan to do that. He gives us five questions to consider and suggests we visit them at the beginning of each week during Advent. Our plan should answer:

- 1) When will I spend time with Jesus?
- 2) Where will I spend time with Jesus?
- 3) What are Jesus and I going to do together?
- 4) Who will hold me accountable for my time with Jesus?
- 5) Why am I prioritizing my time with Jesus?

So; When, Where, What, Who, and Why? Let's just take a moment to consider the When .... I invite you to close your eyes for 30 seconds. Think about your daily schedule. Think about your week. Think about the last 12 hours. Did you say to yourself ... "These 10 minutes I am going to spend with Jesus".

I am not going to go through all five W's, but I will ask you to close your eye's again. Visualize WHERE you will spend time with Jesus each day during Advent. Just Jesus. Is it with your first cup of coffee in the morning? Maybe on your drive to work? Lunch time? Bed time? Think about When. Think about Where, and make a commitment to make an appointment with Jesus. Every day during Advent.

There are many resources to help us make our New Years Advent resolutions. Find one and make a commitment. You will be glad you did.

Vivat Jesus!
