FROM THE PASTOR

The Marian Antiphons

Priests and religious throughout the world promise to pray for and with the Church for the rest of their lives. This takes a specific form: the Liturgy of the Hours, also called the "Divine Office" or the "Breviary." It is a routine of prayer that uses the psalms, scripture readings, and hymns to structure the day around prayer. There's the Office of Readings (Matins), Morning Prayer (Lauds), three options for Daytime Prayer (Terce, Sext, None), Evening Prayer (Vespers), and Night Prayer (Compline). Priests pray five of these each day. Some religious do all seven and others only two or three.

Traditionally, the final prayer of the day - Night Prayer - is concluded with what's called a "Marian Antiphon." There are four of them, each is a hymn to Mary and the one chosen is based on the time of year. Ave Regina Caelorum from Feb 2 to Easter, Regina Caeli for the Easter Season, Salve Regina for most Ordinary Time, and Alma Redemptoris Mater for Advent & Christmas (until Feb 2).

Eventually, it became customary in some places to start singing one of these hymns at the end of Mass as a kind of connection to that wider pattern of prayer. I'm bringing that tradition here. Starting next week, we'll conclude each of the Masses with the choir singing the Alma Redemptoris Mater. Each season, we'll switch to the appropriate one.

Over time, you may begin to pick up on the tune and the words of all four of them so you can join in. Even if you don't, you can benefit from enjoying the simple beauty of the hymn asking Mary's intercession in the same way hundreds of thousands of priests and religious have prayed for hundreds of years.

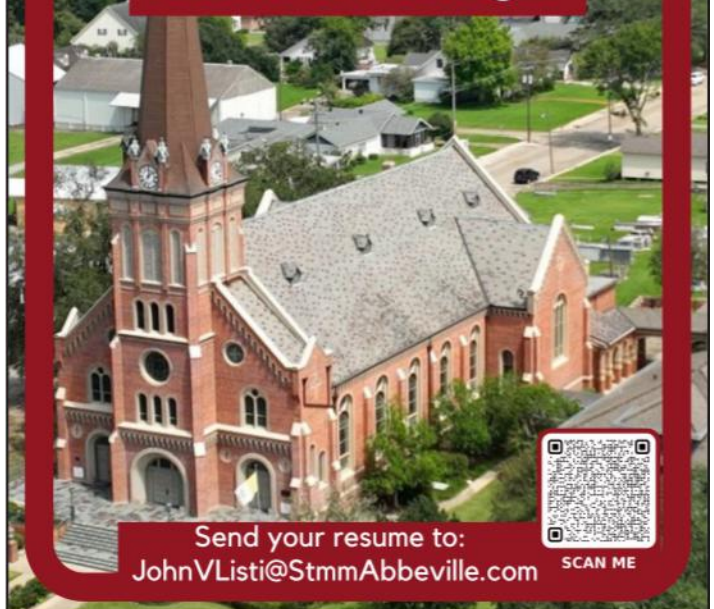

In Christ,

Fr. Albert
