Twenty-Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

FROM THE DESK OF THE PASTOR

G.K. Chesterton is supposed to have said that Christianity is a faith that comforts the afflicted... and afflicts the comfortable. There's deep truth in those words. They're true because the Church must be faithful to her founder, Jesus Christ. Christ wants us to become saints. He wants us to have the infinite joy of really loving, and then of being with him forever in heaven. Any parent knows that sometimes true love is tough love. Christ isn't afraid to shake us out of our comfort zone to call us into a deeper relationship with him. We seem to be okay with the notion that sometimes in this life there are costs associated with the things which bring us joy and happiness. Yet these pleasures are fleeting. The grace and peace of Christ, which is eternal, also come at a price. What are you willing to pay?

Fr. Russ

Marriage: Love and Life In The Divine Plan: Domestic Violence

"In some cases, divorce may be the only solution to a morally unacceptable situation. A specific example is a home where the safety of a spouse and children is at risk. As the Catholic bishops of the United States, we reiterate what we said in our pastoral message on domestic violence, When I Call for Help, namely, that no one in a marriage is obliged to maintain common living with an abusing spouse. We want to assure people who are caught in the tragedy of an abusive marriage that the Church is committed to offering them support and assistance." ## Scripture Study

Tuesdays 7-8 PM
Grahmann Center

The Minor Prophets of the Bible are named that only because of the length of their writings. Their writings are inspired by God and the messages they put forth also deal with our human journey and insight into our redemption and the Redeemer.

Saint Jerome:

"The Scriptures are shallow enough for a babe to come and drink without fear of drowning and deep enough for theologians to swim in without ever reaching the bottom."
