Thirteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

FROM THE DESK OF THE PASTOR

Why did Jesus go all the way to Jairus's house and take his little daughter by the hand in order to bring her back to life? Why not just do it from a distance? The woman with the hemorrhage sensed that if she could only touch Jesus' cloak she would be healed. Why didn't God cure her without her having to touch him? It is because God wants to be close to us; he wants to live in friendship with us. And since we are human beings, not angels, that closeness, that friendship requires not only spiritual contact, but physical contact as well. Today's First Reading reminds us that we were not created to live in a world full of suffering and death. Since God is our perfect Father, he doesn't want us to face these challenges alone; he comes right down beside us. "Do not be afraid; just have faith," Jesus tells the synagogue official. God doesn't have to operate through material elements like water, oil, bread, and wine, but he chooses to do so, because it fits better our spiritual/material human nature. The sacraments, church buildings, vestments, liturgy, blessings, art, music are all places where we, as human beings composed of matter and spirit, encounter God. They are instruments through which he enters into the very flesh and blood of our daily lives - just as Jesus entered into the very flesh and blood of the Virgin's womb. Our God doesn't keep his distance; he walks by our side.

Catechism of the Catholic Church

Christ the physician

1508 The Holy Spirit gives to some a special charism of healing so as to make manifest the power of the grace of the risen Lord. But even the most intense prayers do not always obtain the healing of all illnesses. Thus St. Paul must learn from the Lord that "my grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness," and that the sufferings to be endured can mean that "in my flesh I complete what is lacking in Christ's afflictions for the sake of his Body, that is, the Church."

First Saturday Pro-Life Mass

"Please join us on this and every First Saturday of the month at 8 am for our monthly Pro-Life Mass. We will join together in prayer in a special way for all life and an end to abortion. The special collection of cash and baby items will be donated to the White Rose Center." A Pro-life Rosary will be prayed after Mass.
