Don Antonio's Dispatch…

I want to start out today's article by thanking you all for your prayers and offers of help during my time of COVID quarantine. I know that the prayers helped me unite my sufferings (mild as the illness was for me) to the cross of Christ for you and your salvation, in addition to my own intentions. My refrigerator had a large amount of food from Christmas, so my needs for food were quite small, but I appreciated parishioner after parishioner offering to buy groceries for me, bring me food, etc. Your kindness was overwhelming!! I also want to thank the staff and Deacon Dave for carrying on and making up for my absence during the quarantine. I know some things fell through the cracks, but you can attribute that to my poor planning and lack of foresight. Thank you all for your patience as I get back to work in the office.

Happy Feast of the Baptism of the Lord! While Jesus did not need to be baptized (He already was the Son of God, did not have original sin to wash away, and is the Head of the Church), He gives us this sign that He is taking upon Himself all of who we are, and gives us an example of how we can be united to Him.

While we often focus on Baptism washing away original sin (which is very true) and the ordinary means of being saved, it is important that baptism begins the salvific process which extends throughout our entire life. Too many Catholics have treated it as a special day, which has no connection to the days, weeks, months, years, and decades that follow afterward. Parents promise, in the Rite of Baptism, that they will raise the child in the faith and set a good example for their children in the faith throughout the child's entire life, not just on that one day.

The nature of godparents, too, has become muddled throughout the year. Godparents do not have to adopt the children if the parents die (quite a big commitment) on the one hand, nor is it simply an honorific that has no connection to the Catholic faith or the child after that special day. Godparents are required by the Church to be living witnesses of the Catholic faith, so they need to be going to church, living according to the teachings of the church, serving the poor, and exhibiting a daily prayer life. That way the child has not only his or her parents, but also others to show him or her how to be a practicing Catholic. Please keep this in mind when you are choosing godparents. If you still choose other traditions for godparents, that's fine, but know that the Church only expects them to be good witnesses of the faith.

Here's our Catechism paragraph for the week:

Grace is a participation in the life of God. It introduces us to the intimacy of Trinitarian life: by Baptism the Christian participates in the grace of Christ, the Head of his Body. As an "adopted son" he can henceforth call God "Father," in union with the only Son. He receives the life of the Spirit who breathes charity into him and who forms the Church. (n. 1997)

Faith Formation at St. Pius X

"Our civilization stands on the shoulders of our ancestors. To attempt progress without the light of tradition is to stumble about in the dark." (Reclaiming Vatican II, Fr. Blake Britton)

This statement stands out as a reminder that our identity comes by the light of those who have gone before us. For the Church, that foundation exists in the person of Jesus Christ.

We do not dismiss our past, because that is where we find our roots. To put it simply, "The faith that the apostles handed on to the early Church is the same faith we hold today". (stpaulcenter.com)

The gift of the Second Vatican Council is for the entire Church. The documents that came out of it clarify and solidify who we are. The Catechism of the Catholic Church was compiled about 20 years after the Council because John Paul II felt everyone needed to have access to the vast wisdom contained in its body of work.

So essential is Vatican II to the Church, Pope Francis has said that, "to doubt the Council is to doubt the intentions of those very Fathers who exercised their collegial power (with and under Peter) . . . and in the final analysis, to doubt the Holy Spirit himself who guides the Church."

With the light of Tradition, there is no reason we should "stumble about in the dark." Confident that the Holy Spirit is a trusted guide for, and within the Church, we move forward as one, holy catholic, apostolic church.

"And sing the love amazing..."

"God rest you merry, gentlemen…" Yes, we are still singing Christmas carols! The text of this beloved English carol dates back to the 1600s. The historical meaning of the phrase "God rest you merry" is "May God grant you peace and happiness." It was a common, everyday phrase in 16th century England. (Shakespeare uses the phrase "God rest you merry" in As You Like It.)

Thus, the opening phrase (to our modern ears) should read, "Gentlemen, may God grant you peace and happiness." The ending of the first verse foreshadows the Saint Michael prayer:

Remember Christ our Saviour was born on Christmas Day, to save us all from Satan's power when we were gone astray;
