LOOKING THROUGH STAINED GLASS

A Column by Fr. Tom

Life in Christ – Part 9: Love – The Greatest of These is Love!

During Lent, we explored the Capital Sins as a way to help us examine our consciences and prepare for Easter. Now that the Easter season has arrived, we will turn our focus to the virtues. First, we will explore the Theological Virtues of Faith, Hope and Love. Later, we will discuss the Cardinal Virtues – Prudence, Justice, Fortitude and Temperance.

In one of the most famous passages from Scripture, Paul writes to the Corinthians a treatise on love that is used in many wedding ceremonies.

[cf. 1 Cor. 13] This treatise includes these words: “So faith, hope, love remain, these three; but the greatest of these is love.” [1 Cor. 13:13] This passage introduces us to the theological virtues and tells us that the greatest virtue is Love. In our examination of the Capital Sins, we expressed that Pride is the first of all sins and that all sins spring from Pride. [cf. Looking Through Stained Glass, “Life in Christ – Part 2: Pride – Good For You?”, Feb. 24, 2019] As we examine the virtues, we will see that Love is first of all virtues and also the virtue from which all others are born, as suggested in the above quote from St. Paul. It is God’s love that brings us both faith and hope, and our love for God and neighbor that encourages us to practice the Cardinal Virtues. The Catechism of the Catholic Church (CCC) explains it this way: “The practice of all the virtues is animated and inspired by charity [or Love], which ‘binds everything together in perfect harmony’ [Col. 3:14]; it is the form of the virtues; it articulates and orders them among themselves; it is the source and the goal of their Christian practice. [Love] upholds and purifies our human ability to love, and raises it to the supernatural perfection of divine love.” [CCC 1827] It is this elevation of love to the divine that helps us to realize that Love is a theological, as well as human, virtue. After all, we learn from Sacred Scripture that “God is love.” [1 JN 4:8]

Love is also known as a theological virtue because it is the virtue on which the mission of Christ was based and it is the one new commandment that He gave us. “This is my commandment: love one another as I love you.” [JN 15:12] Because love was the basis of Jesus’ mission and He gave that mission to us, love is our mission too. Since Love is of God, our human actions of love come from God and return to Him. The Catechism tells us, “[Love] is the theological virtue by which we love God above all things for his own sake, and our neighbor as ourselves for the love of God.” [CCC 1822] Therefore, the virtue of Love animates our actions and produces good fruit. The fruit of this virtue are “joy, peace, and mercy.” [CCC 1829] Love brings joy, peace, and mercy to us and to the ones who receive our love.

If all sins begin with Pride and Love begins all virtue, then it makes sense that the greatest weapon of defense against Pride is Love. Love humbles sinful Pride. Pride brings discord and Love brings concord. Pride seeks the good of the self and Love seeks the good of the other. Pride caused the disobedience of Adam and Love brought the obedience of Christ.

Next week, we will continue our discussion of the Theological Virtues with an examination of the virtue of Faith.

SECOND SUNDAY OF EASTER (or Sunday of Divine Mercy)

SEEING IS BELIEVING

Seeing is believing! Since cellphone screens connect us instantly to social media, live TV, and loved ones' faces near and far, "Doubting Thomas" could be our patron saint: "Unless I see, I will not believe!" But how comforting for any of us who share Thomas's doubt, or love "doubters" who do, to see how kindly Jesus responds. By offering the very evidence that Thomas demanded, Jesus doesn't scold Thomas, but seems to understand such skepticism. Could Jesus have been thinking of us, who long to believe that "Jesus is risen!" but see so much suffering, and perhaps even cause some, that we wonder, how could something so wonderful be true? In today's reading from the Acts of the Apostles, the risen Jesus' healing love comforts through disciples who love others. In Revelation, "our brother John" doesn't just claim he saw Jesus alive, but passes on Jesus' life-giving words, "Do not be afraid." Seeing Jesus in others is believing!

CATHOLIC SOCIAL

Rerum Novarum (On the Rights and Duties of Capital and Labor) was written in 1891 by Pope Leo XIII, regarding human rights and economics:

But if the question be asked: How must one's possessions be used? - the Church replies without hesitation in the words of [St. Thomas Aquinas]: "Man should not consider his material possessions as his own, but as common to all, so as to share them without hesitation when others are in need."

Challenge Question: What can I share from my own good fortune, in the way of my time, talent, or treasure, as an act of mercy toward those less fortunate? Might this quote change the way I think about my possessions?

Merciful Father, You desire the welfare of all your children. Stretch out Your protecting arm over our men and women in the service. Shield them from every danger to body, mind and soul. Comfort them in loneliness, sustain them in hardship, give them the courage they need to fulfill their duty and so do Your will in all things. Bestow on our leaders and the leaders of the world the wisdom and prudence which will bring peace and justice to all.
This we ask through Jesus Christ, Your Son, Our Lord. Amen. Mary, help of Christians, pray for us.
