FOURTH SUNDAY OF EASTER SHEPHERDS LIKE JESUS

Each year this Fourth Sunday of Easter celebrates Jesus the Good Shepherd. Today's Gospel seems especially timely, for as Christians worldwide suffer persecution like Paul and Barnabas, Jesus promises his sheep enduring, invincible safety: "They shall never perish. No one can take them out of my hand." But we who are free to live our faith peacefully sometimes take our membership in Jesus' flock for granted, wandering astray to seek our own pleasure and prosperity. The simple cross that Pope Francis always wears seems to show us how Jesus responds to that. Francis's cross features an image of Jesus, who has sought and found a lost sheep, then joyfully set it on his shoulders to carry it gently home. May Good Shepherd Sunday inspire us, so often lost and found ourselves, to assist Jesus in seeking, finding, and gently carrying home our fellow precious lambs. Copyright © J. S. Paluch.

LOOKING THROUGH STAINED GLASS

A Column by Fr. Tom

Life in Christ – Part 11: Hope – Do You Hope in God? I Hope So.

Over the last two weeks, we discussed the Theological Virtues of Love and Faith. We will now turn our focus to the third Theological Virtue: Hope.

You may remember in a previous column that the term Pride was confusing because it had multiple definitions. [cf. Looking Through Stained Glass, “Life in Christ – Part 2: Pride – Good For You?”, Feb 24, 2019] Like Pride, Hope has multiple definitions. However, unlike Pride, the two main definitions of Hope are both positive. According to the Oxford Dictionary, hope means either “1. A feeling of expectation and desire for a particular thing to happen” or “2. A feeling of trust.” The first definition is how we use “hope” in common speech. For example, we might say, “I hope it doesn’t rain on our parade.” This is not the Theological Virtue of Hope. The second definition of hope begins to move toward the Catholic definition of Hope. According to the Catechism of the Catholic Church (CCC), “Hope is the theological virtue by which we desire the kingdom of heaven and eternal life as our happiness, placing our trust in Christ’s promises and relying not on our own strength, but on the help of the grace of the Holy Spirit.” [CCC, 1817] We can see from the above definition from the Catechism that Hope is not just a desire for something positive – in fact the ultimate positive thing, Heaven – but it is also trust that God will make this happen.

As we mentioned in the column on the Theological Virtue of Love, Love is the spring from which all the Virtues come. Because of God’s love for us, He wants us to be with Him in Heaven, and this is the source of our Hope. God gives us the grace of Hope, so that we might not only desire Heaven, or even be optimistic about the possibility of Heaven, but God’s grace gives us trust that he wants Heaven for those who trust in Him.

We can also say that Faith helps us with the Virtue of Hope. Faith and Hope are interdependent. Our Faith in God gives us a reason for Hope and our Hope is lived out here on Earth through our Faith. In his encyclical On Christian Hope (or Spe Salvi), Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI expressed this reality as “Faith is the substance of Hope.” [Spe Salvi, 10]

As alluded to above, Hope is not just a Virtue for the afterlife. It is, as all virtues are, a grace of God that helps us live this life too. In Paul’s Letter to the Romans, he expresses it this way, “...We wait for adoption, the redemption of our bodies. For in hope we were saved. Now hope that sees for itself is not hope. For who hopes for what one sees? But if we hope for what we do not see, we wait with endurance.” In the encyclical mentioned above, Benedict takes this Scripture as his basis and begins, “Redemption is offered to us in the sense that we have been given hope, trustworthy hope, by virtue of which we can face our present: the present, even if it is arduous, can be lived and accepted if it leads towards a goal, if we can be sure of this goal, and if this goal is great enough to justify the effort of the journey.” [Spe Salvi, 1] So, the Pope Emeritus is affirming that the Hope we are given from God’s grace, not only applies to Heaven, but can help us as we live in this world, especially when events of this world present us with challenges and trials. So, Hope helps us persevere.

Next week, we will begin our discussion of the Cardinal Virtues: Prudence, Justice, Fortitude, and Temperance.

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ:

As we celebrate the 53rd World Communications Day, the theme chosen by our Holy Father comes from St Paul's Letter to the Ephesians, "We are members of one another" (Eph 4:25), From Network Communities to Human Communities.

In his message for World Communications Day, Pope Francis references the internet and the "communities" formed by the various models of social communication. The Pope invites us to model ourselves on the original "network", the Holy Trinity. "This is the network we want, a network created not to entrap, but to liberate, to protect a communion of people who are free. The Church herself is a network woven together by Eucharistic communion, where unity is based not on "likes", but on the truth, on the "Amen", by which each one clings to the Body of Christ, and welcomes others (Vatican, January 24, 2019).

On the weekend of May 11 & 12 the diocese will have a special collection for the Catholic Communication Campaign (CCC). Half of the CCC collection will fund the national communication efforts of the U.S. Bishops. The remainder funds our diocesan communications projects like the television Mass, the Florida Catholic newspaper, our diocesan website, electronic newsletters, and various forms of social media.

Our special collection On May 11 & 12 also supports Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., the national university of the Catholic Church. As the only institution of higher education in the U.S. founded by our bishops and chartered by the Vatican, the university educates clergy, religious, and lay faithful from across the nation.

Because of your support of the CCC and Catholic University collections, millions of faithful will have the opportunity to deepen their faith through media resources and Catholic education.

With gratitude for your continued generosity and every prayerful wish, I am

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Most Reverend Gerald M. Barbarito
Bishop of Palm Beach

CATHOLIC SOCIAL

Mater et Magistra:
Christianity and Social Progress
(John XXIII, 1961)

"One may not take as the ultimate criteria in economic life the interests of individuals or organized groups, nor unregulated competition, nor excessive power on the part of the wealthy, nor the vain honor of the nation or its desire for domination, nor anything of this sort. Rather, it is necessary that economic undertaking be governed by justice and charity as the principal laws of social life." (#38-39)

Challenge Question: This document, written in 1961, can be applied to the realities we face as citizens of nations today. How does this challenge from John XXIII speak to the present rise of nationalism around the globe? Does excessive nationalism, which is different than patriotism, promote justice and charity?

Merciful Father, You desire the welfare of all your children. Stretch out Your protecting arm over our men and women in the service. Shield them from every danger to body, mind and soul. Comfort them in loneliness, sustain them in hardship, give them the courage they need to fulfill their duty and so do Your will in all things. Bestow on our leaders and the leaders of the world the wisdom and prudence which will bring peace and justice to all.

This we ask through Jesus Christ, Your Son, Our Lord. Amen. Mary, help of Christians, pray for us.
