Reflection

By Brian Kirby

Today more than ever on our Lenten journey we hear a call to return to the Lord. In our lives we can all be like the prodigal son from the Gospel reading, seeking to go our own way and make our own choices. We must all seek to understand that a life lived with God in His joy and love is something to be greatly desired. How great is the love that God has for us that even when we sin and turn away from Him, he always welcomes us back with open arms! Let us try and imitate this incredible expression of unconditional love in our own lives this week, and through it seek the face of God in each other. May God bless you this week!
