A VIEW FROM THE PEW

The Lord said to her in reply, "Martha, Martha, you are anxious and worried about many things. There is need of only one thing. Mary has chosen the better part and it will not be taken from her (Luke 10:41-42)."

GOSPEL REFLECTION

The Gospel is from St. Luke, 10:38-42 and recounts the familiar story of Martha and Mary. St Augustine comments on this scene as follows: "Martha, who was arranging and preparing the Lord's meal, was busy doing many things, whereas Mary preferred to find her meal in what the Lord was saying. In a way she deserted her sister, who was very busy, and sat herself down at Jesus' feet and just listened to his words. She was faithfully obeying what the Psalm said: 'Be still, and know that I am God' (Ps 46:10). Martha was getting annoyed, Mary was feasting; the former coping with many things, the latter concentrating on one. Both occupations were good" (Sermon 103).

Martha has come to be, as it were, the symbol of the active life, and Mary that of the contemplative life. However, for most Christians, called as they are to sanctify themselves in the middle of the world, action and contemplation cannot be regarded as two opposite ways of practicing the Christian faith: an active life forgetful of union with God is useless and barren; but an apparent life of prayer which shows no concern for apostolate and the sanctification of ordinary things also fails to please God. The key lies in being able to combine these two lives, without either harming the other. Close union between action and contemplation can be achieved in very different ways, depending on the specific vocation each person is given by God.

Stewardship Corner: If you want to know what it means to live and grow as a good steward, you need look no further than Jesus. Everything about Jesus' life and teaching speaks to the life of the steward. In the Gospels, Jesus goes beyond himself for the sake of others. Jesus gave food, forgiveness, healing, and compassion. He sacrificed everything, and He calls us to do the same.

Peace and Social Justice Ministry

"I give you a new commandment that you love one another as I love you." John 13:34

Today's Quotes

God gave my parents lots of patience, I wish I hadn't used up so much of it.

My dad will be the angel in heaven who knows how to operate a miter saw.

No water's too deep with God as your floaties.

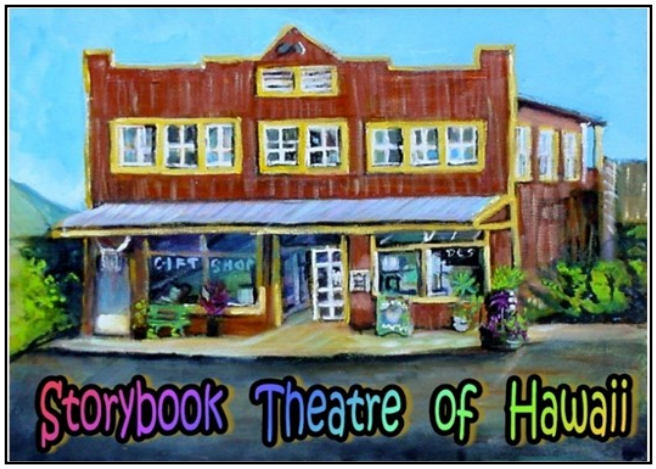
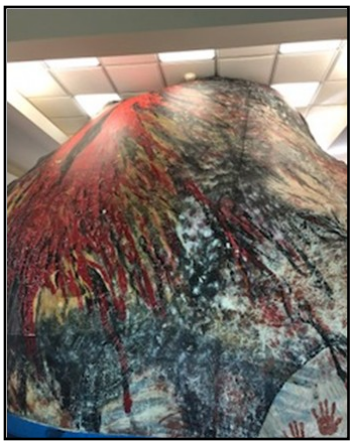
SCHOOL NEWS

MARY, STAR OF THE SEA EARLY LEARNING CENTER
Presents All About Volcanoes!



Featuring Mark Jeffers' Story Book Theatre of Hawaii


Mark Jeffers, Executive Director of The Storybook Theatre, recently visited the ELC to share his "traveling" education program along with his huge inflatable volcano. The study of volcanoes has been a "hot" topic at the ELC 2019 summer session program. It provides important information about volcanoes, their impact on the environment; plants and animals of the volcano habitat; Hawaiian legends and "Madam Pele" associated with volcanic eruptions; field trips and more! The ELC 2019 summer program curriculum also focuses on providing students with knowledge about volcanoes in our environment, and their cultural significance to Hawaii. The Storybook Theatre located in Hanapepe, Kauai is a non-profit organization whose main purpose is to create, produce and distribute educational children's programs that focus on building stronger families and local communities through literacy, health and wellness, peacemaking skills, and personal character development. For the past 23 years, Storybook Theatre has been producing broadcast television programs that provide quality family entertainment with an educational flavor for families of children ages 0 to 8 years old.
