Gospel Reading

John 1:29-34

John testifies that Jesus is the Lamb of God, God's own Son.

Background on the Gospel Reading

This Sunday we break from our reading of Matthew's Gospel (the primary Gospel for our current liturgical cycle, Cycle A) to read from John's Gospel. We heard Matthew's account of Jesus' baptism last Sunday, on the feast of the Baptism of the Lord. Today, we hear John the Baptist's testimony about Jesus as found in John's Gospel. John's Gospel differs from the other Gospels because John does not describe Jesus' baptism by John the Baptist. Instead, John the Baptist announces that he knows that Jesus is the Son of God.

In today's reading, John the Baptist sees Jesus approaching and cries out, giving witness about who Jesus is. In John's testimony he says that he saw the Spirit descend upon Jesus. By this sign, John the Baptist knew that Jesus was the one who is to come after him.

John the Baptist uses two titles for Jesus that are familiar to us. John calls Jesus the "Lamb of God" and the "Son of God." By using these titles, John the Baptist identifies Jesus' ultimate purpose: to redeem sinful humanity.

John the Baptist's testimony about Jesus clearly distinguishes John's baptism from the Baptism that Jesus will inaugurate. John baptizes with water; Jesus will baptize with the Holy Spirit. John also puts his practice of baptism in the context of Jesus' ministry. The purpose of John's baptism was to make Jesus known to Israel.

John the Baptist's sense of purpose is clearly identified in this reading: he baptized in order to prepare for and make known the ministry of the One who was to follow. John's witness is an excellent example of what it means to be a disciple. By our Baptism, we are called to make Jesus known to all the world by our words and by the witness of our lives.

Virtues, Explained!

PEACE

What is peace, in the context of Catholic virtue?

The peace of God, writes Paul in his Letter to the Philippians, "surpasses all understanding." (Phil. 4:7) Peace is both a fruit of charity (CCC 1829) and a fruit of the Spirit (CCC 1832). Our modern Catholic understanding of peace is derived from the Hebrew concept of shalom, or wholeness, and it refers not just to an absence of violence (mandated by the fifth commandment) but to a personal reconciliation with one's Creator. Peace is a spiritual effect of the Sacrament of Reconciliation (CCC 1496).

Our search for interior peace in our hearts parallels the historic struggle of mankind to realize peace in the world by practicing justice. "When we hear the Gospel, dear brothers and sisters," said Pope Benedict, "we learn to build peace on the truth of a daily life inspired by the commandment of love."

Religious Education for All Ages

The Kingdom of God is Within You TOO

A federal law in 1994 established this Monday as a day of volunteer service. This legislation transformed the original intent to honor the birthday of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. And you imagined that this long weekend was an opportunity to sleep in. We're relieved from the obligations of work on Monday. Schools are closed for another holiday. Banks and the stock market do not transact business. Many of our local schools in our neighborhood emphasize this focus with a day of organized service. Such requirements that our neighborhood schools aim to instill in our children dovetail nicely with our own religious education efforts. Our faith without the good works of service is dead.

How did Dr King inspire a concern for service? To answer that question we need to rewind the chronological tape and work backward in time. As the foremost leader of the civil rights era he dreamt of a time when all people would be judged on character and not the color of their skin. Despite the tumult of his times, MLK was the unfailing advocate of non-violent methods to achieve his aims. What and who were the source of MLK's inspiration?

MLK & his advisers were well-schooled in their Christian beliefs. They were inspired by the teachings of Mahatma Gandhi. Gandhi led his Indian people to their independence from the British Empire. Gandhi's primary approach was non-violent resistance too. He found his inspiration in the unlikely person of a Russian novelist, Leo Tolstoy. In his later years Leo famously had a very real religious conversion.

Two millennia before Leo's epiphany Jesus gave us a new understanding of our obligations for a good life. He distilled the rules of the Ten Commandments to two simple directives: Love God and Love your neighbor as yourself. We demonstrate such love for one another by performing the Works of Mercy. Taken together, these lessons from the Sermon on the Mount form the core of our faith that we express in our actions. St Augustine called them the "highest morals and perfect standard for those who seek the path of perfection and the Kingdom of God." They are the fundamental recipe for living a good life by doing what we know is right. Such discourses in Matthew are teaching moments. From them we learn, like Leo, how we will be judged by the good that we do in the Corporal Works of Mercy (Matthew 25: 25 cf). Jesus' exhortation to "love your enemies" by "turning the other cheek" (Matthew 5: 42) has long been interpreted as the inspiration for nonviolent resistance to oppressive authority.

While his greatest works might be considered "War and Peace" or "Anna Karenina," Leo boldly announced his newfound understanding of the lessons of the Sermon on the Mount in "What I Believe." What impressed him most was the powerful simplicity of the notion of to "turn the other cheek." It is, of course, the commandment of non-violent resistance to evil. Tolstoy in the style of his day formulated a non-violent pacifism to conflict. He realized that the Kingdom of God that Jesus proclaimed on the Mount is actually "The Kingdom of God Within You." A true follower of Christ could find lasting beatific happiness by following the Greatest Commandment to love God and one's neighbor. Neighbor is inclusively defined to also encompass our enemies. In a remarkable moment of unusual synchronicity, we hear Jesus proclaim next Sunday in Matt's Gospel that the "Kingdom of God is at hand." The following week's Gospel presents the Beatitudes that Jesus pronounced on His Sermon on the Mount.

Tolstoy unhesitatingly offered his fervent belief in this approach in his "Letters to a Hindu." Leo ardently believed that this principle of non-violence was the means for India to gain its independence from Britain. Leo and Mahatmas exchanged letters on this matter. Gandhi called Tolstoy "the greatest apostle of non-violence in our present age" and one of the three most important influences in his life. It was this love, expressed as a weapon of passive non-violent resistance, that enabled India to finally overthrow its colonial past.

MLK saw both Leo & Gandhi as “special individuals whose actions greatly reveal the working of the spirit of God. Their non-violent resistance is the most potent weapon for the oppressed in their struggle for justice and human dignity.” These words are the essence of Catholic Social Teaching whose precepts are perhaps best embodied by Dorothy Day. She was a contemporary of both Gandhi and MLK. As a writer she had interviewed both for the newspaper she published called the “Catholic Worker.” It continues to this day as a movement for peace and social justice through non-violent pacifism and direct action of the Corporal Works of Mercy. Pope Francis, in his 2015 visit to the US Congress, specifically praised Dorothy Day and MLK (and Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Merton) for “their passion for social justice and the cause of the oppressed as inspired by the Gospel of Matthew.”

The summary of our Venn diagram of interconnections for this week is: Sermon on the Mount, Greatest Commandment, Tolstoy, Gandhi, MLK, Dorothy Day, non-violent resistance and works of mercy. Got all that? 8 concepts in 16 words. Good!

Have you found The Kingdom of God Within You? “Rejoice and be glad for your heavenly reward will be great.”(Matthew 5:12) Use MLK’s day to establish a routine of service. Thoughts inspire intention which prods action which becomes habit that defines your character which becomes your destiny. And reserves your place in the kingdom. ©Michael Cap ‘26

February: For children with incurable diseases

Let us pray that children suffering from incurable diseases and their families receive the necessary medical care and support, never losing strength and hope.

March: For disarmament and peace

Let us pray that nations move toward effective disarmament, particularly nuclear disarmament, and that world leaders choose the path of dialogue and diplomacy instead of violence.

April: For priests in crisis

Let us pray for priests going through moments of crisis in their vocation, that they may find the accompaniment they need and that communities may support them with understanding and prayer.

May: That everyone might have food

Let us pray that everyone, from large producers to small consumers, be committed to avoid wasting food and to ensure that everyone has access to quality food.

June: For the values of sports

Let us pray that sports be an instrument of peace, encounter, and dialogue among cultures and nations, and that they promote values such as respect, solidarity, and personal growth.

July: For respect for human life

Let us pray for the respect and protection of human life in all its stages, recognizing it as a gift from God.

August: For evangelization in the city

Let us pray that in large cities often marked by anonymity and loneliness we find new ways to proclaim the Gospel, discovering creative paths to build community.

September: For the care of water

Let us pray for a just and sustainable management of water, a vital resource, so that everyone may have equal access to it.

October: For mental health ministry

Let us pray that mental health ministry be established throughout the Church, helping to overcome the stigma and discrimination of persons with mental illnesses.

November: For the proper use of wealth

Let us pray for the proper use of wealth, that not succumbing to the temptation of selfishness, it may always be put at the service of the common good and solidarity of those who have less.

December: For single-parent families

Let us pray for families experiencing the absence of a mother or father, that they may find support and accompaniment in the Church, and help and strength in the faith during difficult times.
