Fourth Sunday of Lent March 11, 2018 COMMUNAL RESPONSIBILITY

The people of God forgot the covenant and flouted God's laws. They did not listen to the prophets among them, who spoke for God in warning them. Prophets are sent from God to remind us why we are here, but they are often, even in our own time, mocked, disregarded, and mistreated rather than thanked and listened to.

The book of Chronicles tells the results of these sins: the destruction of the temple and all of Jerusalem, murder, mayhem, and finally exile to a foreign land. Why are these stories in the Bible? Just to inform us of what happened to our ancient forebears? What good would that be unless there were a message and a warning for us as well? Are we people who follow the teachings of God, who obey the words of Christ in the second covenant in his blood? Or do we continue to wreak works of darkness and violence? We are reminded by these readings that we will be judged as a people, not just as individuals

From the desk of our pastor, Father Tony Neusch.

“Rich in mercy.” I can only speak for myself but this image of God is my favorite. Our God is rich in mercy. So rich in mercy that it overflows into the fabric of salvation. The letter to the Ephesians tells us that the Mercy of God is born of love. A love that is expressed in the Incarnation of the Son. We are so loved that the Word of God became man so that we may return to full communion with God, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. In His gracious mercy the Son preached the truth, and healed the sick, and forgave the sinner, and when that was not enough to melt frozen hearts, he carried the cross to his own death. He shed his blood for our sake. Mercy poured out upon the human family from the wounds of Christ, and we are made new.
