FROM THE DESK OF THE PASTOR

Dear Friends in Christ,

Our gospel for this Sunday is taken from the beginning of the 5th chapter of the Gospel of Matthew. This passage is often referred to as the beatitudes. The Merriam-Webster dictionary defines beatitude as a state of utmost bliss; some of the synonyms it lists for beatitude are: happiness, blessedness, bliss, felicity, gladness and joy. It seems to me that beatitude describes a very desirable state of being.

However, some of the beatitudes mentioned in the gospel seem to be the opposite of gladness and joy. For when Jesus says "Blessed are the poor, the mourners, the meek and the persecuted", it does not conjure up images of happy people. Few people aspire to poverty, grief or persecution! So what can we take away from Jesus' words to us this week?

First, we must recognize that at various times in life we will grieve. At other times we may have trouble making ends meet. And we may be persecuted in some way or another for standing up for Jesus or His Church. Jesus' message is one of hope for He is describing life in God's kingdom where there will be no mourning or want or persecution. Mercy and grace will abound and injustice will cease. The very audience that Jesus spoke these words to existed under a cloud of uncertainty and the ever-present threat of violence. Jesus' words expressed anew that of which the prophets and psalmists of the Old Testament oft spoke:

Those who sow in tears
Will reap with cries of joy.
Those who forth weeping,
Carrying sacks of seed,
Will return with cries of joy.
Carrying their bundled sheaves.

(Psalm 126:5-6)

It is no wonder that many people choose today's gospel for the funeral of loved ones. It expresses both the reality of grief in the present and the comfort that the Lord brings. It is a gospel of hope that defines us as a people who hope and wait for the goodness of the Lord, no matter how good or bad our present circumstances.

Today marks the beginning of Catholic Schools Week, the national celebration of what makes Catholic education exceptional and what we offer the families in our community. We have planned a variety of activities for students, families and community members, in celebration of what makes Catholic education unique.

At Guardian Angels Catholic School, we are proud to offer an education that is distinctive among educational institutions in our community. We are a recognized school of excellence as repeatedly proven by our standardized test scores on the Iowa Assessment. We are excited to have the opportunity during Catholic Schools Week to share what our students are learning and what they have accomplished. If you would like to visit our campus for a tour, please call 799-6724 today! Let us help you discover ways to make a Catholic education a possibility for your children.
