Fatima Worldwide Children's Holy Hour at the Basilica:

The International World Apostolate of Fatima's children's program, Children of the Eucharist, Young Missionaries of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, cordially invites everyone to gather your children and make a pilgrimage to the Basilica of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, on Friday, October 13, 10:00am. This will mark the 15th annual Worldwide Children's Eucharistic Holy Hour, in honor of the 100th Anniversary of Our Lady of Fatima. EWTN will broadcast to over 140 nations. As you know on this recent May 13th at Fatima, Portugal, the Holy Father Pope Francis canonized the Little Shepherds of Fatima, now Saint Francisco Marto and Saint Jacinta Marto. At Fatima, our Blessed Mother taught these children that 'prayer and sacrifice' will bring peace to our families and world. Begin planning for this 'Eucharistic and Marian Pilgrimage' giving students the opportunity to pray for peace in their own families and all the families of the world. This Holy Hour gives a unique opportunity to spiritually unite with children throughout the world. To RSVP email Kathleen Fitzpatrick at FatimaHolyHour@gmail.com

Respect Life News: R. Mary Hayden Lemmons, Associate Professor of Philosophy at the University of St. Thomas in Minneapolis and current president of University Faculty for Life (uffl.org) published an article recently on the philosophical implications of assisted suicide and assisted suicide laws. In her article, titled "Compassion, Assisted Suicide and the Problem of Suffering," she writes, in part: "Assisted suicide laws instigate a bioethics not only contrary to the best medical practices of medicine but also to the philosophy of rights found in the Declaration of Independence. Yet the legalization of assisted suicide continues primarily due to the utilitarian argument that since life cannot be meaningful when autonomy and health are compromised, assisted suicide laws are compassionate. "To "the contrary," Professor Lemmons, writes, such laws "mask a...cruelty that interferes with the ability of the suffering to receive the support that they need. Especially crucial is the philosophical support that alleviates spiritual suffering by assigning it meaning in a variety of ways that is both compassionate and compatible with religious beliefs. Helping the suffering assign meaning to suffering is what true compassion requires of both medical professionals and family members. We quote or paraphrase below several other passages from her article to indicate something more of its content. She writes for example: "Although assisted suicide laws are promoted as compassionate, they paradoxically eviscerate compassion" in several ways. One way is that such laws "require adopting a utilitarian philosophy contrary to the founding philosophy of this country, as expressed by the Declaration of Independence. The Declaration identified life as an inalienable right ---not as a right conditioned by its pleasantness" Moreover, pleasant for whom, she asks. Utilitarians say "pleasantness is valuable only to those who are self-aware, autonomous and rational... and that the value of those lives" without these "properties is determined by on-lookers." Therefore the lives of people in a coma or those in a condition of advanced senility, according to utilitarians, would have no value. Regarding true compassion, she writes, in part, that it is incompatible with all forms of assisted suicide because assisted suicide "allows pain and suffering to triumph over the value of human life.... the ultimate cruelty" of assisted suicide treats "suffering as the worst of all possible evils---as if transcendence were not possible. Compassionate love abhors the cruelty embedded in the notion that suffering can make a human being's life worthless. No person's life is worthless---but that is not the philosophy of suicide and assisted suicide. And that is the reason why the legalization of assisted suicide introduces a vicious philosophy of person that threatens the suffering with resentment and intolerance" (Life and Learning, XXV (2015), pages 209-224). New Miscarriage Sections at Catholic Cemeteries:

According to the American Academy of Family Physicians, nearly one in four women experience an early pregnancy loss in her lifetime. Yet, women who lose their baby in the first trimester often do not know their right to claim and respectfully bury what the medical community calls "the product of conception" after a miscarriage. No matter how early the loss, many Catholic couples long to name, inter, and remember their baby as an eternal member of the family. Catholic Cemeteries now offers burial options to answer that great desire of their hearts. For more information on the new Miscarried Baby Sections at Catholic Cemeteries, contact your parish priest or the manager at Gate of Heaven Cemetery (13801 Georgia Ave., Silver Spring, MD; 301-871-6500); Resurrection Cemetery (8000 Woodyard Rd., Clinton, MD; 301-868-5141); All Souls Cemetery (11401 Brink Rd., Germantown, MD; 301-428-1995), or St. Mary's Queen of Peace

Marriage Preparation Program: Rockville, MD. July 22, 9:00 - 4:30pm. The Sacramental Preparation for Marriage program is designed to complement the preparation you are receiving from the priest or deacon that will witness your marriage. It is only one piece, albeit a very important one, of the six-month preparation required by the Archdiocese of Washington. We encourage you to look into taking a pre-marital assessment tool (such as the FOCCUS or Prepare/Enrich tools) and/or to request a mentor couple in your parish to meet with and discuss your up-coming marriage. Because marriage is a vocation, a call to holiness, our purpose and goal is to offer you some important information you will need regarding your upcoming marriage in the Catholic Church. Two consecutive Saturdays, 9:00 – 4:30 pm (July 22 and 29) To Register: Please email to flm@adw.org or call Course Office at 301-853-5334.
