Reflections on St. Joseph by Pope Francis: (Continued)

7. A father in the shadows

Children today often seem orphans, lacking fathers. The Church too needs fathers. Saint Paul's words to the Corinthians remain timely: "Though you have countless guides in Christ, you do not have many fathers" (1 Cor 4:15). Every priest or bishop should be able to add, with the Apostle: "I became your father in Christ Jesus through the Gospel" (ibid.).

Paul likewise calls the Galatians: "My little children, with whom I am again in travail until Christ be formed in you!" (4:19).

Being a father entails introducing children to life and reality. Not holding them back, being overprotective or possessive, but rather making them capable of deciding for themselves, enjoying freedom and exploring new possibilities. Perhaps for this reason, Joseph is traditionally called a "most chaste" father. That title is not simply a sign of affection, but the summation of an attitude that is the opposite of possessiveness. Chastity is freedom from possessiveness in every sphere of one's life. Only when love is chaste, is it truly love. A possessive love ultimately becomes dangerous: it imprisons, constricts and makes for misery. God himself loved humanity with a chaste love; he left us free even to go astray and set ourselves against him. The logic of love is always the logic of freedom, and Joseph knew how to love with extraordinary freedom. He never made himself the center of things. He did not think of himself, but focused instead on the lives of Mary and Jesus.

Reflexiones sobre San José del Papa Francisco:

7. Padre en la sombra

En la sociedad de nuestro tiempo, los niños a menudo parecen no tener padre. También la Iglesia de hoy en día necesita padres. La amonestación dirigida por san Pablo a los Corintios es siempre oportuna: «Podrán tener diez mil instructores, pero padres no tienen muchos» (1 Co 4,15); y cada sacerdote u obispo debería poder decir como el Apóstol: «Fui yo quien los engendré para Cristo al anunciarles el Evangelio» (ibíd.). Y a los Gálatas les dice: «Hijos míos, por quienes de nuevo sufro dolores de parto hasta que Cristo sea formado en ustedes» (4,19).

Ser padre significa introducir al niño en la experiencia de la vida, en la realidad. No para retenerlo, no para encerrarlo, no para poseerlo, sino para hacerlo capaz de elegir, de ser libre, de salir. Quizás por esta razón la tradición también le ha puesto a José, junto al apelativo de padre, el de “castísimo”. No es una indicación meramente afectiva, sino la síntesis de una actitud que expresa lo contrario a poseer. La castidad está en ser libres del afán de poseer en todos los ámbitos de la vida. Sólo cuando un amor es casto es un verdadero amor. El amor que quiere poseer, al final, siempre se vuelve peligroso, aprisiona, sofoca, hace infeliz. Dios mismo amó al hombre con amor casto, dejándolo libre incluso para equivocarse y ponerse en contra suya. La lógica del amor es siempre una lógica de libertad, y José fue capaz de amar de una manera extraordinariamente libre. Nunca se puso en el centro. Supo cómo descentrarse, para poner a María y a Jesús en el centro de su vida.
