Dear Parishioners and friends of St. Lawrence,

As we are approaching the birthdate of our country, July 4th, I offer this reflection on the State of the Union:

Every day seems to bring issues and difficulties to cope with – unemployment supplement will run out July 25 or 26, seriously affecting workers paid minimum wage; another 1.5 million (1.48 to be precise) first time unemployment claims filed last month – not counting the 700,000 gig workers who filed; rapid and substantial coronavirus increase, especially in Texas, Florida, California, and Arizona, at the same time federal funding for testing ending this week; protests have slowed but each day another person found to have died in police custody under questionable circumstances; every issue becoming polarized, even wearing face masks.

What is going on? Apart from the politicking and political positioning, we are facing serious issues that have been boiling beneath the surface – the racial divide is not new, only aggravated by the greater public awareness through the availability of videos never seen before. A growing consciousness of the power of images and words to arouse emotions and deeply held, but unquestioned, values and attitudes.

Are we going to rip our country apart or find some way of healing real and powerful divides? What are common factors that unite us beyond the political divide? What values do we really hold as a nation that form a common foundation – or are we so polarized that we will simply continue breaking or splintering into limitless factions and dissolve as a nation? Will we experience a fragmentation that "all the king's horses and all the king's men, couldn't put humpty dumpty back together again?"

A major step, in my mind, that we need to take is a realism about who we are, from where have we come, and where do we want to go. To face our history, is to face the values upheld, and the sin that is woven through that history as well. A strong Catholic teaching is on "original sin." When I was young, I had a hard time understanding that concept and never felt it fair that I should be responsible for the sin of someone else – it just wasn't fair. It was our national debt that explained it to me – no matter that I didn't spend it, as a citizen of this country, I knew that it was part of "my inheritance" as a citizen.

But behind the teaching is something much more important and that is "all of us are flawed." There are many whom we've known to be graced, but even all those declared as saints, also had their human frailty or brokenness. This is true of individuals, families, organizations, churches, cities, states, federal

PARISH MINISTRIES AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

Adult Faith Formation Column

Recently, a group from St. Lawrence participated in a study of Laudato Si, the encyclical from Pope Francis concerning our roll in stewarding the health of earth and its inhabitants. This idea of being able to make a difference in our quality of air, water and habitat for people and wildlife has spread across the globe. Young activists like Greta Thornburg from Norway have also challenged the grownups of the world to step up to the plate.

Pope Francis has called us to look at the injustice that poverty and political unrest has thrust upon an unfortunate part of the world population. Popes from the not too distant past have echoed similar sentiment concerning our treatment of the planet. God has made the earth for us to use, not abuse. Spewing pollutants into the atmosphere and the oceans is not the vision for sustaining a healthy planet.

Our group has agreed that we are committed to taking action in becoming better stewards of the earth.

There are several possibilities for involvement. Our group has multiple ways to physically engage climate change, pollution control, backyard habitat improvement, recycling and more. Other ways to be involved on the state and national level include contacting the following organizations to become part of the surge to restore our planet to health:

- Hoosier Environmental Council, a watchdog group that fights not earth friendly legislation
- Environmental Defense Fund, litigates bad legislation in federal and circuit courts around the country and mostly D.C.
- To stop mercury and air toxins visit bit.ly/no Hg80
- Sierra Club
- Arbor Foundation, for tree planting
- Study Laudato Si: On Care for our Common Home, to be informed of the Pope's thinking

Ideas for action at St. Lawrence specifically include purchasing Fair Trade Coffee, having a recycle bin next to each waste bin, especially at St. Agnes, and explore having a community garden. A homily or two by Fr. Bob on Laudato Si might also help us all understand the value of this document.

Contact Sue Wilhelm or the Parish Office to be included in our next meetings.

See next column for additional Adult Faith Formation information.

DEACON'S FOOD PANTRY
Mid-Year Report
January 1-June 16, 2020

The Pantry has now been in operation for two full years. Our original goal in year 1 (2018) was to serve 100 households. Not only did we meet that goal, we exceeded it within a few months and now have over 1100 households enrolled. Up until the current pandemic, our shopping clients averaged well over 35% each month with the remaining enrollees coming on an irregular basis. Prior to mid-March, our numbers looked like this: Households Served: 1,036; New Households Served: 104; Within Households: Children served-942; Adults Served 1,692. Because of COVID-19 restrictions, we began passing out a pre-bagged selection of food put together by Second Harvest, to anyone who visited the pantry. We added canned meat, loaf of bread, and often a gallon of milk and other staples. From March 19-June 17, we gave out 1,366 bags.

FIRST COMMUNION
Will take place this Sunday,
June 28 at 2:00 p.m.
Only immediate family may attend!
Please keep the communicants in your prayers.

Upcoming events are:
July 14: Get Away for a Day
July 24-28: Women's Silent Retreat and Women's 5-day Silent Retreat

CHRISTIAN HOSPITALITY

Day in and day out, we are required to make judgment calls informed by tough, durable, serviceable Christian love. We do what we can do, and God takes notice. God is in charge of rewards, and a glass of water will do when that is what we have to offer with a glad and open heart.

Paul gives us a clear theology for the missionary work we do whenever anybody is close at hand. He reminds us that our work, our ministry, is carried on in concert with Christ. We have been baptized into his death and life. In any given moment both life and death are there, a kind of play of shadow and light. Sometimes it's difficult to tell where shadow leaves off and light begins. God will take care of that, too.

SAINT JUNÍPERO SERRA (1713-1784)
July 1

No one who has stood before the quiet majesty of Mission San Juan Capistrano, or the altogether different but no less lovely Mission Dolores in San Francisco, or any of the missions from San Diego to Sonoma can fail to bless the Franciscan padre who, while not founder of each, was inspiration for them all, Saint Junípero Serra. Abandoning the comfortable academic life to which his doctorate in theology entitled him, Serra journeyed to the New World where his tireless traveling, dramatic preaching, and penitential austerity converted thousands of native peoples. Saving souls and celebrating the sacraments were Padre Serra's primary mission but not his only one. Education in letters and crafts, trades and agriculture transformed the people, while roads and irrigation systems transfigured the landscape. His more than thirty years of ministry were not free from conflict with authorities or without controversy in the retrospectively critical eye of history. But when John Paul II beatified him in 1988, he praised Padre Serra for assisting his converts to use their new faith to advance their true human development.

governments, nations. Just as grace is woven through human persons and thereby, also human structures formed by them, so also is sin woven through our lives, institutions and everything human. It is woven through our history as a nation – sin as well as grace. One cannot argue for our country's perfection nor its total corruption. In regard to the issue of statues of famous Americans being torn down – yes, they exhibited sin, racism, brutality, etc., but their lives also contributed in the formation of our nation. They were, like all human beings flawed. But does that mean there was nothing of merit, or value, that they have no right to the recognition given them?

It is the same issue we face as a church or that families face when one recognized that no family is perfect, no individual – priest, nun, bishop, cardinal or pope has been perfect. It is important that we don't deminimize any one (other than Jesus) no matter how important they are to us. As my birthday was on George Washington's birthday, I always had a favorable leaning toward him. Did he have flaws – even sin and cultural/social blindness? Yes, and yes again. But did he play an important role in the formation and birth of our country? Yes. Are we perfect as a nation? NO! But is there nothing of value and grace in our history. Much to be admired – and much that brings us sorrow. Together we must seek to find what going forward calls for from all of us. Not to do so, is to rip our nation apart into too many isolated fragments – and will be the demise.

God Bless,

Fr. Dave

History from the Archives Committee
Sisters of St. Agnes

Sister M. Fidelis – Principal and teacher at St. Lawrence School from 1946-1952

Sister Fidelis was a driving force in forming and having the new St. Lawrence Junior High School built during this time. (Now the location for the St. Vincent dePaul Thrift Store and the Soup Kitchen of Muncie)

She was born Cecilia Karlin in Catherine, Kansas on December 16, 1898. She was one of 14 children born to her parents, Athanasius and Dorothea Schuetz Karlin, who were immigrants from Russia. Sister Fidelis served as the Mother Superior of the St. Agnes nuns in Muncie. When she left Muncie, she became President of Marian College in Fond du Lac, Wisconsin from July 1952 to December 1963. Sister was the driving force behind the growth of the college during the 1950s and beyond. It was her vision which resulted in the present-day Marian campus. The first building on the campus, Regina Hall, was built during her tenure and the plans were developed for the present administration and science buildings, the library and Dorcas Chapel. Extensive self-studies were begun under her leadership which would eventuate in the valued North Central accreditation. Degree programs were added in Medical Technology and the Bachelor of Science in Nursing. She passed away April 9, 1981 and is buried at Saint Joseph Springs Cemetery, Fond du Lac, Wisconsin.

The Congregation of Sisters of St. Agnes was founded in Barton, Wisconsin, on August 12, 1858. Father Caspar Rehrl (1809-1881), an Austrian missionary, established a sisterhood of pioneer women under the patronage of St. Agnes of Rome to whom he had a special devotion. At first the group suffered such untold hardship that, for a few months in 1861, it was reduced to one blind sister. The arrival of Mary Hazotte in 1863 gave the fledgling community a new life and leadership when she, in 1864 at the age of 17, was elected general superior. Mother Agnes Hazotte (1847-1905) directed the move from Barton to Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, in 1870 and served as the community's leader until her death in 1905.
