REFLECTING ON THE GOSPEL

Mark 4:35-41

Mark is writing his gospel for a community suffering persecution, Christians who feared that any day they might be overwhelmed by either the waves of their own cowardice and infidelity to Christ, or blow off their Christian course by the fear of imprisonment and death. They could be tempted to believe that Jesus is "asleep" and cares nothing for them. In different contexts, we too are familiar with the storms that can brew in our own hearts. The struggle between fear and faith is a constant theme in Mark's gospel, continuing until the very last verse, but that we have a Gospel according to Mark witnesses to the final triumph of faith. Among these disciples are men who know this sea well, and for them to be afraid shows that their fear was humanly well founded. Although they have seen Jesus's power over the chaos that overwhelms people's bodies and minds, this crossing had been Jesus's idea, and their cries to him sound more like accusations of his lack of care for them than proclamations of their faith in him. In the image of Jesus peacefully asleep in the storm-tossed boat there may be the memory of Jonah fast sleep in the bowels of the ship while God hurled great winds and waves at the vessel carrying the disobedient prophet away from this calling to conversion of Nineveh.

Jonah has to resort to the much more dramatic and drastic solution of allowing himself to be tossed overboard before God will calm the storm. In contrast, Jesus rises from sleep, and the brief and powerful words of this most obedient prophet of God are enough to restore order out of chaos. Jesus rebukes the wind and the sea in the same way as he had "rebuked" or exorcised the "unclean spirit" and healed the tortured psyche of the man in the synagogue in Mark's account of Jesus's first miracles. And there comes a great calm. Jesus's authority over the natural world confronts our faith in an unsettling way. As Michael Casey writes: "We do not mind a man forgiving sins, because the supposed effect is invisible and beyond proof. Cures can be dismissed as merely 'psychological.' Our weak faith can dodge the question if there is some possibility of a 'rational' explanation. The nature miracles are different. They confront our faith directly"

*Heavenly Father,
You entrusted your Son Jesus,
The child of Mary,
To the care of Joseph, an earthly father.
Bless all fathers as they care
for their families.
Give them strength and wisdom,
Tenderness and patience;
Support them in the work they have to do,
Protecting those who come to them,
As we look to You for love and salvation,
Through Jesus Christ our rock and defender,
In union with the Holy Spirit,
One God forever and ever.
St. Joseph, Pray for all our Fathers,
Amen*

CONTINUATION OF "REFLECTING ON THE GOSPEL"

Jesus's authority over the storm reveals him as Lord of Creation, and recalls the divine authority over the chaotic waters "in the beginning" and when God divided the waters to allow the people to pass through from slavery not freedom. This divine prerogative is also praised in a number of the psalms, including Psalm 107, which is today's responsorial psalm. But the disciples are looking and not perceiving, listening and not understanding, despite the privileged instruction Jesus has given them. Jesus's command of peace and stillness over the wind and waves assures the disciples' safe crossing, but their crossing from fear to faith is at a perilous beginning point. At least Jesus seems to suggest that the journey is possible. "Do you not yet have faith?" But the disciples turn to one another, not to Jesus, with their questions about his identity.

The Jesus who has risen from the sleep of death is the faithful hope of every disciple and Post resurrection community. Often the storms sweep down on us as suddenly as the wind and waves on the Sea of Galilee, and we find ourselves unprepared for sickness, for a terminal diagnosis for ourselves for a loved one, for the upheaval of personal relations, the painful work of retrenchment. The mass media brings tragedies into our homes, and we may find ourselves saying: "Teacher do you not care that we are perishing?" Yet Jesus is present in the storms and will bring us to the shore of new beginnings and new initiatives.

Happy Father's Day!

On Father's Day weekend, please join us in offering a spiritual bouquet to St. Joseph. As we celebrate the gift of fathers and honor St. Joseph, we also recognize that Father's Day can be a difficult holiday for many. We hope this spiritual bouquet provides an opportunity to pray for the intentions brought to your heart by the occasion.

Today is World Refugee Day

Today, we pause and remember the 25 million people who have had to flee their countries in search of safety for their families. According to the 1951 Refugee Convention, a refugee is one who "owing to a well-founded fear of being persecuted for reasons of race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion, is outside the country of his nationality, and is unable to, or owing to such fear, is unwilling to avail himself of the protection of that country." The Catholic Church has for decades taken seriously the plight of these vulnerable refugees and through advocacy, education efforts, and service provision sought to provide increased protections for them. Visit www.Justiceforimmigrants.org to learn how you can assist the Church in this effort.

THE TWELFTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Religious Freedom Week Begins June 22

All people desire to enjoy communion with God, and this desire gives rise to the search for religious truth and finds expression in the formation of religious culture. Even people who claim no religious affiliation cannot help but need ritual, belonging, and truth. Why? Because we all long to know and love the One in whose image we are made. "For God formed man to be imperishable; the image of his own nature he made him."

The Church's promotion of religious freedom expresses her solidarity with all people who seek the good and hope for fulfillment in the truth. As Pope Francis teaches:

Hope speaks to us of a thirst, an aspiration, a longing for a life of fulfillment, a desire to achieve great things, things that fill our heart and lift our spirit to lofty realities like truth, goodness and beauty, justice and love ... Hope is bold; it can look beyond personal convenience, the petty securities and compensations which limit our horizon, and it can open us up to grand ideals that make life more beautiful and worthwhile (Fratelli tutti, 55).

Join us throughout the week as we pray, reflect, and take action on religious liberty, both here in this country and abroad.

MASS INTENTIONS

Being a disciple of Jesus has always been synonymous with being a Christian.
