Pastor's Corner | Fr. Richard Doerr

Mary, the Rosary, and the Month of May

One day when I was in kindergarten, my family went to a Catholic bookstore, and my mother bought a chalk statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary that would find a home in the bedroom I shared with my two brothers. It was a risky purchase as we were known for endless energy and all sorts of roughhousing. But it stayed intact with only a few chips here and there. I wonder if my mom prayed to the Blessed Mary for the protection of her statue!

We also got prayer books, rosaries, and candles. It was strange to us because it was the only place where my mom didn't count pennies. We could get whatever we wanted. I bought a huge rosary that day that glowed in the dark (which tells you where my mind was).

I would like to think that this began during the month of May, but that is lost to my poor memory. Nevertheless, in the days that followed, we set up a shrine, complete with candles, plastic 1970s flowers, and the statue. It was a big deal.

It was then that my mother introduced the family Rosary to us. She was a smart lady, setting up an endurance test for the boys. "We'll see if you can kneel and pray through a whole Rosary. Probably not because you're too little," she said rather dismissively. Hence, the Rosary endurance challenge commenced.

Before bed, she lit the candles and we all knelt on the red rug in the middle of our room. It was the same rug that to a little boy that loved matchbox cars had a pattern that mimicked busy city streets and served as the first of many distractions against which I have battled over the years. Was our recitation of the Rosary a mountaintop prayer experience for a 5-year-old boy? Hardly. But to quote one of my favorite prayers, "I believe that my desire to please God certainly pleased him."

Eventually, our family Rosary made its way off the red carpet and into the family suburban. My mother had it timed perfectly. When we crossed over State Road 38 on 150 West, we also crossed ourselves and started the Apostle's Creed. We would conclude as we pulled up to the school. I'm certain that our Blessed Mother has played a role in the faith lives of me and my siblings, and we owe that to our mother.

The month of May is referred to as the month of Mary, in honor of our Blessed Mother. Catholics all over the world offer fervent prayers or veneration to the Mother of God. In an encyclical written by Pope Paul VI, we are told that during this month, "the benefits of God's mercy come down to us from Mary's throne in greater abundance." So this is a special month that will aid us in overcoming obstacles and receiving strength amid our current trials.

It is good to remind ourselves that the Rosary is a Scripturally based prayer. It begins with the Apostles' Creed, which summarizes the great mysteries of the Catholic faith. The Our Father, which introduces each mystery, is from the Gospels. The first part of the Hail Mary is the angel's words announcing Christ's birth and Elizabeth's greeting to Mary. The Mysteries of the Rosary focus us on the events of Christ's life. There are four sets of Mysteries: Joyful, Sorrowful, Glorious, and—added by Saint John Paul II in 2002—the Luminous. These mysteries mostly recount the scriptural story of Jesus Christ.

If you have never prayed the Rosary, thanks to the internet there are dozens of "how-to" videos that can guide you! If you have questions, ask one of our priests or sisters. We all pray the Rosary daily! Mary, Queen of the Holy Rosary, pray for us!

-Fr. Richard

At the end of March, our diocese officially lifted all its remaining COVID restrictions. The one exception is that the Precious Blood will not be offered at Communion until further notice.

After consultation with staff and the Liturgy Council, we have determined the following upcoming changes at Mass.

As of Saturday, June 11

1. We return to our old Saturday schedule
 - 8 a.m. Mass each Saturday
 - 5:30 p.m. Mass – Mask requirement LIFTED; music resumes
 - NO 6:45 p.m. Mass
2. Hand sanitizing stations will be removed; masks still available in the narthex.
3. 11 a.m. Mass will continue to be live-streamed until further notice.

As always, for those who cannot attend Mass in person due to illness, please contact the Parish Office if you would like Holy Communion brought to you.

We understand that not everyone will be happy with these changes, and that others will be ecstatic! Please be assured that these decisions were made prayerfully, seeking to best serve the needs of our parish.

Our Lady of Mount Carmel School

Golden Cross Award Recipients for March

The Golden Cross Award is presented to two students a month who exemplify our school motto to be “Stewards for Christ” by using all the gifts that God has given to them, both natural and supernatural, in service to God and others.

The Golden Cross, which these students wear throughout the month, is the greatest symbol of the love Jesus has for us and His mission, which he expressed in the words “I did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give my life as a ransom for many.” It is Jesus that we seek to imitate through a life of grace and virtue. He is the Way, the Truth, and the Life.

After careful consideration of all nominations submitted, Tina Bergsma and George Hein were chosen to receive the Golden Cross Award for the month of March.

Nominations:

Tina Bergsma shows the virtue of kindness. She helps others with any homework and uses her gifts to help others. She is always loving and gives compliments to everyone she meets. When someone is sad or unhappy she is there. When I get angry I can count on her to help me to love others. She is so fun to be around and finds the fun in every situation.

George Hein shows the virtues of courage, humility, and leadership. He rose to the occasion when asked to speak in front of the school community. He agreed to lead a decade of the rosary for the prayer service, took responsibility to prepare, didn't brag about it to others that he had been chosen, and persevered even though he was nervous. In addition to this specific instance, he is engaged in class and always seeks to know the truth about his Faith, in addition to being kind and positive and being a great example for others of friendship.

•• ASK THE APOLOGIST ••with Steven O'Keefe•••••

Dear Apologist,

I've heard that John 21 shows Peter being commissioned as Pope. My friend says it is simply Peter being restored after denying Christ. Which is it?

The office of the Pope makes the Catholic faith distinct from all other Christian communities. The core claim is that Jesus established Peter in a unique role among the Apostles; tasking him with unifying, strengthening, and leading the others. Moreover, our claim is that this role did not die with Peter, but was passed on to successors in Rome whom all Christians have a duty to be in communion with. Protestant Christians argue that none of this is the case. They interpret the Biblical passages which Catholics use to demonstrate Peter's unique role in ways which remove the implications we say they have.

That brings us to John 21:15-19. In that passage, Jesus pulls Peter aside and prompts him to reaffirm his love three times. To which Jesus replies, “Feed my sheep”. Now, your friend has good reason to tie this event back to Peter's threefold denial. John's Gospel makes this link clear both by stressing the threefold repetition and by saying both events occurred beside a “charcoal fire” [John 18:18 and 21:91]. So your friend is absolutely right that Peter is being restored in this passage. The key question is: Is that ALL we're seeing?

The answer is no. If Jesus was only giving Peter a chance to reverse his threefold denial, there would have been no reason for Jesus to reply, “Feed my sheep.” The inclusion of that command indicates that Peter is not just being redeemed, but being called to a mission. What mission? Well, it is the same mission which Jesus mentioned back in Matthew 16:18, when He promised Peter the keys to the kingdom. It is the mission Jesus spoke of in Luke 22:32 when He tasked Peter with strengthening his brothers. In short, John 21 shows Jesus commissioning Peter as Pope.

As a community of faith, we must remain vigilant and committed to safeguarding our children and youth, the most important gifts God has entrusted to us. May our Blessed Mother Mary intercede for us in our ministry and leadership as we care for our youth and most vulnerable, always bringing us closer to Jesus Christ.
