Worship Aid | 1. Our God Is Here 305 MI | November 3, 2019

Here in this time, here in this place, here we are standing face to face. Here in our hearts, here in our lives, our God is here. Here for the broken, here for the strong, here in this temple we belong, Here in our hearts, here in our lives, our God is here.

And we cry Holy! Holy! Holy are You! We cry Holy! Holy! Holy and true!
Amen we do believe. Our God is here, our God is here.

Here in The Word, God is revealed, here where the wounded can be healed. Here in our hearts, here in our lives, our God is here. Here we become what we receive, here in this Eucharistic feast. We are His body living as one, our God is here.

2. Your Love Defends Me

You are my joy; You are my song. You are the well, the One I'm drawing from.
You are my refuge my whole life long. Where else would I go?

Surely my God is the strength of my soul. Your love defends me, Your love defends me.
And when I feel like I'm all alone, Your love defends me, Your love defends me.

Day after day, night after night, I will remember You're with me in this fight. Although the battle, it rages on, the war is already won. I know the war is already won.

We sing, "Hallelujah, You're my portion, my salvation. Hallelujah." (Repeat)

3. Cornerstone

Father, you're faithful in every age, across every culture and land. You call to your people in hope to re-store our lives which we built on fool's sand. All things will pass away save you, our rock and strength.

You are the cornerstone, the rock on which we stand. You are the cornerstone;
we build our lives in your hands.

The seed that you planted within all our hearts will flourish and grow hundred fold. Save us from the thorns and the shallow hard ground Sow us in the earth that will hold. All things will pass away save you, our rock and strength.

You're unmovable, you're unshakable, you're unmovable, Lord. (Repeat)

When winds to shake us and waves knock us down, when comforting times seem so few, show us your divine pow'r and give us the hope to stand firm and steadfast in you, in you, in you, oh.

4. Behold the Lamb of God

You are my Lord, it's You I adore. Nothing on earth could ever take Your place.
Your might humbles ev'ry heart, the highest of heavens bow, for nothing on earth could ever take Your place.

And now we see Your sacrifice, the greatest gift, our greatest prize.
Behold the Lamb of God, behold the Lamb of God, who takes away the sins of the world.

5. Sacred Silence 545 MI

Sacred Silence, holy ocean, gentle water, washing over me; help me listen, Holy Spirit.
Come and speak to me.

God my Father, Christ my brother, Holy Spirit, sanctifying me; Lord, I'm sorry, please forgive me.
Come and set me free.

Holy Mary, gentle mother, God's pure vessel, praying for me; saints and angels, all in heaven, come and be with me.

6. I Can Only Imagine

I can only imagine what it will be like when I walk by Your side. I can only imagine what my eyes will see when Your face is before me. I can only imagine.

Surrounded by Your glory, what will my heart feel? Will I dance for You, Jesus, or in awe of You be still?
Will I stand in Your presence or to my knees will I fall? Will I sing "hallelujah"?
Will I be able to speak at all?
I can only imagine, I can only imagine.

I can only imagine when that day comes and I find myself standing in the Son. I can only imagine when all I will do is forever, forever worship You. I can only imagine, I can only imagine.

7. Your Grace Is Enough

Great is your faithfulness, O God of Jacob; you wrestle with the sinner's restless heart.
You lead me by still waters into mercy where nothing can keep us apart.

So remember your people, remember your children, remember your promise, O God.
For your grace is enough, yeah, your grace is enough, yeah, your grace is enough, yeah, your grace is enough for me!

Great is your love and justice, God of Jacob; you use the weak to lead the strong.
You lead us in the song of heaven's vict'ry, And all your people sing along.

Pastoral Letter

FORGIVENESS REQUIRES A CHANGE OF HEART

My mom taught me as a young boy that I needed to apologize to someone I had caused harm to by saying I was "sorry" and to do something that would make that person as whole as possible. In the fourth grade, Father Mike verified what my mom said and added that in addition to being sorry I needed to ask God for forgiveness and from those who I wronged and to have a change of heart so as not to repeat my bad behavior. Needless to say, I have never forgotten those life lessons, but as a sinful human I still do things that periodically hurt people for which I am apologizing, asking forgiveness, making amends and trying to change my heart.

Our readings and Gospel today remind us how we are called by God to live the life for which He created us that brings us to be holy and to respect the dignity of all God's creation. In our first reading from the Book of Wisdom, we learn how God's merciful love shows we need to repent of our sins, abandon wickedness and trust totally in God because His mercy extends to all.

In the Second Letter of St. Paul to the Thessalonians, he tells them to place their trust in the Lord and rely on His benevolence. He wants them to endure their circumstances patiently, while using them to strengthen their Christian lives.

Finally, in St. Luke's Gospel, the theme is carried to even a greater reminder in that no one is beyond the possibility of conversion and redemption, no matter how shameful a life may be. The story of Zacchaeus challenges us to seek forgiveness, make amends and have a change of heart by responding to God's mercy as we wage war against sin in our own lives. We need to be careful about pre-judging people because of what we see or hear they do. Only God knows what is in a person's heart. That is why Jesus was able to unlock Zacchaeus' to help him realize he needed to change it to live the life for which he was created.

Once we encounter Jesus, whether directly or indirectly, we cannot remain the same since salvation has come into our hearts. We know we can be saved from our sins, from their guilt and from the power of them.

Let us take this week to find where our heart still needs to be changed by placing ourselves in a position of openness, desire, curiosity and allowing God to do the rest. Who knows? You may not even have to sin to discover God's love is with us always; even until the end of time.

Why do we have All Saints' Day?

By Bishop Daniel Mueggenborg, Auxiliary Bishop of the Archdiocese of Seattle

The solemnity of All Saints, celebrated November 1 as a holy day of obligation, is the one day of the year when we celebrate these holy men and women both known and unknown. The saints are one with us in the church because the bonds of our baptism are stronger than death itself. As such, the saints remain members of the family of God and give strength to the body of Christ. They care about us, pray for us, and continue to inspire us to live holy and heroic lives by imitating their examples of faithful friendship with Jesus. Because of their intercession on our behalf, the saints are a source of strength for the entire church — especially for us as we struggle to live our faith daily here and now.

It is important to remember that All Saints' Day is not really focused on the saints themselves but rather on the important role they play in the work of salvation as witnesses to the efficacy of grace. We celebrate them because they worship constantly in God's presence and join their voices with ours in one chorus of intercession for God's mercy.

The church has always been aware of this graced and holy fellowship, and for that reason, we began to profess our belief in the "communion of saints" as part of the early symbol of faith known as the Apostles' Creed. The practice of celebrating a common feast for all martyrs was well established by the fourth century. This communal celebration was necessitated in part by the unprecedented number of martyrs executed under the terrifying reign of the Emperor Diocletian.

The relationship between martyrdom and holiness was beautifully stressed by Pope Gregory I (590–604) and in the Irish "Cambrai Homily," in which martyrdom is described by colors: red (violent shedding of blood), white (spiritual detachment) and green or blue (penitence and self-denial). The current date of November 1 was established by Pope Gregory III in the eighth century in commemoration of a chapel he had built in the old St. Peter's Basilica that was dedicated to all saints, since that chapel included the relics of both martyrs and those who lived heroic lives of faith but were not put to death for Christ.

The important role of the saints in the life of the church is evidenced by the way early Christians visited and prayed at the tombs of the martyrs. All Saints' Day allows us to share in their devotion. So important is our communion with the saints for our daily lives of faith that it has been a holy day of obligation since 835.

By celebrating the solemnity of All Saints each year, we come together as one family of God and join with all our sisters and brothers in the church, living and dead, to praise God and to thank them for their ministry, which gives us strength, encouragement, inspiration and intercession, as we also embrace the call to be holy as our Father in heaven is holy.
