TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

Look around most Catholic churches, and you will discover an image of John the Baptist, often in the old baptistery, or in a window near where the font is or was located. He has two feast days in the calendar: one commemorating his birth, and the other his death. There are only three nativities in our calendar: for Jesus, for Mary, and for the Baptist. John's birthday is reckoned according to the schedule given in Luke's Gospel of the angel's announcement to Mary. The angel tells her that her cousin Elizabeth is in the sixth month of pregnancy, and so Mary hastens to help her. Reckoning Christmas as December 25, we count backwards nine months to March 25 for the Feast of the Annunciation. Then we count forward three months to June 24 for John the Baptist's birth. Halfway to Christmas, his nativity gives ample reason for rejoicing in the summer, and his symbols of fire and water are used playfully in bonfires and dives into the sea. Even at the polar opposite of Christmas in the calendar, the energy of Christ's birth in the Incarnation provides cause for rejoicing.

—James Field

COULD NACHOS BE BAD?

It seems the early Church had a different view of Advent than we do. Christmas was not even celebrated in the first two centuries after Christ. Easter was the original great feast of the Church. After the resurrection, Christians looked for Jesus to return in glory. They expected this return to happen soon, so we see references in Paul's letters to the "coming of the Lord Jesus" (1 Thess 3:13) or to the "day of Christ Jesus." (Phil 1:6) So in a sense, the rest of their lives were a long Advent, a time of waiting for the Lord.

In the second reading this week, we hear what Paul recommends for the people of Philippi as they wait for the Lord to return. He prays that their love will grow and mature, so that they will be able to "discern what is of value." (Phil 1:10) This may sound vague, but is very good advice, even for us today.

As we grow to be better Christians, we learn to love what is important. Remember when you were young and loved junk food? As you grew up, you learned to like healthier foods. That doesn't mean that some foods are bad, (how could nachos be bad?) just that there are better choices. So Paul encourages us to make better choices: friends we like, books we read, how we spend our free time, causes we donate to, and values we teach to our children. For example, it is good to teach our children to work hard and save money; it may be better to teach them to answer God's call and to be generous to the poor. A good way to relax might be reading a novel by our favorite author; a better way could be reading a good spiritual book.

With less than three weeks of Advent remaining, let us ask the Lord to help us "discern what is of value" in our lives. We also await His coming and we have the advantage of knowing that the Lord comes to us in Word and Sacrament. We don't have to wait for the end of time or even till Christmas, so why not try to be ready now?

HUMBLE BEGINNINGS

As the birth of our Lord approaches, I reflect on the idea of why we celebrate Christmas. In the American culture, is it because of the gifts? Is it because of the flashy sales? No. It is about the humble beginnings of Christianity. Mary and Joseph were not rich, so when the Archangel Gabriel appeared to Mary and told her that she was to be the mother of God, it must have come as quite a shock. I would definitely freak out if I were in her position. Yet her answer to the angel was a very humble yes. Her faith and belief that God would provide, helped her to her fiat (her yes).

I was curious as to why Luke's account of the Annunciation was chosen for the Gospel on the Feast of Our Lady of Guadalupe. I found that the Marian apparitions to a peasant in Mexico City, Juan Diego, could draw comparisons to the Annunciation. Juan Diego listened to Mary's request for a church to be built in her honor. Juan Diego went to the Archbishop who at first didn't believe him. Juan's faith persevered, and he met with Mary on different occasions until his uncle fell ill, so he went to take care of him, just like how Mary went to Elizabeth. Mary appeared to Juan Diego on his journey to tell him that his uncle was healed. She then performed a miracle to help convince the Archbishop to build a small chapel where the apparitions were. Just like the miracle of Jesus's birth initiated the building of Christianity.

With Christmas so close, Our Lady of Guadalupe calls us to reflect on the humble beginnings of the Church and how we should reflect on our own faith to be able to answer the call from God and say yes.

PASTORS CORNER SECOND WEEK OF ADVENT

PASTOR'S CORNER

His coming throughout our lives. Every day we can get up in the morning and say good morning Jesus. That is to say greet the day with Jesus name on our lips.

Advent is a time of waiting for the birth of Jesus primarily, but it is also a time of waiting for His presence to me made anew in our hearts. In order to accomplish this waiting for His presence it would be good for us to think about bringing about bring Christmas Joy into the heart of all the people that we meet. We can do this by greeting people with a warm smile and a warm heart during all of advent. Just try spreading Christmas cheer this way. By doing this simple act many people will be touched by your greeting. Also you can allow Jesus and the Holy Spirit to minister through you as you spread this joy.

The Catholic Church teaches us that three things are necessary to draw people closer to Jesus, service, faith based friendship, and prayer. So in order to follow these principals we can do what the Blessed Virgin Mary did when she was waiting for the birth of Jesus. She went to visit her cousin Elizabeth and served her in her time of need. We can do this same thing for other by finding ways to serve them. We can be of help by opening doors for those who are in need like a person with a walker or crutches or who has their hands full. We can help out distributing food like the Antoninans do with their food baskets. We can assist an elderly neighbor with their needs. There are so many ways we can help others that we can always be on the lookout for ways to help. Allow the Holy Spirit to inspire you here.

We can also be on the lookout for faith based friendships by getting involved with ministries in our church like the bible study, or the Legion of Mary, the Tuesday morning rosary prayer group, or the Antoninas. Just to name a few. In these ministries we will meet people who are alike minded and prayerful who we share common faith with and talk and relate and possibly start up a friendship with.

Lastly we can work on our prayer life by not only praying for our own needs and to grow closer to Jesus but we can always pray for the needs of others.

One last thing we can think about during this time is to give up a few things like we do in Lent so we can make more time to spend in prayer and reflecting on what Christmas is all about. I am doing this very thing this year so that I can make more time to acknowledge Jesus in prayer and to grow in my anticipation for Jesus birth on Christmas day.

Let me end this brief reflection with a prayer.

May Jesus bless us all with an abundance of His love and mercy during this Advent Season. May He spread His joy in all of our hearts. May this love penetrate deep into our soul so that we will be filled with His love and may others see His love through our witness. I pray that the Holy Spirit will deepen our understanding of the great miracle of Jesus birth and that anticipating His birth this year will give us a new infilling with joy and peace. May God's love grow so deep in our hearts that we will be filled with an abundance of joy and peace that will radiate to everyone we meet this Christmas season. Amen.

PREPARE THE WAY OF THE LORD

Typically, December 8 is the day in the Liturgical calendar when we celebrate the Solemnity of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, a holy day of obligation with a very special place in my heart. Besides the obvious spiritual reasons, it is also my eldest son's birthday.

He was born two months premature, and in pure denial that the early labor would actually lead to his birth, I remember discussing (oh so calmly) with the labor and delivery nurse how I couldn't have the baby yet, as it was a holy day. I hadn't yet been to Mass. She chuckled, clearly aware of my delusional state, and told me, "It is ok, dear; I believe God will understand this time!" Wisdom prevailed, I remained in my hospital bed, and my son, weighing a whopping 5 lbs, came into the world just hours later. Gratefully, he has grown over the last 29 years to nearly 6 feet and, although very slight, is considerably more than his original birth weight!

However, that celebration has been moved this year to tomorrow, as the 2nd Sunday of Advent takes precedence. The first reading is from Baruch, probably one of the lesser-known books of the Bible. Baruch was the prophet Jeremiah's assistant, and today's selection comes from his Poem of Consolation addressed to Jerusalem. The final verse reminds us that God is always leading us into great joy, even in dire circumstances; joy always awaits!

"The forests and every fragrant kind of tree have overshadowed Israel at God's command; for God is leading Israel in joy by the light of his glory, with his mercy and justice for company" (Baruch 5:9).

The readings continue with St. Paul's Letter to the Philippians, one of my favorites due to all the reminders it gives us not to give in to our anxiety and to hold on to the joy we have in Jesus. Remember that if you are still breathing, God has a plan for your life. His Will for you is always perfect and good, trustworthy and hope-filled:

"I am confident of this, that the one who began a good work in you will continue to complete it until the day of Christ Jesus" (Philippians 1:6).

This Sunday of peace, preparing us for next week's Gaudete Sunday, concludes with John the Baptist traveling through the whole Jordan region proclaiming repentance to prepare the way of the Lord. During this Advent season, we are preparing a way for the Lord to become an even more integral part of our lives. The Nativity of Our Lord is a time of great celebration because at the heart of this special season is the greatest gift ever bestowed — God's only begotten Son made incarnate to redeem the world!

Are you ready to stand alongside John the Baptist as, "A voice of one crying out in the desert"? "Prepare the way of the Lord, make straight his paths" (Luke 3:4).

by Allison Gingras

I AM THE HANDMAID OF THE LORD

Adam and Eve were created without any sin. This means that they were not burdened by selfishness or fear or unmet needs. God created the whole universe and placed them in the beautiful Garden and walked with them in the cool of the evening. He entrusted the whole created world to them, and they in turn, knowing clearly where they came from and where they were going (they came from God and were returning to God and God was taking care of everything every step of the way), entrusted themselves completely to their loving Father. They obeyed because they trusted.

The initial Covenant between God and man (like every relationship) was built on a foundation of TRUST.

The serpent tricks Eve into doubting God's goodness and love for her. He convinces her that God is holding something back, and that if she is going to be completely happy and fulfilled, she is going to need to do the one thing she was told not to do. And she did it: she reached for what was not meant to be hers (at least not yet), ate the forbidden fruit, gave some to Adam, and everything fell apart.

They let trust in the Father's love for them shrivel in their hearts and decided to move on without Him; and so they disobeyed, disrupting the integrity of their relationship with God, with their true selves, and with each other. And now we have to struggle to obey and work to support ourselves and eventually die and leave our mess to others. Because TRUST has been broken and disobedience has become a possibility.

Since that moment, God has been on a rescue mission to rebuild that trust so that we can know true joy and peace. Since the Original Sin, the whole of Salvation History is a plan to recover man's trust in God's goodness and mercy, so that we might live an abundant life.

Mary trusted. She was also born without Original Sin (because the Son of God would require an absolutely pure vessel for His first tabernacle, the Ark of the New Covenant, the new Eve, who is the Mother of all the living), and her trust is evident in her answer to the impossible proposition the Angel brings to her. "Fiat mihi," is her queenly answer. This young girl, so beautiful and full of grace, submits in trusting obedience, "Behold, I am the handmaid of the Lord. May it be done to me according to your word."

Obedience, since the first sin, costs something. Mary knew this, and yet she never drew back from her yes, all the way to the Cross and beyond. Let us ask Mary, the sinless one who trusted wholly, to intercede for us before the Throne of Grace, that through the merits of her Immaculate Conception, we too might grow in trust and show our love for God by our obedience.
