St. Andrei Rublev

The use of icons, highly spiritualized depictions of Christ, Mary, and the saints, was one of the earliest and most distinctive elements of Byzantine spirituality. The production of icons was itself a spiritual work, generally in the hands of monks, accompanied by intense prayer. St. Andrei Rublev, a Russian monk of the fifteenth century, is the most widely revered. His most famous work is his icon of the Holy Trinity, in which he used the image of the three mysterious angels who visited the tent of Abraham at the oak of Mamre. Seated around a table, set for a meal, the three angelic figures show the differentiation, and at the same time the identity and interrelationship, between the persons of the Trinity.

St. Blaise

Bishop Blaise was martyred in his episcopal city of Sebastea, Armenia, in 316. The legendary Acts of St. Blaise were written 400 years later. According to them Blaise was a good bishop, working hard to encourage the spiritual and physical health of his people. Although the Edict of Toleration (311), granting freedom of worship in the Roman Empire, was already five years old, persecution still raged in Armenia. Blaise was apparently forced to flee to the back country. There he lived as a hermit in solitude and prayer, but he made friends with the wild animals. One day a group of hunters seeking wild animals for the amphitheater stumbled upon Blaise's cave. The bishop was kneeling in prayer surrounded by patiently waiting wolves, lions and bears. The legend has it that as the hunters hauled Blaise off to prison, a mother came with her young son who had a fish bone lodged in his throat. At Blaise's command the child was able to cough up the bone.

We will have the Blessing of the Throats at all the Masses on Saturday, February 2nd and Sunday, February 3th at St. Joseph and St. Anne Parishes.

Catholic Schools Week

The annual celebration of Catholic Schools Week across the country and in the 133 schools of the Archdiocese of St. Louis begins Sunday, January 27. Each school around the archdiocese will hold its own unique celebration, with Masses, open houses, and other activities for the nearly 37,000 students, their families, parishioners, and community members. Through these events, schools focus on the value Catholic education provides to young people and its contributions to our church, our communities and our nation. This year's theme is "Catholic Schools: Learn. Serve. Lead. Succeed."

God of all creation, we know you care for all of us and desire only what is good for us. Please guide those who make policy decisions and laws that affect all of us, that these decisions will work for the good of the most vulnerable in our society. Help us to have the courage to speak out for those who cannot speak for themselves. We pray this through Christ our Lord. Amen
